CITY ACCLAIMS LANDON TODAY

MR. ROOSEVELT REFUSES, THEN SEEKS RED AID

Minnesota Action Belies His Words.

BY CLIFFORD RAYMOND.

Mr. Roosevelt has put himself in a very peculiar position. If any of his friends have the intelligence to perceive the meaning of what he is doing they must be astonished and perplexed.

At Syracuse Mr. Roosevelt said he did not seek the aid of the communists and had never sought it. He said he repudiated them. Disclosures that the communist party here and the communist government in Russia were working with supporters of Mr. Roosevelt and against Landon had made the Syracuse statement seem imperative, although it was one of the strangest declarations in American political history.

Facts Against Roosevelt.

A candidate whose record made the charge of communistic support unbelievable would not have paid any attention to it. The facts, however, were against Mr. Roosevelt and hence his vigorous denial on so important an occasion as his address to the Democratic state convention in New York.

Shortly after he made this statement he offers proof of insincerity. He asks the Democratic candidates for governor and United States senator in Minnesota to withdraw in favor of the Farmer-Labor party which is supporting him in that state. The Democratic party in Minnesota extinguished itself by merger with the party supported by the Russian comintern, the official political committee of the Third Internationale and the controling force in communist government.

Browder a Russian Agent.

The principal agent of the Russian governing committee in the United States is Earl Browder, communist candidate for President in this election. From him and from George Dimitrov, general secretary of the committee in Russia, comes conclusive documentary evidence which will be quoted later that the communists support the Minnesota Farmer-Labor party as the beginning of a Popular Front party in the United States.

Fred A. Curtis, Democratic nominee for governor in Minnesota, who along with Patrick J. Delaney, the Democratic nominee for United States senator, withdrew from the ticket, explained his action by saying:

"It became the wish of the President of the United States, the leader of the Democratic party in America, that progressive forces in Minnesota be united down the line in this campaign. My withdrawal was his personal wish."

Repudiates, Then Joins.

In the face of the accumulating evidence which the communists so frankly release, Mr. Roosevelt made his Syracuse denial and defense, repudiating their support. Within a week he had joined them in supporting the Farmer-Labor party in Minnesota. It was his personal wish that Curtis and Delaney withdraw. It was his personal wish that there should be no general Democratic state ticket.

Donald Day, THE TRIBUNE correspondent in Riga, has just forwarded documents supplementing other revelations of communist purpose and policy in the United States. One exhibit is a speech by Dimitrov, the general secretary, of Aug. 6. In the course of it he said:

"It is necessary to state that the organization of a mass party of workers and so-called Farmer-Labor party would best suit American conditions. Such a party would be a specific form of a Popular Front party in America to oppose the parties of the trusts and the banks and growing fascism.

Applauds U. S. Comrades.

"Our comrades in the United States have acted correctly in taking the initiative in creating such a party, but they must take care that this party should appear the spontaneous development of the masses themselves."

Browder, the agent of the Russian political committee and the candidate of the communists here, carries out the decisions of the political committee. He says: "We communists can enter such a united front [American farmer-labor movement] with the workers supporting Roosevelt.

"We have many common aims and opinions, to defeat at all costs the reactionary Republican party and its

NEW DEAL HAS GONE SOCIALIST, SAYS AL SMITH

Acts the Opposite of Pledges, He Finds.

Roosevelt Starts Trip

President Roosevelt left Washington late yesterday for a tour of eleven states, in all of which the outcome is considered close between him and Gov. Alf M. Landon. His train was scheduled to stop briefly in Chicago before 5 o'clock, and his first speech is scheduled for Dubuque, Ia., at 9 a. m. Details on Page 3.

Text of Alfred E. Smith's speech is on Page 10.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Al Smith, a grim warrior tonight, turned his wit, his wrath, and his scorn upon the New Dealers as the men who betrayed the Democratic party and repudiated its platform of 1932.

That platform, he insisted, was the best adopted by either political party in its existence. But, he charged, it was "thrown out the window" on March 4, 1933, and in place of what it promised, "large chunks of Socialism" were served up to the country. As a result, he asserted, he and other old line Democrats cannot be charged with walking out on their party, because the party has already walked out on them.

Crowd Overflows Metropolitan.

The former New York governor, standard bearer of his party in the presidential election eight years ago, spoke before a crowd which overflowed the famous Metropolitan Opera house here. The meeting was arranged by Old Line Constitutional Democrats of Pennsylvania.

Received with thunders of applause and the singing of his old battle song, "The Sidewalks of New York," Mr. Smith punctuated his hour long address with shafts of satire which brought roars of approval from his audience.

"If I'd thought I was going to get the platform of Norman Thomas rather than the platform of the Democratic party, I'll tell you what I would have done. I would have done something for Hoover that he didn't do for me. I would have voted for him."

Only Two Planks Stand.

Every plank in the 1932 Democratic platform except two has been repudiated by the Roosevelt administration, Mr. Smith charged. The exceptions, he said, were the repeal of prohibition ["I had something to do with that"] and legislation regulating the stock exchange, of which he said:

"We were all for it; the Democratic party declared itself. It has yet to pass the test of the Supreme court and if it is not hastily drawn and shabbily put together and hastily and quickly tossed out as most of the brain trust legislation was, it may get by."

Referring to his now famous walk out of the ranks of the Democratic party, Mr. Smith quoted a famous precedent. It was that of Grover Cleveland, who, although he was the Democratic President at the time, refused to support William Jennings Bryan in 1896.

And Bryan Stuck to Platform.

"The only difference in our cases as I see it," he said, "is that there is a little more on my side, for this reason: Grover Cleveland forty years ago knew exactly what Bryan wanted to do to this country because Bryan put it in the platform.

"Bryan didn't attempt to fool anybody. He didn't seek the presidency of the United States on any false pretenses. He put it down in black and white. But I find myself, while preparing for a walk, to be in the position of a man who was promised a Democratic platform and had dished up to him in large chunks, big bunches of the Socialist platform."

Turning from his general indictment charging President Roosevelt and his New Dealers with breach of faith, Mr. Smith announced that he would have time this evening for specific discussion of only two planks of the 1932 platform, those on agriculture and on the consolidation of governmental bureaus. Other planks, he promised, he will discuss in later speeches.

Hits Agriculture Program.

The Roosevelt agricultural program he condemned on these grounds:

1. The AAA, thrown out by the

Louise Rolfe De Vitto McGurn, 29 years old, widow of the slain Vincent Gebardi [Machine Gun Jack McGurn], was arrested last evening by the Chicago Lawn police and admitted that she is the Louise De Vitto sought on a manslaughter charge growing out of a fatal automobile accident early last Sunday.

This was the second automobile fatality in which she has been involved. In 1921 Mrs. McGurn, then Louise Rolfe, was the driver of an automobile which collided with another car at Winthrop and Thorndale avenues, causing the death of Frank A. Lasley, an attorney, nephew of Senator Borah of Idaho. Police have no records showing the disposition of this case.

Story of Sunday Crash.

Vincent Zamiara, 53 years old, 3047 West 54th place, was the man fatally hurt in last Sunday's accident. His wife, Celia, 48 years old, is in the Holy Cross hospital, critically injured, and six other persons were slightly hurt in the crash, which occurred at Pulaski road and 55th street.

Zamiara was riding in an auto driven by his son-in-law, Charles Fremarek, 25 years old, 3047 West 54th place, when it collided with another car occupied by four women. One of these gave the name Louise De Vitto, and her address as 1224 Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park, the former home of McGurn. Police were told that she was the driver of the car. All were released.

Early on Wednesday Zamiara died at the Holy Cross hospital. None of the four women appeared later that day at the inquest into Zamiara's death, and the hearing was continued until Nov. 5. A manslaughter warrant was issued against Louise De Vitto.

Arrested in Apartment.

Mrs. McGurn was arrested in her apartment at 698 Irving Park boulevard. At the Chicago Lawn station she gave her name as Louise De Vitto Cunningham.

Mrs. McGurn denied she was the driver of the death car, and, ignoring her attorney's advice to keep silent, told Lieut. William Keith the driver of the car was Mildred McGarry, a name which has not hitherto appeared in reports of the case.

Police questioned two of the three woman companions of Mrs. McGurn. They were Mrs. Marie Jarmer, 39 years old, of 3003 South Kedvale avenue, and Miss Patricia Lonquist, 32, of 219 Wisconsin avenue. Both told similar stories. Mrs. McGurn was not driving, they said. The driver was Mildred McGarry. They did not know the McGarry woman. Police ordered Mrs. Jarmer and Miss Lonquist held on disorderly conduct charges. They announced they would try to find the mysterious Mildred McGarry.

Mrs. McGurn was held in default of $1,000 cash bond and later was taken to the Central police building for detention overnight.

Once Alibi for McGurn.

Mrs. McGurn, one time entertainer and model, received her first notoriety when she supplied the "blonde alibi" testimony for McGurn—then not her husband—after he was accused of taking part in the St. Valentine day massacre in 1929. She testified she and McGurn were in a downtown hotel when the massacre occurred.

STARTLED ELEPHANT CRUSHES EMPLOYE OF CIRCUS TO DEATH

Beaumont, Tex., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Lee Roberti of Springfield, Mass., was crushed to death today beneath the feet of Trilby, one eyed elephant with the Barnum & Bailey & Ringling Brothers' circus.

Witnesses said the elephant, startled when Roberti approached her to put a collar over her head, grabbed him with her trunk, threw him against the wall of the elephant car, and when he fell to the floor placed her foot on his head.

Lawrence Davis, head elephant trainer, said Roberti did not speak to the elephant before approaching her. Davis explained that elephants sleep standing up and that when workmen enter the cars they are taught to speak to the beasts to wake them up before approaching them.

Student Carries Chemical in Pocket; 3 Hurt in Blast

Three high school boys were burned yesterday when a bottle of potassium chlorate exploded in the pocket of one of them. They are Kenneth Jarnecke, 18 years old, 2427 North Fairfield avenue, Casimir Koeller, 17, of 2009 North California avenue, and Richard Wertz, 15, of 1846 North Fairfield avenue. The three were walking in a corridor of the new Lane High school, Addison street and Western avenue, when the potassium chlorate exploded in the left trouser pocket of Jarnecke.

Partner in Alcoholic Cure Business Held as Drunk

Flames Reveal Divorcee Dead in a Mystery

Wisps of smoke coming from a third floor apartment at 1550 West 95th street led police to a tragic mystery last night. In a locked bedroom they found the body of Mrs. Cordelia E. Black, about 35 years old. Sitting in a chair, the upholstery of which was smoldering, they found the unconscious figure of her divorced husband, Corydon A. Black, also 35.

Mrs. Black—or Miss Cordelia E. Brosseau, as she was known in the building—had been dead three days. She may have been a poison victim. Black had been unconscious probably an hour or so. He had slashed his wrists with a razor blade. Then he had swallowed a powerful drug or poison. Poison tablets were found in his pockets.

Await Ex-Husband's Story.

Black was taken to the Little Company of Mary hospital. He was still unconscious this morning. Unable to get his story, police had to rely on what papers they found in Mrs. Black's room and what a friend, Herbert C. Bradshaw, 9133 South Ada street, an auditor for the Rock Island railroad, could tell them.

Whether Mrs. Black died naturally or accidentally, or whether she poisoned herself or was poisoned by some one else, could not be determined last night. If a chemical analysis shows death by poison, then it may be a case of suicide, or accident, or even murder, police said.

Fire Attracts Janitor.

The circumstances suggested that Mrs. Black died Monday night or Tuesday morning—she worked Monday. Black probably locked her body in her bedroom. The key to the room was in his pocket. Then he remained in the apartment three days, going out only to eat. Empty bottles indicated there was some drinking. In any event, he slashed his wrists and swallowed a powerful drug. Then occurred the fire. Whether this was accidental or intentional could only be guessed. The fire attracted the attention of the janitor, Carl Grundman, who called police.

Mrs. Black, it was said, "feared" her ex-husband, this according to the friend, Bradshaw. Bradshaw said he knew the Blacks for eight years. She divorced Black about three years ago, he said. They formerly lived in Topeka, Kas., where Mrs. Black worked as a railroad clerk. In 1928, he said, Black was cited as a hero for discovering the first of a series of strange fires in the city. The Blacks moved to Fort Worth, Tex., in 1930. Last July, Bradshaw said, Mrs. Black came to Chicago. He helped get her a job on the Rock Island road.

ALICANTE, Spain, Oct. 3.—[By courier to Paris, uncensored.]—One of the mysteries of the Spanish civil war has centered about José Antonio Primo de Rivera, the son of the general who was dictator of Spain from 1923 to 1930, and the founder of Spain's Fascist party, the Falange Espanola [Spanish phalanx]. He has variously been reported slain, imprisoned by the government or escaped to a foreign country.

Young Primo, at the time the civil war began, was one of the most influential opponents of the leftist régime at Madrid, both because of his inheritance of his father's abilities and powerful friends and because of his own executive powers.

Mystery Solved.

Today this mystery has been dispelled. I have talked to José Antonio Primo de Rivera.

He is where he has been all the time—in the provincial prison at Alicante. I have just come from there where I found him with his brother Miguel, taking his daily hour's exercise in the prison patio. His sister Carmen and his aunt Maria are in the women's prison nearby. When I came back just now to the Palace hotel, which is full of diplomats of Italy, Germany, and Portugal who are established here, friends who saw me drive up in a car bristling with rifles asked where I'd been.

"To see young Primo."

A Good Joke.

And all laughed, thinking that a good if rather grim joke because the young Primo was long since slain, it seems.

It was at Madrid that I overheard a certain conversation. I turned: "Is this joke for my benefit?"

"No, and if you don't believe it, go see for yourself," said Rodolfo Llopis, undersecretary of the presidency, a young man from Alicante.

We drove down to the coast that night.

In the bay of Alicante warships lay. In hotels were refugees. All were dramatizing their situations. All telling how terribly the F. A. I. [anarchist federation] was running Alicante and how the civil governor was afraid to stir lest they murder him.

Candidate Speaks at Stadium Tonight.

Landon on Radio

Gov. Alf M. Landon's address tonight in Chicago Stadium on "The Farm Issues and the Budget" will be broadcast over W-G-N and WMAQ at 9:30 o'clock.

(Picture on Back Page.)

Chicago will turn out to welcome Gov. Alf M. Landon today in his official campaign visit to this city.

Most Chicagoans will have their first look at the prairie state candidate when he waves a greeting from the balcony of the Congress hotel, overlooking Michigan avenue and Grant park.

Plans for two great demonstrations to honor the Republican presidential nominee were completed last night. His campaign train will arrive at noon at the Twelfth street station of the Illinois Central railroad and the governor will lead a great parade between cheering thousands north in Michigan avenue to the Congress. This hotel was the headquarters of the Roosevelt Bull Moosers in 1912 and Gov. Landon was one of "T. R.'s" ardent supporters in that memorable campaign.

Will Speak in Evening.

At 9:30 o'clock this evening Gov. Landon will address a massmeeting in the Chicago Stadium, which will be packed to its capacity of almost 25,000, according to predictions. No arrangements have been made for the afternoon and early evening.

The governor's time will be his own. As far as could be learned he plans to spend it at the hotel conferring with Republican leaders of Chicago and Illinois.

The rousing welcome at the station is expected to draw thousands to the 12th street and Michigan avenue area, and other thousands will line the boulevard for the parade.

Parade in Loop Urged.

Hundreds of telephone calls and personal requests were received at the county central committee's headquarters in the La Salle hotel yesterday asking the governor's procession be routed into the loop so that the loop workers could, during the lunch hour, participate in the welcome.

Moved by this enthusiasm, Edward Moore, Republican county chairman, inquired of Maj. John Bauder of the police department if it would be possible to enlarge the route to comply with these requests.

After a conference with Commissioner of Police James Allman, Maj. Bauder said that the application had been refused because of the lack of time in which to make police preparations for the demonstration. In addition, it is contrary to police department policy to tie up downtown trafic for parades on a business day, he added.

Committee to Greet Him.

It was believed that Gov. Landon would have acceded to a loop parade had it been possible. The governor will be met at the station by a committee of welcome led by Otis F. Glenn, Republican nominee for United States senator; Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee for governor of Illinois; George F. Harding, national committeeman; State Chairman Perry B. McCullough, County Chairman Moore, Chauncey McCormick, national chairman of THE VOLUNTEERS, and a number of state and county candidates.

As the reception party greets the presidential nominee, a chorus of more than 250 voices will sing "Our Landon," one of the officially adopted songs of THE VOLUNTEERS.

Singing Along the Route.

This musical start will be maintained during the parade, which will be led by bands. Other choruses, quartets, and singing groups will be stationed at street intersections along the line of march.

The crowd will fall into line behind the governor's car and the others, designated for use by the reception committee and those of the governor's campaign party.

Michigan avenue will be kept free from trafic from 11:30 a. m. until the parade is over. At the station ninety-six policemen will be detailed and 407 others will be stationed along the line of march. There will be a police detail at the Congress hotel during the day and 365 uniformed men will be stationed at the Stadium during the evening rally.

After he has reached the hotel it was considered possible that Gov. Landon might address the crowds who parade in his honor from the second floor balcony which overlooks the boulevard and the Congress street plaza on the east side of the avenue. Theodore Roosevelt spoke from this balcony during the 1912 campaign.

Gov. Landon will lunch at the hotel with National Committeeman Harding, National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton, C. B. Goodspeed, treasurer of the national committee; Arthur M. Curtis, assistant to Mr. Hamilton, County Chairman Moore, State Chairman McCullough, and perhaps two or three others from the national committee. The list of guests is limited because the conference will be of a business nature.

Presidential Bed in Suite.

In the suite Gov. Landon will occupy is a bed that has been slept in by seven Presidents—Grover Cleveland, William H. Taft, Theodore Roosevelt, Woodrow Wilson, Warren G. Harding, Calvin Coolidge, and Franklin D. Roosevelt. The bed, of French walnut, now is one of a pair in the master bedroom of the hotel's presidential suite.

At the night meeting Michael J. Kennedy, business representative of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, local 134, will preside. Mr. Kennedy will be introduced by Republican Committee Chairman Moore.

When he has been given the gavel Chairman Kennedy will introduce for short speeches Mr. Glenn, Wayland Brooks, John Romaszkiewicz, president of the Polish National alliance; Mrs. Anna L. Smith, former Democratic national committeewoman for Illinois, who is supporting the Republican ticket this fall, and George W. Dowell of Du Quoin, long associated with the labor movement in the state.

Governor to Appear Late.

Gov. Landon is to appear upon the platform at the Stadium just prior to delivery of his speech.

None but the platform seats will be reserved tonight but admission to the Stadium will be by ticket only. Tickets have been distributed through the county central committee.

The speaking program at the night meeting will be preceded by an hour and a half of music, presented by the music division of THE VOLUNTEERS and arranged by Phil Maxwell, chairman. Mr. Maxwell will act as master of ceremonies.

The program will be opened and closed by music from a symphony orchestra directed by Dr. Frank Waller. There will be community singing, solos, and orchestral numbers during the program and the two VOLUNTEER songs—the "Campaign Hymn" and "Our Landon"—will be sung by the Frank Bennett octette. Mrs. Maida Firmin Townsend, one of the co-authors of "Our Landon" will appear as soloist.

One of the groups which will be featured in the musical program is the Federal Glee club, an organization of colored singers led by William E. Myricks. Al Melgard, stadium organist, will accompany the audience in the community singing.

Labor Leaders to Attend.

Among the first to accept invitations to the Landon celebration was a group of labor leaders whose names were announced last night by the county central committee as follows: Thomas J. Murray, Electrical Workers' union and president of the Brooks for Governor Union Label league of Illinois; James J. Ryan, business representative, Sheet Metal Workers' union; Morris Sklare, business representative, Glass Blowers' union, and Michael J. Galvin, business representative, Chicago Truck Drivers and Chauffeurs' union.

Others from outside Chicago included:

AIMEE'S LAWYER SUED BY ROBERTA AS A SLANDERER

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Roberta Semple, daughter of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, pastor of Angelus temple, filed suit for $150,000 damages today against Willedd Andrews, Mrs. McPherson's personal attorney, charging slander.

Miss Semple, naming Andrews as the sole defendant, asked $100,000 actual damages and $50,000 punitive damages.

Her suit is based on statements attributed to Andrews in connection with the current controversy over temple authority, together with the contents of a letter Andrews is asserted to have written to Stanley Arndt, Miss Semple's attorney.

The complaint recited a statement attributed to Andrews, as follows:

"Mrs. McPherson has been intimidated, threatened, and blackmailed for the last time. This time she is prepared to fight to the finish. While she regrets that the war will be with her own daughter, the only course ahead of her is protection from destruction of the organization which has consumed the best years of her life."

The complaint brands the statement as "false, malicious, oppressive, and unprivileged."

Halts Today at Freeport and Rockford.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Topeka, Kas., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Gov. Alf M. Landon left Topeka at 7:17 o'clock tonight on his fourth campaign trip which will take him into four states whose 88 electoral votes probably will decide the presidential election. An enthusiastic crowd at the station to see the governor off delayed his departure, which had been set for 7 o'clock.

The first of these states is Illinois, where the Republican candidate will begin campaigning tomorrow morning on his arrival at Freeport at 7:35 [central standard time]. The Sunshine special will stop there three minutes and at Rockford five minutes at 8:50 and will arrive in Chicago at noon [Chicago time]. From then on the day will be devoted to Chicago, with a parade, conferences in his hotel and a speech in the evening at the Chicago Stadium.

Four Days in Ohio.

Leaving Chicago at midnight on the Big Four railroad the candidate will journey to Cincinnati where he will stop an hour and a half for a "political breakfast." He will spend four days in Ohio where he will make 14 speeches, the chief address being at Cleveland on Monday night. The week-end will be spent in Columbus.

From Cleveland the governor will go to Detroit for another speech, campaigning on the way and the following two days will be spent in rear platform work in Michigan, Indiana, and Illinois on the way home. The governor will speak in Danville and Decatur on the evening of the 15th.

This trip, which may prove decisive to the Landon campaign, happens to fall on the first anniversary of the Landon for President movement. A year ago this week, the exact day being a trifle uncertain in the memories of the participants, four Kansas newspaper men invited Gov. Landon to a dinner where they talked with him seriously about the possibility of his becoming a candidate for the Republican nomination for President. These men were Oscar Stauffer of Arkansas City, Fred Brinkerhoff of Pittsburgh, Roy Roberts and Lacy Haynes of Kansas City, Mo.

Puts New Deal on Defensive.

The Landon movement became a snowball which has been growing bigger ever since. Today finds the Kansas governor in such a strategic position that President Roosevelt and his campaign manager have been forced from their position of remote tolerance toward this prairie state governor into a defensive corner where they must turn on all the force of their immense federal machine and all the charm of the New Deal nominee. The Roosevelt advantage has been steadily slipping, and the fight is on.

Gov. Landon has brought a new tempo to his campaign in the last few days and from now on is expected to keep up a hard slugging fight against the New Deal and its exponents. There are few days of rest for him until election day.

Detroit to Topeka Itinerary.

The itinerary of the trip from Detroit to Topeka, which was approved today, follows:

Oct. 14—Leave Detroit 9 a. m. [E. S. T.] via New York Central. Arrive Flint, Mich., 11:30 a. m., change to Grand Trunk.
Arrive Jackson, Mich., 2:50 p. m.
Arrive Battle Creek, 4:18 p. m.
Arrive Kalamazoo, Mich., 5:10 p. m., change to Pennsylvania.
Arrive Grand Rapids, 7:25 p. m. Spend night in Grand Rapids.
Oct. 15—Leave Grand Rapids, 9:25 a. m. [E. S. T.] via Pennsylvania.
Arrive Sturgis, Mich., 11:40 a. m.
Arrive Huntington, 1:51 p. m.
Arrive Wabash, 2:20 p. m.
Arrive Peru, 2:56 p. m.
Arrive Logansport, 3:28 p. m.
Arrive Lafayette, 4:43 p. m.
Arrive Attica, 5:16 p. m.
Arrive Danville, Ill., 6:10 p. m.
Arrive Decatur, 7:48 p. m.
Oct. 16—Arrive Topeka, Kas., 7:15 a. m.

Twenty-nine rear platform talks are scheduled for this trip, which is one of the hardest that the candidate has taken. At Dayton and Toledo he will leave the train for parade and platform appearance. In order to reach the cities that he wants to visit in these so-called borderline states, the governor's special will have to be routed over eleven different railroads, three of them twice and one line three times.

He will use the Santa Fe, the Milwaukee, Illinois Central, Big Four, Baltimore and Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York Central, Michigan Central, Pere Marquette, Grand Trunk, and Wabash. When he returns to Topeka on Oct. 16 the governor will have traveled 11,339 miles on speaking trips since he was notified of the Republican nomination.

Members of His Party.

In addition to his usual staf and the big party of newspaper men accompanying him the governor has announced the following members of his personal party:

C. S. Bloss, Winfield, Kas., speaker of the Kansas house of representatives.

Robert J. Laubengayer, Salina, Kas., publisher of Salina Journal.

Charles Spencer, Independence, Kas., editor Independence Reporter.

LANDON WILL SPEAK AT 9 P. M. TUESDAY IN DETROIT BALL PARK

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—The demands for seats at the rally to hear Gov. Alf M. Landon, Republican presidential nominee, has become so great here that G. O. P. officials decided today to stage it in Navin field, the baseball park, which can accommodate 40,000 people.

The meeting was to have been held in Olympia, an indoor auditorium seating approximately 20,000 persons. Ocas C. Hull, Wayne county Republican chairman, said that it has been found necessary to make room for more listeners.

Gov. Landon will speak at 9 p. m. Tuesday night. Distribution of tickets will begin tomorrow afternoon. The first blocks will go to the several Republican organizations in the city. District headquarters have been set up where the general public may obtain tickets. Hull said that 5,000 of the tickets, for distribution outside the city, will be sent to Howard C. Lawrence, state central committee chairman.

ROOSEVELT AND LANDON MAY MEET AT GRAND RAPIDS

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—If Gov. Alf. M. Landon's train is five minutes late leaving Grand Rapids next Thursday morning, or if President Roosevelt's train arrives five minutes early, their campaign paths will cross in the Union station here.

Gov. Landon is scheduled to arrive here Wednesday at 7:15 p. m. He will make an address from his train, ride through the streets in a gala parade, and receive followers in a reception in the ballroom of the Pantlind hotel, where he and his party will stay overnight.

Departing, his train is due to leave at 9:25 a. m.

POLICE STATION PUZZLE SOLVED—BY THE JANITOR!

Sam Jones, colored, is the janitor, not a policeman at the Deering street station house, but yesterday he solved a mystery which had puzzled rank and file there for four days. It involved tracing ownership of two homing pigeons.

Desk Sergeant Patrick Connelly explained the difficulty when he related that all the usual police methods had failed.

"Nobody claimed the pigeons," he said, "even after we sent out teletype messages and a radio call, telling how we found them in a crate in the gutter at 32d and Halsted streets Sunday night."

But Sam Jones, as related before, is not a policeman. Yesterday afternoon he took one of the pigeons out of the crate, attached a note to its leg and freed it. The note asked the owner to come to the station and claim the other bird. Two hours later Marion Konieczny, 12 years old, 940 West 29th street, a sixth grade pupil at St. Barbara's parochial school, appeared to get his other pigeon.

BLOOD FIND LINKS VANISHED WIDOW TO SEVERED LEGS

Weymouth, Mass., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Deputy Superintendent James R. Claflin of Boston declared tonight he was "sure" that dismembered legs of a woman found in Boston harbor were those of a pretty 40 year old widow, Mrs. Grace Asquith, missing for three weeks.

His assertion that the widow was the victim of the gruesome harbor mystery came after police searched her summer cottage here and found, he said, a blood-spattered living room, bloodstained sheets, and pieces of burlap and a saw in the cellar.

Mrs. Asquith disappeared from the cottage suddenly about three weeks ago, he declared, leaving behind a prepared but uneaten meal.

"This is undoubtedly the woman whose legs were found in Boston harbor four days ago," Claflin said.

ROOSEVELT OFF TO WOO VOTERS OF 11 STATES

First Speech Today at 9 A. M. in Dubuque.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Aboard President's Special En Route to Iowa, Oct. 8.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt was headed westward tonight on one of the most spectacular and ambitious campaigns ever attempted by a President seeking reëlection.

In ten days, he will seek, by personal appearaces, parades, and speeches, formal and extemporaneous, to influence in his favor the voters of eleven states, with a combined electoral strength of 183 votes. In a majority of these states, the outcome is a toss up between Mr. Roosevelt and Alf M. Landon.

Like many of the projects authorized by the President, during his administration, this campaign expedition is the biggest and most costly in the history of the United States. Secret service men, who have made the arrangements for other Presidents in election years, were the authority for this statement.

Railroad Bill Near $10,000.

Five thousand miles will be covered by the President and his followers. The railroad bill for Mr. Roosevelt, members of his family and personal friends will be close to $10,000. A large force of government operatives carried at federal expense to protect the President will have expense accounts totaling many more thousands.

The note of jaunty confidence in Roosevelt's voice when he speaks of the campaign reached the public a few hours after he left the capitol when his train stopped briefly in Cumberland, Md. With a broad grin he told the free staters that he hoped "to visit again in the next four years and discuss some of your problems."

"You know that you at the headwaters of the Potomac are responsible for some of our floods down in Washington," the President declared. He spoke of flood control dams in this neighborhood "which incidentally would produce power."

"Faithful" in Party.

As a sentimental gesture, the President took with him many of the faithful who accompanied him on his "big swing" in 1932. These included Mrs. Roosevelt, Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, Senators Key Pittman, Burton K. Wheeler, Joseph C. O'Mahoney, Breckinridge Long, and a dozen more lesser luminaries.

In addition, 25 newspaper correspondents, eight news reel and camera men, five radio representatives, were on the special train. These paid their own bills, but a crew of secretaries, stenographers, typists and mimeograph operators were carried at public expense.

Two engines tugged eleven packed Pullman cars, as the train departed from Washington over the Baltimore and Ohio tracks at noon today. The special was scheduled to reach Chicago shortly before dawn and to delay only fifteen minutes in the railroad yards before proceeding to Dubuque, Ia., where the first speech of the trip will be made at 9 a. m.

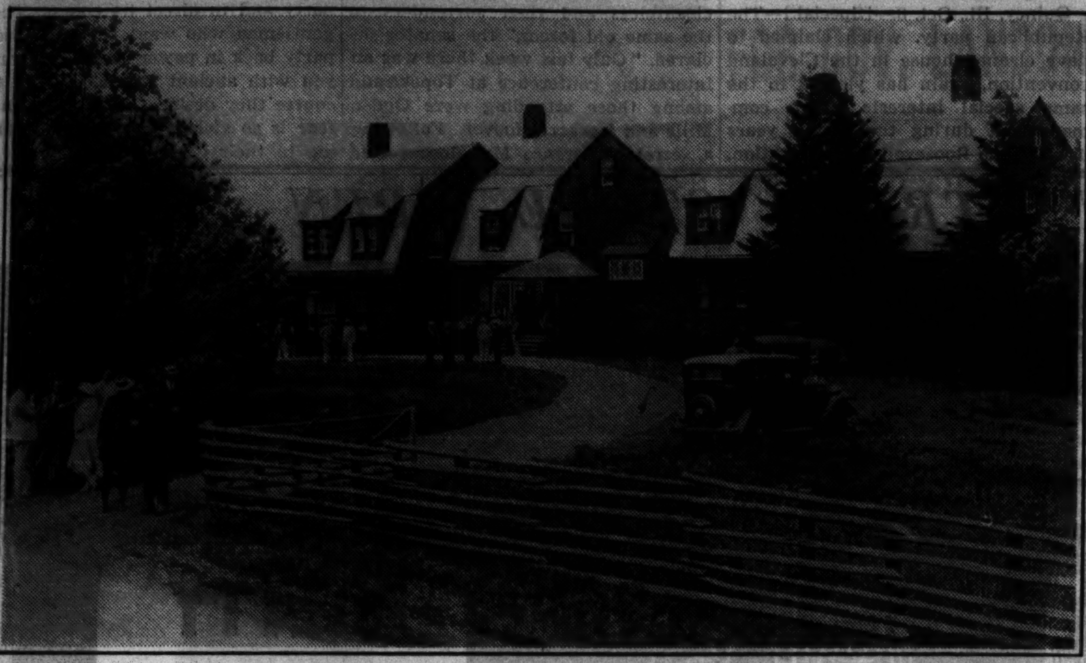
From then on, the President has mapped for himself a speaking tour which is unprecedented in the memory of veteran newspaper observers on the train.

Two "Major" Addresses.

Only two "major" addresses, one in Omaha and one in Chicago, have been announced, but other speeches may equal these in importance. The White House esteems a talk by the President as of "major" status only when it is broadcast over a coast to coast radio hookup.

The presence on the train of Supreme Court Justice Sam Rosenman of New York occasioned speculation. Rosenman was Mr. Roosevelt's legal adviser when he was governor of New York. He counseled him when the Jimmy Walker scandal was breaking. It was thought that the President was perhaps seeking advice on what steps to take concerning the soviet airplane deal incident involving his son, Elliott Roosevelt.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S RETREAT IN CANADA



Speaking recently at the New York Democratic convention in Syracuse, President Roosevelt said: "Do I need to recall to you the fear of those days—the reports of those who piled supplies in their basements, who laid plans to get their fortunes across the border, who got themselves hideaways in the country against impending upheaval?" This is a recent picture of Mr. Roosevelt's home on Campobello Island, a Canadian island off the coast of New Brunswick. He spent several weeks here last summer.

ELECT U. S. PROFESSOR TO WORLD COURT AS KELLOGG'S SUCCESSOR

GENEVA, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Dr. Manley O. Hudson, Bemis professor of international law at Harvard university, was elected tonight to the permanent court of international justice. Dr. Hudson succeeds Frank B. Kellogg, former United States secretary of state, who resigned last year.

The election, in which two other vacancies on the bench also were filled, brought together representatives of China and Japan at a meeting of the league of nations' council for the first time since 1932. Although no longer a member of the league, Japan was eligible to participate in the election as a signatory of the world court.

The others elected to the bench were Dr. Cheng Tien-hsi of China and Dr. K. H. L. Hammarskjold of Sweden. Dr. Hammarskjold, who had been clerk of the court, succeeds the late Walter Schucking of Germany.

CHICAGO HONORS LEIF ERICSON'S MEMORY TONIGHT

Leif Ericson day, honoring the memory of the navigator who reputedly discovered North America in the year 1000, will be celebrated tonight at the Logan Square Masonic temple, Kedzie avenue and Altgeld street. Both Gov. Horner and Mayor Kelly have proclaimed the day. Ervin Larsen, president of the Norwegian National league, will be in charge of the observance. Celebrations will be held in various parts of the city for one week. The guest speaker tonight will be the Rev. Johannes Hoifjele, historian, of Minneapolis.

Army Private Confesses Robbing Filling Station

Warden H. Woods, 25 years old, a private at Fort Sheridan, returned to the army post yesterday after three days' leave of absence and was placed in the guardhouse to await a court martial on a charge of robbing a filling station at 6600 Stony Island avenue of $40 on Wednesday night. He confessed after he was identified by the filling station attendant, Harry Wood, 6212 Ellis avenue.

Bomb Hurled Into Wrong Window; Woman Injured

A stench bomb, apparently thrown through the wrong window, cut and burned Mrs. Mildred Jurcik, 42 years old, on the left hand last night. She lives in the first floor rear flat at 6209 Roosevelt road, Berwyn. The front is occupied by the barber shop of Robert Srjc, a nonunion operator. He lives on the second floor rear. Police think the missil was meant for him.

2 CUTTERS HUNT CRIPPLED YACHT LOST IN PACIFIC

HONOLULU, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Wireless operators throughout the mid-Pacific area listened in vain tonight for word from the stricken auxiliary ketch Margaret Payne, "lost" in the vast ocean expanse somewhere south of the Hawaiian Islands.

The coast guard cutter Tiger from Hilo joined the cutter Itasca in its search of the general area where the little yacht reported its plight Saturday with a plea that its six occupants could "hold out" only three days.

Odds against rescue increased when the yacht's radio went silent. It was last heard Tuesday midnight when it reported its position as unknown.

The Itasca wirelessed that it was continuing the hunt but Commander H. C. Kenner, added that he had "no other information" on the yacht. The Itasca had been combing the area since Monday and for two nights had swept the skies with powerful searchlights in the hope of receiving a rocket signal from the yacht.

The plight of the six persons aboard was as mystifying as the whereabouts of the yacht. It reported its crew could not handle the sails and that the occupants had only rainwater to drink. From piecemeal reports it appeared the yacht's food supply was diminishing rapidly and that the craft was completely at the mercy of ocean currents.

High School Safety Class to Visit Test Lane Today

A class of 125 students in automobile mechanics and safety at Senn High school will be guests of the Chicago park district today at a car testing lane at Argyle street and the outer drive. George R. Robertson, the instructor, said the students will learn testing methods and how the program aids safety.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Fred Neimann, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Rudolph Desort.

Joe Strawson and Jim McKay, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary by Judge Epstein.

Edward Mangin, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary; Stanley Mansfield, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Peter Schwaba.

Beryl Dill, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Robert C. O'Connell.

Judge Robert C. O'Connell in Criminal court yesterday denied motions to quash the four new embezzlement indictments against Frank V. Zintak, who was ousted as clerk of the Superior court after an audit disclosed a shortage of $26,500 in his accounts. The court ordered Zintak to be ready for trial Nov. 2 on one of the indictments.

Attorney Stephen Love, counsel for Zintafl, argued that the indictments were faulty because they failed to show who owned the funds allegedly embezzled.

Assistant State's Attorney Robert Wright countered that Zintak had put all of the office funds in a general fund so that it was impossible to show ownership. He said the state would go to trial first on the indictment charging Zintak with appropriating $10,500 of the office funds on Oct. 4, 1935.

Last Thursday Zintak paid back $25,639 which he estimated as the amount of the shortage. The four new indictments were voted by the grand jury after a previous indictment had charged Zintak with a shortage of $22,560.

HINDENBURG WILL SAIL OVER EAST FOR ALL TO SEE

New York, Oct. 8.—[Special.]—The airship Hindenburg will leave Lakehurst tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock for a flight of little more than 600 miles over cities ranging from Boston to Philadelphia and including New York. The flight, which is scheduled to take about ten hours, will give an opportunity to a population of about 20 million to see the airship by daylight before she sails at midnight for her tenth eastward crossing of the North Atlantic, the last of the current season.

Seventy-three passengers will be carried on the cruise. In the party will be leaders in the industrial, banking, and aviation world.

CUSTOMER DROPS DEAD IN OFFICE.

Mrs. Mary Honert, 73 years old, 3731 South Irving avenue, died yesterday, apparently from heart disease, in the office of a lumber company at 3800 South Western avenue, where she had gone to make a purchase.

CROWLEY DIES; FAILS TO NAME 2 ASSAILANTS

Police Seek Racket Clew in Slaying.

Lawrence J. [Butch] Crowley, millionaire bootleg booze distributor of prohibition days, died last evening in St. Joseph's hospital, Joliet, without naming the two young gunmen who shot him down early Wednesday morning in front of his home at 915 North Raynor avenue, Joliet.

At his bedside were his wife, Gertrude, and two brothers, Thomas and William. Crowley became delirious soon after he was taken to the hospital, and neither to the police nor to his friends and relatives was he able to give information about a possible motive for the shooting.

Suspect Hired Killers.

The Joliet police were working on a theory that Crowley's assailants were hired killers of a slot machine syndicate, rival of an organization with which the slain man was said to have been associated. Police Captain Ervin Boe, who questioned Crowley in the hospital, said he expected immediate reprisals for the murder.

To Capt. Boe, however, Crowley said before his death:

"I'm just a plain business man. I don't know why they plugged me."

Loses Beer Fortune.

Crowley's ostensible business in recent years has been selling used automobiles. Most of the fortune which he amassed selling beer from breweries in Elgin and Pekin during the prohibition era was said to have been lost in bad real estate invesments during the depression. Early this year he was jailed when he professed himself unable to pay a $750 judgment. He was freed on a formal plea of insolvency.

Recently, according to State's Attorney Will R. McCabe of Will county, Crowley had been seen displaying large sums of money. The prosecutor said he learned the ex-bootlegger had been promising protection for illicit liquor plants in the county.

Hold to "War" Theory.

The police, however, clung to the theory that competition between slot machine syndicates was behind the killing.

On Wednesday, after the shooting, Crowley was visited in the hospital by Judge Edwin L. Wilson of the Will county Circuit court. Last April Judge Wilson issued an injunction restraining Joliet officials from interfering with the Crown Supply company, which is now said to operate 180 slot machines in the city. Another slot machine syndicate is reported to have been forced into the rural areas of the county.

Funeral services for Crowley will be held Monday morning in St. Raymond's church, Joliet. He will be buried in the $12,000 private mausoleum in Mount Olivet cemetery there, which he purchased in 1922 during the days of his prosperity.

ROOSEVELT DEAL FOR AN AIR MAIL GRAB IS CHARGED

Cancellation Part of Plan, Says Fokker Aid.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—The scandal involving Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, in a deal to make a half million dollars selling military planes to soviet Russia, with the approval of his father, assumed even greater proportions today when Herbert A. Reed, formerly associated with the Fokker Aircraft corporation, charged that the Roosevelts also participated with him in a scheme to obtain a monopoly of the nation's commercial air lines.

Mr. Reed, who entered into the contract with young Roosevelt to sell 50 military planes to the soviet union, charged in a telegram to the Aero Digest that both the President and his son backed a plan to reorganize the commercial air lines, the air mail contracts of which were canceled by the President in February, 1934. Elliott Roosevelt and his associates, according to Reed's charges, were to have received $750,000 a year in the proposed air line reorganization.

Cancelation Called Pact.

Reed charged that the cancelation of these air mail contracts, which resulted in the carrying of the mail by army flyers and the death of 12 army pilots, was a part of the reorganization scheme in which young Roosevelt was to enrich himself. He also averred that young Roosevelt's denial that he entered into a contract to sell military planes to the communists was not surprising because "I was warned to expect such denials if there was any leak concerning our association."

Meanwhile the New Dealers were frantic over the Roosevelt-Fokker scandal. Their anxiety was indicated by a telegram which Senator Bennett C. Clark [Dem., Mo.] sent to Chairman Gerald P. Nye of the senate munitions committee bitterly assailing him for releasing an affidavit detailing the deal to sell fighting planes to the soviet.

Senator Clark, a member of the munitions committee, said Chairman Nye's action in releasing the affidavit made by Anthony Fokker, the airplane manufacturer, was "as cheap a political trick as has been seen in years."

Clark not only sent his protest to Nye but served orders upon Miss Lydia Lee, the only remaining employé of the munitions committee, that hereafter she was not to release anything on instructions of the chairman or anybody else without action by the full committee.

Text of the Telegram.

Reed's telegram was sent to Frank Tichenor, publisher of the Aero Digest, which first published details of the Roosevelt-Fokker airplane deal. In this telegram he declared:

"Re Washington dispatch morning papers: Elliott Roosevelt's denial of having planned to sell military airplanes to Russia for Fokker, of having approval of his father, the President, to do so, and of receiving $5,000 cash binder on his Fokker contract, is not surprising to me. He and his father will probably similarly deny having backed my plan for reorganization of the nation's air lines, of which the air mail contract cancellation on Feb. 9, 1934, was a part and for which Elliott and his associates were to receive an interest estimated at $750,000 per year, because at the time we were dealing I was warned to expect such denials if there was any leak concerning our association. But the Fokker-Roosevelt contract signed by Elliott Roosevelt was predicated on the Russian purchase of military planes and one only has to examine and reconcile my private files to see that President Roosevelt and I were working close together for about six weeks, besides which I paid that $5,000 cash to Elliott Roosevelt to initiate our business relations and I still hold his receipt for the money."

Receipt Published in Magazine.

The receipt mentioned by Reed's telegram had previously been published by the Aero Digest. It not only acknowledged the receipt of the $5,000 as a down payment on a $25,000 retainer fee, but referred to the agreement under which young Roosevelt was to sell planes "for delivery to the soviet union." The contract was later canceled, according to the Fokker affidavit, because the profits of $500,000 demanded by young Roosevelt made the price of the planes so high that the communists would have nothing to do with the scheme.

Frank A. Tichenor, publisher of Aero Digest, made this statement today:

"The document from which Charlie Michelson, publicity director for the Democratic national committee, is quoting as the contract between Elliott Roosevelt and Tony Fokker is apparently one of many tentative drafts discussed during the weeks of negotiations between the two principals and discarded when the final agreement was reached on Feb. 28, 1934."

"It is definitly not the contract as drawn by Reed for Fokker, signed by Fokker and Elliott Roosevelt, specifying the sale of planes to soviet Russia as the duties of Elliott Roosevelt, acknowledging the receipt by him on Feb. 6, 1934, of $5,000 as part of a $25,000 retainer fee, on which the James H. Oliphant company at the direction of Fokker's agent paid a check of $6,666.66 to Elliott Roosevelt on May 9, filed in Fokker's office and canceled when Elliott Roosevelt, after receiving the May 9 check, attempted to have the instrument rewritten, substituting Stratton for himself—the contract seized by the Nye committee.

"If Elliott Roosevelt or Charlie Michelson have a contract signed by the principals and clearing up Elliott's connection with Fokker as attested by the latter in a sworn statement taken by the Nye committee, they should produce it in full. Otherwise they lend themselves to the suspicion of still trying to hoax the public as to the aeronautical activities of the President's son."

While the New Dealers were stewing over the sensational scandal that broke so close to election, there was widespread speculation as to whether the munitions committee would be forced to resume hearings and investigate the matter.

The committee's "work," including half a dozen large volumes on the shipbuilding and munitions making industries, "war profits," and neutrality legislation, has been concluded and hearings formally closed. Furthermore, the committee has no funds. However, there arose the possibility that the investigators now would be forced to go fully into the Roosevelt deal and let the public have the facts.

SENATOR LEWIS SAYS SAME MEN CONTROL G. O. P.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Quincy, Ill., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—The Republican party, which claimed to have cleaned house in the Cleveland convention, again has yielded to the same special interests which commanded it during the twelve years prior to the Roosevelt administration, Senator James Hamilton Lewis, candidate for reëlection on the Democratic ticket asserted today in addresses at Quincy and Mount Sterling.

"The Republican party professes cleanliness and then surrenders to the same old forces," the senator declared. "Only last week there was an interesting conference at Topeka and among those attending were Ogden Mills and Herbert Hoover. Following a secret conference Mr. Hoover told the press that the meeting was arranged to lay campaign plans and to outline what we propose to do.

"Despite the profession of house cleaning the same old interests remain to dominate the Republican party and to direct its course. These gentlemen who want the Republican party back in power seek to terrorize you with ancient falsehoods into the course they desire. Their program of fear is so vicious that it is redounding to their own hurt."

HULL'S ADDRESS ON TARIF CALLED A PLEA OF GUILTY

New Dealer Pauses Here; Defends Trade Pact.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

A charge that the address of Secretary of State Cordell Hull at Minneapolis on Wednesday night was "simply a plea of guilty" was made at Republican national headquarters yesterday. It came from Congressman F. D. Culkin of New York, who is in charge of the dairy department of the farm division of the G. O. P. national committee.

Mr. Hull himself, passing through Chicago last night, tossed back the phrase "drivel and rot" at the Culkin statement.

"Secretary Hull," said the Culkin statement, "is trying to muddy the water in an endeavor to make the dairymen turn the other cheek on election day. Mr. Hull in his Minneapolis speech made no defense of his betrayal of the dairymen except to say the tarif on cheese has only been reduced to the level of the Fordney-McCumber tarif act of 1922.

Hull Member of House.

"Mr. Hull was a member of the ways and means committee of the house at the time that tarif was written and also when the tarif act of 1930 was put on the statute books. Mr. Hull should know what the Fordney-McCumber act did to American cheese makers then and what his trade agreement 'at the same level' is doing now.

"Under the Fordney-McCumber act imports of Canadian cheese for seven years up to 1929 ranged from 15 million to 18 million pounds annually. Secretary Hull knows very well how this enormous tonnage was brought in at inopportune times and used to batter down the price of American cheese products.

Cites Tarif Act Rates.

"The Republican tarif act of 1930 provided the most effective rates dairymen ever enjoyed. The tarif boost to 7 cents a pound was sufficient to shut off that stream of Canadian cheese, for the records show that Canadian cheese imports to the United States dropped to a bare trickle from 1930 to Jan. 1 of this year.

"Since that recent date Canadian cheese, which had been going to the London market, began to pour into the United States. In the first eight months of this year 8,250,000 pounds of this commodity cleared through our custom houses on the Canadian border."

Hull Defends Self.

Mr. Culkin had hardly unbelted his counterblast against Mr. Hull, when the latter made retort. The cabinet member stopped in Chicago between trains en route from Minneapolis to Washington, leaving here at 6 o'clock.

"If I were national chairman of a party," said Secretary Hull, "and I had a man in my employ who made such representations as Mr. Culkin, I'd fire him.

"Mr. Culkin charges our trade treaties have injured the farmers. My answer is that if the farmer is not better satisfied under the existing treaties than he was a few years ago, I'd say, let him go ahead and listen to that sort of drivel and rot.

VICTIM OF JEWEL THEFT

BARBARA FIELD.

Arrest Seller

New York, Oct. 8.—[Special.]—The theft of jewelry valued at $30,000 from Miss Barbara Field, debutante daughter of Marshall Field, banker and sportsman, was disclosed today when police arrested an awning hanger as he was about to dispose of a pearl necklace said to be worth $16,000. All of the jewelry, with the exception of about $2,000 worth, is in the hands of the police.

The prisoner, John Carroll, 37 years old, had been trailed from his home to an uptown gold exchange, where detectives had located part of the loot. Carroll, according to detectives, already had sold two valuable rings for $58. The remainder of the jewelry, except $2,000 worth located in pawn shops, was found either on Carroll's person or in his room, police said.

Miss Field, who was introduced to society last spring, reported the theft Monday. She said the bag containing the jewelry had been taken from the locked rumble seat of her automobile when it was parked in front of Barnard college in upper Manhattan. Miss Field said she did not discover the theft until she reached her home. There she was apprised of the loss by one of the doormen whom she had directed to remove the bag and another valise from the car.

TOWNSEND TELLS WHY HE WILL VOTE FOR GOV. LANDON

Reiterates His Opposition to Roosevelt.

Dr. Francis E. Townsend expanded yesterday his announcement to his California director, Edward J. Margett, on Wednesday that he would vote for Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas in California. A statement from the old age pension leader declared that with no Lemke third party ticket filed in California, he was arranging to send out a special edition of his weekly paper to make his position clear.

"Let me explain my position," read the statement. "I am for William Lemke for President, because Mr. Lemke is for the Townsend plan.

Chooses to Vote for Landon.

"Mr. Lemke failed of filing his independent ticket in California. I am a resident of California and must vote there. I therefore must choose the lesser of two evils and vote for Mr. Landon.

"I cannot as a matter of principle vote for Mr. Roosevelt, whose New Deal administration has attempted in so many ways to attack and break up our organization.

"In those states where Mr. Lemke has filed a third party ticket, I strongly urge all Townsend club members and their friends to vote for him because Mr. Lemke is wholeheartedly for the Townsend plan.

Will Explain Position Further.

"I regret that Mr. Lemke could not file his third party ticket in California. So strongly do I feel in this matter that we are ordering a special edition of the Townsend National Weekly which explains my entire position and the position of many voters in our organization.

"It will be in the hands of the people Oct. 19. We are calling it the victory edition."

John B. Kiefer, former central regional director of the Townsend movement who was ousted by Dr. Townsend, announced himself yesterday for President Roosevelt's reëlection. He is on the campaign committee of the "National Pension Committee for Roosevelt," which has opened headquarters in New York.

In commenting upon the stand of Mr. Kiefer, Dr. Townsend released the following statement:

"The fact that Mr. Kiefer announces himself for Mr. Roosevelt is in keeping with the reasons which caused him to be discharged from Old Age Revolving Pensions, now the Townsend National Recovery plan. Mr. Roosevelt is against the Townsend plan. This is proven by the drastic political campaign his administration waged against our organization under the guise of an investigation."

END HEARING ON LAKE SHORE CAR LINE REMOVAL

The hearing on the petition of the park district to force the removal of the surface lines tracks from Lake Shore drive between Chicago avenue and Navy pier ended yesterday before the Illinois commerce commission.

Immediately afterward Assistant Commissioner Herman E. Moore announced that there would be a ruling in the near future. It is expected that this will come after the commission studies the final briefs submitted by the park and surface lines' attorneys.

Change Date of Maywood Water Plant Election

The Maywood special election on a proposal to purchase two water softening plants was changed from Nov. 20 to Nov. 24 by the Maywood board last night. The change was made to conform to the law requiring a notice of forty days prior to a referendum. The plants will cost about $323,000, of which $145,000 will be a federal grant.

Missing Girl Mystery Is New Scandal in Geoghan's Office

New York, Oct. 8.—[Special.]—The pitiful case of a 13 year old victim of criminal assault, who was either kidnaped or ran away from a detention home where she was being held pending prosecution of her attackers, pointed today to another major scandal in the office of William F. X. Geoghan, district attorney of Brooklyn.

Geoghan, an organization Democrat of that borough, was recently cleared by Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of charges of incompetence or worse in handling the Drukman murder case.

On Sept. 12, almost a month ago, the girl in the case, Ethel Stadler, disappeared from the Brooklyn Girl's home. For some unexplained reason this information was not publicly known until yesterday, when it was revealed police were searching for the child.

Accused Attackers Free on Bail.

Three days after the girl's disappearance she was scheduled to have testified against three young thugs charged with raping her. The three, out on bail soon after the crime occurred several months ago, are still at liberty.

The Ethel Stadler case and the case of two boys held as material witnesses over a year to testify in a murder case has brought public opinion to bear on the strange manner justice is being dispensed in Brooklyn courts.

Even before the disappearance of the Stadler child, Justice Jacob Panken of Children's court was undertaking futile moves to rectify the handling of child witnesses. He charged that 36 minors, only a few of them recorded as delinquents, were being held waiting the slow process of court action on criminals against whom they were supposed to testify. Of the 36, no less than 26 were being held in Brooklyn, the jurisdiction of District Attorney Geoghan.

Judge Assails Delay.

Justice Panken was particularly critical of the manner District Attorney Geoghan handled the case of the three attackers of Ethel.

"A lapse of six weeks between the arrest of these young men on criminal assault charges and the presentment of the case before the grand jury," he said, "is an unreasonable and unjustifiable delay. It made possible her disappearance."

A check up today of prosecution and police officials in Brooklyn showed the case being taken with great calm. The district attorney professed not to have heard of Ethel Stadler or her attackers until some of the details were published in the newspapers. Police headquarters said a general search was on, but it appeared to be of a routine nature. Police were inclined to discredit Stadler's theory that his daughter had been kidnaped to prevent her testifying in court.

Browder for President Club Is Organized at U. of C.

Leon P. Smith, assistant dean of students of the University of Chicago, yesterday officially recognized a Browder for President club on the campus. The club was sponsored by Prof. Anton J. Carlson. Prof. Carlson, a Landon supporter, said he sponsored the club in the interest of free speech. President of the club is Miss Virginia Schwarz. An organization meeting will be held at 3:30 Tuesday at which time Kenneth Born of the University of Kansas, will speak.

Auto Executives in Plane See Superhighway Routes

Officers and directors of the Chicago Automobile Trade association were flown over Chicago yesterday in a 21 passenger plane of the American Airlines. While aloft A. G. Faeh, general manager of the association, pointed out proposed elevated highway routes that would swell the motor car population of the metropolitan area by enhancing the value of vehicle ownership.

ROBERT MOSES QUITS BOARD OF N. Y. WORLD'S FAIR

New York, Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Park Commissioner Robert Moses announced today his resignation as a member of the board of directors of the New York World's Fair corporation. He and Grover Whalen, president of the corporation, explained that the reason for the resignation was that Moses, being in charge of permanent city and state park improvements on the site of the fair at Flushing Meadow park, Queens, felt that he ought not to risk a conflict of responsibilities by continuing to serve as a director of the fair. Both denied that there had been any disagreement between Moses and any member of the corporation.

GREENER PASTURES

By CALEB

A PERSONABLE young lady, with experience as a stenographer and a high ambition to get into work where she can assume responsibility, was talking to us.

For some time she had studied law nights. She was amazed at the unanimity with which lawyers advised her not to go on with it. She had had considerable contact with sales and advertising in one company. She considered getting into advertising if she could. Among advertising people, too, she met with unanimously negative advice.

Then she started surveying the possibilities of getting into a department store. She was interested in the way women become responsible buyers. She talked with a number of buyers in different stores. They, too, discouraged her.

But not all of them did. One woman said, "If you are willing to work very hard, and if you have it in you to do things better than other people—go ahead It's a great business.

"But, remember, hours are long. The work is hard. The competition is great. Few people have the industry and ambition and energy to do better than the rest of the flock. It's a long pull. You have to learn a lot and think a lot before you can contribute a lot. If you have the will to earn your way ahead of others who have a head-start, all power to you."

IT is one of the most universally present quirks of human nature to advise others to stay out of our fields. The lawyer says, "There are too many lawyers already. It's too hard to earn a living." The merchant says, "Legislation, taxes, and the chains have taken all the joy and profit out of retailing." The automobile dealer says, "The used car problem can't be licked. You sell cars hard all year and your profit is tied up in used cars you have to almost give away." The architect, the engineer, the publisher, the physician—talk with them all. They all give reasons why you should do something else.

The fact of the matter is, there is considerable room at the top in any of these occupations. There is much overcrowding at the bottom, and some halfway up the ladder.

No one has yet discovered substitutes for work, thinking, and experience. Any one who can bring a full quota of these three to any task will surpass the average in that profession or vocation.

The department store field is more crowded every year, but we believe the opportunities for individuals increase in it yearly.

DEMOCRATS IN WISCONSIN SOLD BY OWN LEADER

Party Found Groggy from Roosevelt Blows.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Nobody knows how many Democrats there are in Wisconsin, but anybody can tell that the Democratic party in the state is tottering on its last legs.

If Mr. Roosevelt succeeds in carrying the state on Nov. 3 he will be indebted more to the La Follettes and the concatenated groups of their radical following than to the Wisconsin branch of the Democratic party. In the contest over state offices the actual competition is between the Progressives and the Republicans. The Democrats will run a poor third.

To so low an estate has the Democratic party sunk that its organization in this state is carrying on only a perfunctory campaign. The prospect is that Gov. Landon will receive more votes than Mr. Roosevelt from the ranks of those who have voted the Democratic ticket hitherto year in and year out.

Old Bob Annexed It.

Throughout the ascendancy of the elder La Follette the Democratic party was virtually nonexistent in Wisconsin. Old Bob simply annexed it. But the victory of Roosevelt in 1932 galvanized it into new life. A Democratic senator, F. Ryan Duffy; a Democratic governor, Albert Schmedeman, and other Democratic officials rode into office on the Roosevelt landslide. With a Democrat in the White House and with the patronage presumably accruing to them, the state leaders entertained visions of a miraculous rejuvenation of their party.

But they had not reckoned with Mr. Roosevelt. Between the radical La Follettes and the more conservative Democrats who had come to the top in the 1932 upheaval, Mr. Roosevelt preferred to cast his lot with the former. It soon appeared that the La Follettes had the inside track at the White House and that Senator Duffy and the other Democratic leaders in Wisconsin were out in the cold.

La Follettes Get the Gravy.

Patronage is the life blood of political organizations. The bulk of the jobs and other favors connected with a total expenditure of half a billion dollars of New Deal funds in Wisconsin went to the La Follettes. Particularly and exclusively the perquisites of the La Follettes was the 150 millions expended by the federal government on WPA and other forms of relief in Wisconsin. The La Follettes were able to place their most favored political workers on the federal pay roll, thus financing at public expense a large part of their organization in the manner that the Democrats are financing their organization in other states.

Then in 1934 Mr. Roosevelt gave his party in Wisconsin the coup-de grace. Young Bob La Follette was a candidate for reëlection on the ticket of his newly launched Progressive party. The President, passing through Wisconsin, had young Bob on his train as a guest. He appeared on the rear platform with his arm around the senator and commended him to the favor of the electorate. To this circumstance more than to any other Democratic leaders in this state ascribe the defeat of Gov. Schmedeman for reëlection by Phil La Follette by 13,000 votes and the defeat of John M. Callahan, the Democratic candidate for senator, by Bob La Follette.

Party Now Prostrate.

The party, having been sold out in this manner by the President, is now prostrate. All the enthusiasm flowing from the rejuvenation of 1932 has gone out of it. Its headquarters in the Plankinton arcade is a suite of offices containing a dozen listless persons passing out a few campaign leaflets and otherwise doing a great deal of nothing.

Notorious is the intense resentment of the Democratic leaders at the treatment of the party by Mr. Roosevelt. While outwardly professing to be ardent for the reëlection of the President they denounce him under the breath. During my stay in Milwaukee I have yet to find C. E. Broughton, the Democratic national committeeman, at the party headquarters. James Corcoran, the state chairman, I did find, but he ran away when he found I wanted to get his version of Democratic misfortunes. He broke an engagement he made to meet me at headquarters and when I telephoned his hotel I found he had checked out.

Others Tell the Story.

But I did not need the testimony of Chairman Corcoran to the sore plight of his party. From other higherups in what is left of the party organization I learned the low esteem in which they hold the President as party leader and the effort it takes to pump up any enthusiasm for the New Deal. Forlornly they contemplate the desertion to Landon of virtually the entire conservative wing of the Democratic party and the reversion to the La Follette camp of the more radically inclined, leaving little more than a corporal's guard to keep the party flag flying.

Apparently, however, the party is to be spared the humiliation visited by the President upon it in the adjoining state of Minnesota, which has been compelled to withdraw its candidates for governor and senator in favor of the radical Farmer-Labor candidates in order to bolster up the impaired chances of Mr. Roosevelt to carry that state. This is the first time on record that a major party has surrendered its place on the ballot to another.

Wisconsin Democratic leaders say they have heard of no move to repeat this performance in this state. They did not fail to note, however, that Senator La Follette was a party to the negotiations at St. Paul that left the Democrats merely the tattered tail of the Farmer-Labor kite. The utmost significance is attached to this surrender of the Democrats at the instance of the President to the party designated by communists and Socialists to serve for the time being as the "united" or "popular front."

Groomed for Absorption.

The Farmer-Labor party is being groomed by the radicals to absorb the Democratic party in 1940 and become the head and front of opposition to the conservative Republican party. Senator La Follette, who presided over the first step in that absorption at St. Paul, looms large as a contender for the Farmer-Labor nomination for President in 1940. Another potential aspirant is John L. Lewis, chief of the mine workers, who is solidifying radical elements through labor's Nonpartisan league, which is supporting Mr. Roosevelt for reëlection.

Al Smith, who polled 450,000 votes in Wisconsin in 1928, still has an enormous following that is counted upon to vote for Landon. These Smith followers are chiefly conservative Democrats who would not vote for Roosevelt anyway. In the opinion of many Democratic leaders, however, Smith's declaration for Landon will encourage many Democrats who intended to stay at home election day to come out and vote the Republican ticket after all.

Primary Is Indicator.

Some idea of the number of these anti-Roosevelt Democrats in Wisconsin is afforded by the primary last spring in which John M. Callahan, known to be opposed to the President and all his works, polled 180,000 votes for delegate to the Democratic national convention. Also in the recent September primary William D. Carroll, anti-New Deal candidate for governor, received 60,000 votes. Landon probably will receive the support of a large percentage of the Callahan and Carroll following.

The Democratic candidate for governor, A. E. Lueck, Beaver Dam lawyer, proclaims himself a Roosevelt Democrat who subscribes to the New Deal, but he devotes his public utterances chiefly to flailing the La Follette administration's warfare on business which is merely the New Deal warfare on business on a smaller scale. He pledges himself to take steps, if elected, to bring back to Wisconsin the business enterprise the La Follettes have frightened away.

Wiley the Real Opponent.

The most vigorous attack on the entrenched régime of the La Follettes is being made by Gov. Phil's real opponent, the Republican candidate for governor, Alexander Wiley, an aggressive, hard hitting Chippewa Falls lawyer. The New Dealers and the La Follette followers are radicals but not liberals, Mr. Wiley contends.

"Right now," he said, "the Roosevelt Democrats and the La Follette Progressives under their New Deal concepts, stand for centralized and burocratic power and control. All through history the real liberals trusted the people and were bitterly opposed to centralization of power.

"The trust in the common people is the foundation of our government. So called liberals and progressives distrust the ability of the people and the local government to look after their welfare.

ROOSEVELT PROVES HE'S COMMUNISTIC BY HIS ACTS: COUGHLIN

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 8.—(AP)—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin asserted tonight President Roosevelt was "communistic," but denied ever having called the chief executive "a communist."

The Detroit priest addressed a crowd which packed Pittsburgh's Syria mosque, just after Msgr. John H. Ryan of the Catholic university had taken exceptions to his criticism of the New Deal. He promises a "full answer" in a radio speech scheduled for Saturday night.

Father Coughlin named a group of Roosevelt cabinet members as the incorporators of what he termed "five radical corporations." The charter of one of these, he added, authorized it to "acquire personal property by any means."

"If that's American, if that's sound capitalism, I don't know what I'm talking about," the radio priest said. "I dare say Msgr. Ryan didn't know about that."

After a discussion of his criticism of "modern capitalism" Coughlin returned to Ryan's speech. Ryan, he said, had asserted that "some call Mr. Roosevelt a communist," adding:

"I never have heard any one call Mr. Roosevelt a communist. Certainly I never called him one."

Roosevelt, he said, holds "no card" of membership in the communist party, adding that the question was: "Does he hold doctrins and theories that are held by the communists?"

"My answer is absolutely yes." Christianity, he said, teaches "thou shalt not steal," and for that reason "there is such a thing as private property."

Coughlin Errs, Educator Says.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Taking direct issue with the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, the Rt. Rev. John A. Ryan of the Catholic university tonight advocated the reëlection of President Roosevelt, and said accusations of communism against the New Deal are "ugly, cowardly, and flagrant calumnies."

In a broadcast under the auspices of the Democratic national committee Msgr. Ryan said Father Coughlin's explanation of economic maladies "is at least 50 per cent wrong and his monetary remedies are at least 90 per cent wrong."

"If the latter were enacted into law," he said, "they would prove disastrous to the great majority, particularly to the wage earners."

BUTTER STOLEN FROM TRUCK.

Two cartons containing 100 pounds of butter were stolen yesterday from a truck which Charles Marzejko of Kenosha, Wis., driver for a produce company at 7118 North Clark street, had parked at 2830 Broadway.

allies, who are the chief enemies of peace and the welfare of the American nation and who represent the chief powers working for reaction, Fascism, and war."

Definition of Popular Front.

The Popular Front is the new communist instrument for coöperating in other countries with radical elements which if not yet communistic are thought to be the means by which communism will ultimately succeed. President Azana's government in Spain is such a Popular Front government. Premier Blum's government in France is another. The Fascist attack upon the Azana government was at once a favorable and unfavorable development for the Russians. It drove the Spanish government into the arms of the extremists, which was an advantage if Azana could survive the attack. The peril was that the Fascists might win.

Russia has just given Europe another war scare by warning Italy, Germany, and Portugal that if they do not stop trying to overthrow the Popular Front in Spain by supplying its enemies with munitions, Russia will take steps to protect the Spanish communists and its own interests. This is a desperate move, the consequences of which are in the future.

Blum's government in France has not yet been forced into an extreme position but the communist support of it reveals the hope that its tendencies, under inevitable pressure, must lead it to full coöperation with Moscow.

They Recognize Each Other.

The Farmer-Labor party in Minnesota represents in Russian conception the union of the workers and the peasants. In Europe farmers are peasants. The Russian political committee and the American communist party supports the Minnesota Farmer-Labor party as the beginning of an American Popular Front the country over.

Mr. Roosevelt joins the Russians in this indorsement and the Democratic candidates at his personal wish withdraw. Against such conclusive evidence of seeking the support of elements supported by the communists, the Syracuse repudiation appears as merely an attempt at deception.

Mr. Roosevelt recognized Russia and it is plain that Russia thoroughly recognizes him.

ORDER MORE NEW VOLUNTEER PINS FOR DEMOCRATS

Nearly 10,000 Sent Out on First Day.

The new sunflower buttons inscribed "American Democrat for Landon," which THE VOLUNTEERS began distributing yesterday, met with an immediate and enthusiastic response from Democrats who wish to retain their party identity, but feel that only by voting the Republican ticket can they save their country.

The first allotment of 10,000 buttons was nearly exhausted last evening and VOLUNTEER headquarters ordered 10,000 more. A request for 2,000 of the emblems came from Tulsa, Okla., in a telegram signed by Richard Lloyd Jones, editor of the Tulsa Tribune, head of THE VOLUNTEER organization there.

Movement Gains Strength.

"Congratulations on your new sunflower button," Mr. Jones telegraphed headquarters. "Can you possibly send 2,000 of them? We need them for Democrats who have joined our VOLUNTEER organization here. VOLUNTEER work is growing stronger every day."

The buttons will be sent out of the new allotment. Chicago Democrats may obtain the emblems at the headquarters on the 17th floor of the Tribune Tower, at 338 North Michigan avenue and in the lobby of the Hearst Square building, 326 West Madison street.

One of the latest recruits to THE VOLUNTEERS is Lieut. Col. Edwin M. Hadley, national president of the Paul Reveres, a patriotic society. This organization has been one of the most active in the combating of communism and subversive doctrins.

Schedule Meetings Today.

Three meetings of VOLUNTEER ward units are scheduled for this afternoon, all at 2 o'clock. In the Nineteenth ward Republican headquarters at 9240 Vincennes avenue, Mrs. Al D. Underwood is in charge of the gathering of 150 women. G. W. Luer, assigned by the speakers' division of THE VOLUNTEERS, will make an address.

More than 200 VOLUNTEERS will meet in the Thirty-ninth ward Republican headquarters at 3656 Irving Park boulevard. Miss Ettie Smith is in charge and Miss Jeane Adairr is the speaker. In the Forty-ninth ward G. O. P. headquarters at 1219 Devon avenue, about 200 VOLUNTEERS will assemble. Mrs. Harry Hoff will preside and Robert M. Hoffman is assigned as the speaker.

Glencoe Rally Today.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon 40 members of the women's division of the Glencoe VOLUNTEERS will meet at 195 Fairview avenue in the suburb. Mrs. F. M. Anderson will speak. At Batavia 300 VOLUNTEERS will gather at 8:30 o'clock this evening. Maurice Washer, Chicago attorney, will be the speaker.

A VOLUNTEER luncheon was held yesterday in the ball room of the Stockyard inn. More than 200 women, employés in the district and wives, mothers and daughters of men employés, attended. They are members of the Stockyard Landon-Knox club, which, according to Everett C. Brown, general chairman of the club, and John Bowles, vice chairman, has an enrollment of 3,500.

"I recall," Mr. Lippincott said, "that one packing company several years ago said it utilized everything of the pig except the squeal. The present administration has shown us the reverse. It has destroyed everything of the pig except the squeal."

A quiet spoken but determined campaigner, who enrolled yesterday in THE VOLUNTEERS, is Mrs. Emma H. Washington, 6538 Evans avenue, colored, who was maid on the New York Central's Twentieth Century Limited since its first trip 33 years ago until last week when she retired with honors from the Pullman company. Her total services with the company was 36 years and 6 months.

FOREMAN IN WPA AIDS VOLUNTEER DRIVE; DEMOTED

Charges Pay Cut After He Enrolled Group.

Anthony Borgis, 744 South Halsted street, charged yesterday that he was demoted from foreman to laborer in the federal Works Progress administration because he enrolled in THE VOLUNTEERS the members of his All-American league, which has as its purpose the increasing of loyalty to the United States government.

Borgis, a former section foreman for several railroads, had held a foreman's job on WPA for the last year. His wage was $94 a month, on which he supported his wife and son, 16 years old. A few days ago he received notice that he was being demoted to a $55-a-month laborer's job on a project in Washington park, effective today.

Chairman of the League.

"I was demoted because I got members of the All-American league to join THE VOLUNTEERS," said Borgis. He is chairman and secretary of the league, which has headquarters at 839 Polk street.

"On Sept. 18," Borgis went on, "I turned in the pledge cards signed by fifty-five members of the league to THE VOLUNTEERS' branch booth in Hearst Square building.

"There is no doubt in my mind that I was demoted because the WPA officials downtown saw a notice of this in a newspaper."

Asked whether he had not been rash in publicly displaying his distaste for the New Deal, Borgis asserted that he had believed the repeated statements of WPA officials that politics had no part in WPA operations.

Miner Denies Charge.

C. E. Miner, deputy state WPA administrator, denied that Borgis was punished for his political preference. Miner declared that WPA employés have the right to exercise all of their constitutional liberties.

"The order for Borgis' demotion came from our personnel office, following a routine survey of his experience background," Miner said. "Until we have Borgis' permission, however, we will not make public any information from our files."

The All-American league is comprised in part of WPA workers and relief clients, and attempts to aid them with their complaints. Borgis said the organization does not accept any radicals in its membership.

Perry Goes to High Court in Fight to Get on Ballot

Joseph S. Perry of Glen Ellyn, chairman of the Du Page county Democratic central committee, yesterday carried to the Illinois Supreme court his fight to have his name placed on the ballot in the Forty-first senatorial district—Will and Du Page counties—as a candidate for the Illinois house of representatives. Perry seeks to have expunged an order entered by Judge Edwin L. Wilson of the Will county Circuit court in Joliet that would keep his name off the ballot.

RECORD COUNTY REGISTRATION IS 2,142,209

Country Towns' Total Is 334,419.

Cook county has 2,142,209 voters registered for the Nov. 3 general election, more than at any time in the history of the county.

This record breaking figure was compiled last night upon announcement by County Clerk Flynn that 102,893 persons registered in the 30 country townships in Cook county under his jurisdiction last Tuesday. On Sept. 26, the first registration day in that area, 135,746 names were placed on the poll books. The total for the two days is 238,639.

Alexander J. McKay, chairman of the Chicago election board, announced earlier in the day that 33,215 permanent registrations were obtained on Tuesday in the nine suburbs which the board supervises. On Sept. 19 the names of 62,565 men and women went on the books in these suburbs. The total for the two days is 95,780.

Chicago Total 1,807,790.

The total country towns' registration in Cook county is therefore 334,419. Chicago's permanent registrations—taken at the city hall and on the two precinct registration days, Sept. 19 and last Tuesday—total 1,807,790.

The following table shows the permanent registrations in the nine suburbs supervised by the election board on Sept. 19 and Oct. 6, as well as the number from each village who registered in the board's offices at the city hall between Aug. 4 and Oct. 6:

Returning the compliment tendered by Edward F. Moore, Republican county chairman, who gave THE VOLUNTEERS great credit for aiding in bringing out the record registration in Chicago, Chauncey McCormick, national chairman of the patriotic organization, said yesterday that the largest registrations were in wards where Republican ward committeemen had been coöperating wholeheartedly with THE VOLUNTEERS.

TUGWELL WANTS RA TO BE MADE REGULAR AGENCY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Saying governmental assistance would be necessary "normally" for about one million farm families of low income, Rexford G. Tugwell expressed hope today that his resettlement administration would become a regular part of the agriculture department.

Tugwell is undersecretary of agriculture as well as chief of the resettlement agency, which was set up by President Roosevelt to act until next June 30 and which so far has spent a total estimated by its officials at 174 million dollars.

In an interview, Tugwell said he had not asked "permanent status" for the resettlement administration because he thought it functioned best as a flexible emergency agency.

DETROIT VOLUNTEERS USING LIVE PORKER TO SHOW PRICE RISE

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—A live pig carrying a sign on its back reading "they killed my brothers and sisters; that's why I'm so dear" was the new feature of THE VOLUNTEERS here today.

The animal is being used to show all who come into the headquarters that the New Deal has, among other things, raised the price of pork by its policies of slaughtering young pigs during its crop and livestock reduction plans under the AAA.

THE VOLUNTEERS are driving on toward their goal of 2,000 Landon-Knox headquarters in Detroit's residential districts and reported today that 640 have been established so far.

The campaign is progressing well in districts near Detroit, officials reported. Mrs. Frederick McKay of Mount Clemens came to the headquarters today and secured literature and badges to be used in establishing a Landon-Knox office in every ward of that city.

DOCTOR-LAYMAN DISPUTE REVIVED IN CORONER RACE

Dr. Brust Is Republican Opponent of Walsh.

[The sixth of a series dealing with local offices to be filled in the election of Nov. 3.]

The familiar argument that a scientifically trained man should be selected for a job in which medicine and surgery play an essential part is heard again this year in the campaign for the office of coroner of Cook county.

In many states the office of coroner has been abolished. The principal function of the coroner—"to determine the cause of death"—is performed in those states by a medical examiner, usually an attaché of the police department, and the investigation of suspected crime is left entirely in the hands of the police without interference from another office.

The abolition of the office of coroner of Cook county frequently has been urged as a means of shortening the ballot and eliminating duplicate investigations of crime.

G. O. P. Names Dr. Brust.

The topic of layman vs. medical man is alive this fall because the Democratic incumbent, Frank J. Walsh, a party wheelhorse for more than a quarter of a century, is opposed by a Republican nominee who is a physician, Dr. Edmund J. Brust, who apparently has the backing of the medical fraternity.

But discussion of the subject is especially lively because of the record of the office immediately before Walsh entered it. His predecessor was Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, now president of the city board of health. It was the argument that a medical man should be chosen for coroner that gave Bundesen a record breaking total of more than a million votes in 1930.

Yields to Organization.

When Bundesen wanted to return to the city health service, a step that required him to resign the coronership, he insisted that the county board appoint a medical man as his successor. For months he kept the city place waiting for him, finally surrendering to pressure from the organization, which had decided on Walsh.

On Nov. 17, 1931, the county board elected Walsh as coroner with informal announcements that he had agreed to retain the scientific methods installed by Bundesen, a pledge demanded by the physician before he moved from the county building to the city hall. Walsh did retain the ballistics experts and other specialists, and even after his election by the voters for a new four year term in 1932 he made few changes in the organization of the office.

But there was one change he did make that recently attracted attention. Bundesen, through the employment of independent shorthand reporters, had cut the cost of inquest reports to 45 cents a page. As soon as Walsh took charge he gave this work to Edward J. Walton and before long the price was 55 cents a page, the uniform rate of the court reporters' association.

Two weeks ago Walton admitted he had paid "commissions" of $15,458 on reporting business in the county building, a fact disclosed because he failed to include that sum in his income tax schedule. At the same time Walsh admitted he had been called to the federal building and asked about $6,000 Walton was supposed to have paid him.

Denies Getting Anything.

"Walton never gave me a nickel and I told them so at the federal building," said Walsh, who also suggested that the Walton payments might have been contributions to Democratic campaign funds.

Following as it did, the Sweitzer and Zintak scandals, this disclosure caused a brief flurry. Clayton F. Smith, Democratic president of the county board, thought Democratic State's Attorney Courtney ought to investigate. Mr. Courtney thought Mr. Smith's board ought to investigate. Since then there have been no reports of any investigation.

During Walsh's five years in the coroner's office there have been other flurries. There was one in 1933 when an inquest jury stopped outside its jurisdiction and returned a verdict of "justifiable homicide" in a labor killing, an incident that disclosed that Walsh had been using "portable" juries instead of obtaining them from among "men of the same neighborhood" as the law provides.

Walsh's experience in public life before he became coroner consisted of eight years as clerk of the Criminal court and four years as federal collector of customs. His political importance lies in the fact that he has been ward committeeman of the Seventeenth ward since 1910.

Brust Asks Safety Laws.

His opponent, Dr. Brust, has pledged himself to "work unceasingly for public safety measures," the enactment of accident prevention and similar laws by the city council and the general assembly, and the passage of statutes to reduce crimes of violence. He contends that the coroner is in an unusual position to back up demands for such reforms.

Dr. Brust is senior surgeon of the Westlake hospital, Melrose Park, and is on the staf of the West Suburban hospital, Oak Park. He has served two terms as president of the village of Melrose Park. He is a graduate of Loyola university medical school and has practiced surgery since 1916.

He served in the medical service of the United States army from October, 1917, to March, 1919, and was honorably discharged as assistant division surgeon of the 14th division. He now holds a commission as lieutenant colonel in the medical corps.

COLONEL ROOSEVELT CHARGES PRESIDENT DECEIVING VOTERS

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Col. Theodore Roosevelt today charged President Franklin Roosevelt with deceiving the American electorate. Speaking at a Republican veterans league luncheon here he said:

"The New Deal has metaphorically broken into the children's savings banks and taken their pennies. If President Roosevelt had wished to be honest with the people he would have said to them 'you are going to pay every dollar that I squander.' Every dollar that the government borrows it takes from your savings and from the value of your farms."

NEW DEAL FAILS, SO OUST IT NOW, SAYS MOREHEAD

The Democratic party "has had its chance and failed—the only results of the administration have been negative," John M. Morehead of New York, internationally known engineer, and minister to Sweden under President Hoover, declared here yesterday. He spoke at a round table luncheon in the Union League club.

The New Deal can be beaten and must be beaten at the polls on Nov. 3, Mr. Morehead asserted.

"It's a big order," he said. "Don't overlook that. The New Dealers have the machinery, the power, a huge amount of government money, and they know every trick of the trade. They are working as never before, but they haven't got this election in the bag.

"By hard work, application, and determination we can swing it. The time is three weeks and four days from today, the place is every polling booth in America, the way is the straight Republican ticket."

The Roosevelt administration has been weighed in the balance and found wanting, Mr. Morehead declared. He particularly assailed the New Dealers' efforts to curtail the powers of the United States Supreme court, the foreign trade policy and the "rubber stamp" congress.

COL. ROOSEVELT SAYS TAXES, NOT WAR, PERIL YOUTH

A proposal that American youth organize as "Victims of Future Taxes" was advanced yesterday by Col. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. He visited national Republican headquarters en route from the northwest, where he has been speaking, to South Bend and Fort Wayne, Ind., where he talked later in the day.

"It amused me last year," said Mr. Roosevelt, "when I noted in many places that young people were organizing into groups and calling themselves the Veterans of Future Wars. That is not the danger which faces youth today. It would be far more to the point if they organized into groups and called themselves 'The Victims of Future Taxes.'"

GREEN HOPEFUL THAT LABOR ROW WILL END SOON

'Peaceful Gestures' Are Made, He Says.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Hopes for peaceful settlement of labor's civil strife between craft and industrial unionists were expressed by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, as his executive council convened to prepare the work of the national convention at Tampa in November.

Green would not disclose the basis for his hopes, although he declared that "peaceful gestures" were coming from many quarters. He would not comment on his arch enemy, John L. Lewis, chief of the mine workers and ringleader of the Committee for Industrial Organization, which defied the A. F. of L. with its attempt to organize steel workers along industrial or mass lines instead of by crafts. Ten rebel C. I. O. unions are under suspension and the A. F. of L. convention may vote to revoke their charters.

The status of two groups which have a semi-affiliation with the C. I. O. was not discussed in any way at today's session, Green said, and may not be talked over until next week. These are the International Typographical union, the president of which, Charles P. Howard, has lent his personal support to Lewis, and the cap and millinery department of the United Hatters, Cap, and Millinery workers.

Accept Dubinsky Resignation.

The only action the council took that touched on the C. I. O. controversy was the acceptance of the resignation of David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies' Garment workers, as a member of the council. Dubinsky resigned because he and his organization had thrown in their lot with the C. I. O.

Green disclosed that plans were on foot for a re-affiliation of the A. F. of L. with the International Federation of Trade Unions with headquarters at Paris. The American Federation had quit the body in 1921 because by majority rule the decisions of European groups would be imposed on this country. Since then each country has been given autonomy.

Gets European Report.

The council spent most of the afternoon conferring with Sir Walter M. Citrine of London, president of the International Federation, and W. Schevenels of Brussels, general secretary.

"At the last convention of the A. F. of L. I was empowered to negotiate for the re-affiliation," said Green. "Now the trades unions of various countries plan to deal through the rule of common understanding on such subjects as war and peace, armaments, democratic control and democratic procedure."

EXECUTIONER IN BLACK LEGION IS GIVEN LIFE TERM

Judge Sorry That's All Law Allows.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Dayton Dean, who confessed that he took the law into his own hands and, with a group of twelve other Black Legion members, killed Charles A. Poole last May, was sentenced today to life in Southern Michigan prison.

"It is unfortunate this state does not impose a more severe penalty," said Circuit Court Judge Joseph A. Moynihan in imposing sentence. He said he will sentence seven more Poole killers Friday afternoon. Four others will appear before him Saturday for sentence on second degree murder charges.

Dean, standing before the high bench in a well filled courtroom, was as calm and stoical as he has been throughout the several trials at which he was principal witness. Before the judge passed sentence he asked Dean if he had anything to say.

He's Glad It's Over.

"I'm just glad it's all over with, that's all," he said. "I hope no one else gets in the same trouble. I hope the organization has been broken up."

"Is that why you coöperated with the police?" the judge said.

"Yes, sir," Dean replied, "that's the only reason. I just wanted to see that nobody else gets into the same thing. I'd like to see it broken up for the sake of the people."

Judge Moynihan said: "It is unbelievable that a man like you, reared here in our schools, could come to such a state that, without a show of emotion, you could kill a fellow man. It is a sad commentary on our civilization.

Martyr to Liberty.

"You told the press recently that Poole was a martyr. You never spoke a truer word. Charles A. Poole was a martyr to the cause of civil rights, an innocent sacrifice to the cause of religious freedom and liberty.

"Because a band of men like you took the law into your own hands, it is unfortunate that this state does not impose a more severe penalty. It is fortunate for you that your crime was not committed about 100 miles in either direction from where it was. Then you would pay with your life."

ROOSEVELT JUNKED DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM FOR SOCIALIST, AL SMITH SAYS

MOST PROMISES REPUDIATED, IS WARRIOR'S CLAIM

New Deal Acts Opposite to Pledges.

Supreme court, demonstrated both the New Deal's inability to distinguish between constitutional and unconstitutional means of accomplishing its ends, and violated the most fundamental principle of the Democratic party, that of state's rights.

2. After denouncing the speculations of the Hoover farm board, the Roosevelt administration embarked on an enormous speculation of its own, the purchase of 4 million bales of cotton at 2 cents a pound above the market price.

3. The planned scarcity of the New Deal has for the first time in history exposed the American farmer to the competition of foreign agriculture.

4. The same program, particularly the slaughter of the 6 million little pigs, has greatly increased the cost of living.

Party Did the Walking.

Closing, Mr. Smith assured Democrats who feel as he does about the New Deal and its broken promises that "they need not have any fear of being accused of walking out on the party; far from it."

"The party has walked away from them," he said. "It has left them high and dry, and the meanest thing that can happen to the rank and file of the party is to be put in a position where it has to defend or apologize for what a party was in honor bound to do."

ARDENT NEW DEALERS ON ROOSEVELT SPECIAL BOO AL SMITH TALK

Aboard President's Special, Oct. 8.—[Special.]—For one hour tonight, President Roosevelt aboard his special train was a forgotten man. Without exception, members of his party clustered around radios to listen to the latest blast of Al Smith against the New Deal.

Radio reception was poor and only phrases of Smith's speech drifted through to the listeners. But as the 1928 leader of the Democratic party crackled his pungent phrases, the ardent New Dealers on the train booed loudly.

There were two radio parties on the President's special, one very exclusive, was held in the private car at the end of the long special. It consisted of the President, his wife, and a few close friends.

But in the club car some seventy-five persons gathered to listen to Al's latest shots at the Roosevelt administration. When the speech was concluded, there ensued some furious arguments about the vote getting strength of the Smith speeches.

TEXT OF SPEECH

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—The full text of Alfred E. Smith's address follows:

"Mr. Chairman and my friends of Philadelphia: Before I begin the subject of this night's discourse I want to express a friendly word and in as friendly manner as exchanged between a resident of the state of New York and the commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

"The primary functions of government are the preservation of life and of property and there is something going on in the state of Pennsylvania that should not, and I am certain cannot, have the approval of the people of this state. I refer to what you may have read in the papers about the delivery over the border lines of this state of so-called bootleg coal.

"Not Orderly Government."

"You all know that for a while nobody found fault with the man that desired to take it from the mine, that coal which was needed for the use of himself and his family. Even the owners of the coal said nothing about that. But when that operator organizes and puts forth a manifesto and that coal was put into the mountains by God and they were going to take it and sell it anyway, that is not orderly government.

"Now, several of them have been indicted in the county of New York and in that indictment there is contained the extraordinary language that the law enforcing authorities of Pennsylvania have paid no attention to the larceny of this coal.

"Now, in all friendship I submit to you, my friends of Pennsylvania, that when that happens in a government, you haven't got a government of law and order; you have anarchy; and let me say this: if the same thing happened in the state of New York under the constitution of that state there would be grounds for the impeachment of the governor.

Sift "Bunk from Facts."

"On the 3d of next month the American people are going to make the most important decision that they have been called upon to make, certainly in the last fifty years, and I am going to ask you, my fellow citizens that are listening on the radio, to do every human thing you can in the next three weeks to separate political bunk from facts.

"Now, I find in my travels two classes of Democrats; I find the man that goes along quietly with a situation within his party that causes him dissatisfaction, but he decides to keep his mouth shut. In all probability he will vote against the New Deal, but he don't care to talk about it, and then I find another class that think that this campaign is of so much moment to the people of this country aside entirely from party affiliation that they believe the best thing to do is to come out in the open.

"I could have followed the first course without any trouble. In fact, the first course would have been the line of least resistance, but the second course seemed to me the more honorable of the two and I decided to follow it.

Precedent for "Walk."

"Since I made my mind up to take this now famous walk, there has been a great deal said about it and it is surprising the number who seem to think that a man who is nominated once, should ride thereafter and that walking is not within his sphere.

"Well, I think I have a distinguished precedent for my attitude. It happened just forty years ago, because here I mean a distinguished Democratic President, a candidate, not an aspirant for the office, but the occupant of it, decided to take a walk when Mr. Bryan was nominated.

"The only difference in our cases as I see it is that there is a little more on my side, for this reason, Grover Cleveland forty years ago knew exactly what Bryan wanted to do to this country, because Bryan put it in the platform!

"Bryan didn't attempt to fool anybody. He didn't seek the presidency of the United States on any false pretenses, he put it down in black and white! But I find myself, while prepared for the walk, to be in a position of a man who was promised a Democratic platform and had dished up to him in large chunks, big bunches of the Socialist platform.

Too Many to Answer.

"This gives me an opportunity to say on the radio a word of thanks to the thousands of people that wrote those letters to me after my Carnegie hall speech. Obviously those letters cannot be answered. I haven't got an office force to answer them. I have the inclination and desire, I have in my heart only charity for the small minority that found fault with me and I can tell from reading their letters that they are entirely lacking in the slightest understanding of what confronts the country today. They seem to be able to think only in terms of partisanship, but not in terms of patriotism.

"During the rest of the campaign I propose as far as it is humanly possible to do it, to develop my reasons for the walk, and I am going to start tonight in Philadelphia and go as far as I can on the radio time alloted to give the first reason and that is the complete, almost complete, abandonment of the Democratic platform by the so-called Democratic and New Deal administration, and let me start off by saying what everybody believes and what I heard from countless thousands of Republicans the Democratic platform of 1932 adopted in Chicago was the best platform ever adopted by either party during the lifetime of any living party. And here we have at the end of three and a half years a record that indicates that every single plank with the exception of two have been repudiated.

Faces Court Test.

"Probably the legislation regulating the stock exchange may work out all right; I hope so. We were all for it; the Democratic party declared itself. It has yet to pass the test of the Supreme court and if it is not hastily drawn and shabbily put together and quickly tossed out as most of the brain trust legislation was, it may get by.

"The other is the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. I had something to do with that, and I desire to get full credit for carrying it out, although if the captains in charge of the New Deal party at Chicago got the kind of a plank they wanted you would have nothing. Well, in the past, in my experience I have known platforms to be vague and it is easy to understand how that can happen when you have to reconcile a divergence of views.

"You come to the compromise and the final product is not as clear as it might be. And then again I have known occasions of one or two or three planks of a platform that may be overlooked, may be compromised with, but never as far back as I can remember or as far back as I am able to read history did I ever see so complete a refutation of a platform in letter, in spirit, in principle and in detail.

"Why, the people that voted this administration into power on the assumption that they stood for a certain set of principles—they found out afterwards that they had been entirely misled and they put at the head of the government a group of men based upon a program that amazed, mortified and angered millions of citizens throughout the United States, citizens of both political parties who trusted in the honesty of the platform and in the honesty of the men that were elected upon it.

VOTE OF HOOVER

"I will speak for myself; if I thought that I was going to get the platform of Norman Thomas rather than the platform of the Democratic party I will tell you what I would have done: I would have done something for Hoover that he didn't do for me. I would have voted for him.

"Now, let's discuss for a minute, among ourselves here, just what the party platform is. No better place to find the definition than in that very document itself, the Chicago platform. It says here, speaking for the Democratic party, 'We believe that a party platform is a covenant with the people to be faithfully kept by the party when intrusted with power, and the people are entitled to know, in plain words, the terms of the contract to which they are asked to subscribe.' Fine language; it sounds big. It is a matter of regret to me and to millions of Democrats all over the country that the principle therein enunciated was forgotten after the 4th of March, 1933.

What "My Party Has Done."

"Now a platform is written affirmatively as well as negatively. By that I mean to say that the affirmative side of a platform is a definite promise of constructive action by the party entrusted with power. The negative side is the condemnation of the policy of the party in power, and the third element of that platform is the declaration of a fundamental principle.

"Now, when a man gives you his word, if he is a man, he keeps that word, and if any unfortunate circumstances arise that prevent him from making it good, he explains it, but no man worthy of the name ever does the directly opposite thing to that which he promises, and it is very sad for me—sad indeed for me, as a Democrat—to have to say that that is exactly what my party did when it was taken over by the New Deal.

"It isn't easy for me to find fault with the Democratic party. I worked for it as no man in the state of New York before me, for one-third of a century, and it is only under this severe provocation that I have to talk against it, but I am not responsible for the sins of omission and the sins of commission on the part of the leaders of my party when they betray the trust of the people in the refutation not only of the party platform, negatively and affirmatively, but to be fair to the fundamental principle upon which the party was constructed.

Admit Platform Lost.

"Well, I have met some Democrats, of course, you know. After I leave one of these meetings and go back to New York, don't make the mistake of thinking that I will go to the Republican headquarters. I have got no use for it. I go among Democrats, and I meet all kinds. I meet the kind that admit frankly, admit, yes, the platform was tossed overboard, but what's the use? We might as well go along with the party anyway. Well, if there is anything in that theory, then we better do away with platforms.

"Why have any political discussions or give the people of the country a chance to make their choice on a basis of merit? Ask them to take the candidates of either party on faith.

"I want to call your attention to a great danger; I call it a danger to our democratic form of government, and that danger, I believe, lies in the possibility that a majority of the people may put the stamp of approval upon a political party that abandons its platform and goes back on its promises.

"Of course, there is another group that never read the platform, and they don't know anything about it, and they overlook, have no knowledge of the fact, that the party to which they owe allegiance is deceiving the voters of the country.

"Roosevelt" Not "Democratic."

"The chairman of the Democratic national committee was talking before a forum in the New York Herald a couple of days ago, and here is what he said: 'No one is more aware than I that the Roosevelt administration'—and I want to call your attention at that point—not the Democratic administration—'the Roosevelt administration is charged by its adversaries with having totally disregarded the historical document of 1932, but I say without the slightest hesitation that the high mark in all our political history of party fidelity to a charted course was reached by the manner in which the Roosevelt administration redeemed the promises of 1932.'

LANDON MARKET BAG BRIGADE IS LAUNCHED; HITS HIGH FOOD COSTS

The Landon market bag brigade, organized to show American housewives how the New Deal has affected their larders, was launched yesterday by Mrs. Grace B. Reynolds, director of western women's activity for the Republican national committee.

The campaign, in which more than 400,000 women will take part, is to start in 2,300 counties in 29 central west and western states this week. Each worker will be armed with a paper market bag, filled with samples of food, statistics and—most important of all—a table of food prices prepared by the United States department of labor showing costs of food in March, 1933, and in June, 1936.

"One glance at food prices today, as compared to the first month of the New Deal administration, is sufficient to set housewives to thinking about the future welfare of their family," Mrs. Reynolds said. "The cost of certain foods used on the daily dinner table has increased from 18 to 98 per cent in three and one-half years."

"Why, there is not a thinking man or woman in the country who does not know that that platform was thrown out the window. I have got a couple of grandchildren old enough to know that.

"Now, let us take one or two of the planks. It looks, as I glance at the watch, that about two will be all that I will be able to handle in the time allotted on the radio, but there are other evenings and we will get to the rest of them. But I am going to pick out what, to my mind, is probably the most important plank and it is going to seem strange when you figure that I come from the sidewalks of New York. I am prepared to say that the most important plank in the platform is the plank dealing with agriculture.

Affects Lives of All.

"Why? Because agriculture affects the lives of everybody, whether they live on a farm, a village or in a great city. You remember the famous expression of William Jennings Bryan: 'Burn down the farm and grass will grow on the principal streets of your great cities.' That is true. That is right. All are concerned with the lot of the farmer, for the reason that everybody in the United States must be fed and clothed from the land. Aside from it being our basic industry, it affects the home, and no group in the country is more interested in agriculture than the housewife.

"Now, we will deal with them. The plank on agriculture was divided into three parts. No. 1, progress, the enactment of every constitutional measure that will aid the farmer to receive for the basic farm commodities prices in excess of cost. That means that within the four walls of the constitution of the United States the administration by law proposed to bring to the farmer that price for his product that would give him a profit above cost of production, and it sounded good. Great speeches made about it.

"The farmer was led up on the mountain and they showed him the city and said: 'Here it is, it all belongs to you; you are the count of Monte Cristo. You are sitting pretty on top of the earth.' And instead of sitting around the table with men who knew something about it, the brain trust drew up a bill to make that part of the platform effective known all over the country today as the AAA.

Thrown Out the Window.

"What happened? They threw it out the window. Listen to what the United States Supreme court said about this bill to help the farmer: 'The act invades the reserved rights of the state. It is a statutory plan to regulate and control agricultural production, a matter beyond the powers delegated to the federal government. The tax, the appropriation of the funds raised, and the direction of their disbursements are parts of the plan. They are but means to an unconstitutional end.'

"There is a double indictment handed down by the United States Supreme court against the Democratic party.

"Indictment No. 1, a failure to thoroughly understand the difference between a constitutional measure which they promised and the unconstitutional one which they passed, but a greater count in the indictment is contained in the first few words, the violation of state rights.

"Now, I appeal to every Democrat within the range of my voice to think for a moment, and what Democratic principle enunciated by Jefferson and taught to Democrats from the time they were old enough to understand anything, what principle, what definite principle, was more cardinal than the principle of state rights?

PRINCIPLES TRAMPLED

"Coupled with that the constitutional limitations on the powers of the congress and here we have a so-called Democratic administration violating that platform—not only the platform, but trampling under foot that cardinal principle of democracy that we were all taught in our early days to respect and to revere.

"Well, I don't have to tell you that when you build a house of cards and you pull the bottom card out you know what happens to all the rest. Now, the AAA was bad enough as a colossal flop, but what about the effect that it had with respect to other problems that were facing the country for solution, and still are present today, the problem of unemployment.

"Just as soon as all of these acres were taken out of production, what happened? Farm hands were laid off faster than the industries in the eastern part of the country could possibly absorb the unemployed. Lists were being added to in the country section as the result of the folly, the complete folly of the AAA. I tell you, you can talk as you like, Jefferson was right, Jefferson knew all about it. I don't suppose there will ever be again in the history of this country a single individual who will be able to give the thought and study to the form of government under which we are living than that which Jefferson gave.

"Listen to what he said in 1803 and see how it applies today. It is really a prophecy. Here is what he said: 'If we are directed by Washington when to sow and when to reap we will soon want bread.'

Potato Control Repealed.

"Well, we have the AAA now, the Bankhead control bill, predicated exactly on the same theory as the AAA, and then comes the potato control bill. Not only was the farmer restricted in the planting of potatoes, but we all had something to do with that, even the people that bought them. Well, what happened to them? They were withdrawn, repealed, upon recommendation of the President, because after what happened to the AAA, it was inevitable that they were going to go in the same direction, but they are all a part of that platform promise.

"Now, let us go back to that platform for a minute. It further says: 'We condemn the extravagance of the farm board, its disastrous action, which made the government a speculator in farm products.' O Boy!

"Wait until I read to you what James Warburg said about that. He said: 'Did anybody thank Roosevelt after condemning, and I think justly, the actions of the Hoover farm board?'

Owned 4 Billion Bales.

"Whoever thought for a minute that he would turn around and make Uncle Sam the biggest and stupidest speculator in agricultural products? Why, on the first of last February the people of the United States, because of the refutation of that part of the platform, were the happy owners of four billion bales of cotton; that is what we owned.

"After interest and carrying charges were added to it it stood our old friend Uncle Sam 13½ cents a pound at a time when you could buy all the cotton that you could want in ten different cotton markets in the south for 11½ cents.

"Is it any reason that Jimmie Warburg said that Uncle Sam is the stupidest speculator in the world?

"Now we come back to the platform again, wherein the platform condemns the unsound policy of restricting agricultural products to the demands of domestic markets. I will explain what that means.

"That means that the Hoover administration, through the farm board, attempted to restrict the products of the farmers of this country to our own market, making no allowance for the possibility of our farmers to sell abroad. We condemned him and we wanted the markets of the world opened up to the American farmer. What happened when the AAA got all finished? The farmer didn't grow enough for the American market, without saying anything about a foreign market.

"The President understood this, and during this campaign, speaking in Topeka, here is what he said: 'When the futility of maintaininy prices of wheat and cotton through so called stabilization became apparent, the President's farm board'—he means the Hoover farm board, of which his secretary of agriculture was head—'invented the cruel joke of advising farmers to allow 20 per cent of their wheat land to lie idle; and to plow up every third row of cotton, and shoot every tenth dairy cow.'

Pigs for Cows.

"Now, the President in the campaign referred to that as a cruel joke and found fault with the secretary of agriculture for just only suggesting it. Why, that is just exactly what the AAA did. The only difference is that they substituted pigs for cows. Outside of that that is the New Deal program; six billion two hundred million of them, worth thirty million dollars.

"Now, what happened when the AAA got in its fine work? Not only was the American farmer shut off from the markets of the world outside of this country, but his crops were so curtailed that the figures of imports of foodstuffs coming into every port of entry into the United States are fantastic.

"The products of other countries imported into the United States, to be brought into competition with that grown by our farmers. Let me give you one or two of the basic commodities in 1932 for consumption by our people; not for processing and return, but for consumption. There was only 3,000 bushels of wheat imported into this country.

27 MILLIONS IN 1935

"In 1935 there was 27,439,000 bushels of wheat imported into the United States, wheat that should have been bought from our farmers. That is what happened; that is the direct result of a great party forgetting all about its platform promises and following some crackpot theory.

"Just let me read a little small paragraph here and tell you who wrote it:

"'If we buy steel rails from foreigners they have the money and we have the rails. But if we buy steel rails here we have both the money and the rails.'

"That was written by Abraham Lincoln, and, when you place that theory alongside of the philosophy of the New Deal, Abraham Lincoln was an infinitely better Democrat than the men that are leading the New Deal administration.

A Republican Remark.

Here is a remark that was made in the state of New York within the last three days:

"'I am in favor of creating instead of destroying the market for American farm produce.'

"That was said by the Republican candidate for governor of the state of New York. Ain't it a nice thing to live in the state of New York and be a Democrat and have the Republican candidate for the governorship publicly enunciate the theory of your party, delivering himself to something that your party should have done if it lived up to its promise, if it paid any attention to its platform?

"Oh, it is a nice thing, pleasant to be a Democrat under such circumstances. For years and years I was ready, at the drop of the hat, to hop all over a Republican that said anything. I can't do it this year. And I will tell you why. When you hop on a fellow you have got to be right yourself.

Living Cost Driven Up.

"Well, now, there is somebody else that is concerned with this agricultural question, and that is the housewife. The natural ordinary effect of all of this was to drive up the cost of living.

"There was no escape from that. There was not possible way that you could figure any other set of circumstances following this destruction of property, creating an artificial scarcity. No other thing could be expected except a rise in the cost of living.

"The college professors and the brain trusters are endeavoring to circumvent the immutable laws of nature and law of supply and demand. They haven't woke up yet to find out that you can't do that. When there is a lot of anything, it is cheap, when there ain't a lot of it, it is dear.

Hunt Up a Book.

"As good, plain, homely, every day economy, in simple language, but that is what the brain trusters don't seem to understand. They go into the library for a treatise on economics. Let us take a look at the useless, and they are United States department of commerce figures, and these figures are all official: In March of 1933, the housewife could buy a pound of round steak for 24 cents, in July of this year it cost 34. In March of 1933, pork chops were 19 cents a pound, in July of this year they were 34. A fellow must be adding the local tax.

"Now if you go through the list here, there is a significant fact that stands out so that you can't escape it, and that is that the greatest rise in all the items of foodstuff occurred in the production of pork, and we come right back to the six million little pigs.

Recalls Economy Plank.

"Now, so much for that. Now there is another plank in the platform that I regard as of very, very great importance and that is the plank that had to do with the consolidation of scattered activities of the bureaus, and the abolition of useless agencies of the government. The reason why I think it is important is that it relates directly to the question of taxation, because, although you may not believe it, and it is difficult to explain to the ordinary man, we are all paying for that.

"We don't see ourselves paying, but we are paying, and the President, himself, in the city of Pittsburgh, in 1932, said the best thing about it that I ever heard come from the lips of anybody. He understood it perfectly, and here is what he said:

"'Taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors, because they are a burden on production and can be paid only by production, and if excessive they are reflected in idle factories, tax sold farms, and hence in hordes of the hungry, trampling the streets seeking jobs in vain.'

All Pay in End.

"Well, of course, hundreds may never see the tax bill, but they pay it in deduction in wages, in increased cost of what they buy as now in the broad cessation of employment. That statement in itself carries to the ordinary mind the absolute conviction that a reduction in the unnecessary and useless bureaus that cost so much money is in the line of progress.

"Well, it isn't new. It started back in the days of Harding. I remember Will Hays one night before the Fifth Avenue association making a long speech of what they were going to do down in Washington to consolidate the bureaus and get rid of them. He said one man went down there to sell the government road dressing and he had to call at several different places. There were several different agencies that had to do with roads. Even the conservation of wild life was all scattered. The Alaska brown bears were in the interior, the department of the interior.

"Well, about two weeks ago, in a New York newspaper there was a great big heading: 'President Roosevelt studying the consolidation of departments, will have a report ready for the legislature.' Well, now, that of course is the bunk, but here is the fact, the President has had the power to consolidate and abolish all of these agencies, outside of the ten cabinet positions ever since April, 1933.

"I am afraid that looking at my watch the time will not permit me to go further into the plank tonight. I have to take it up at later meetings during the campaign in an effort to show to the Democrats, and particularly to the Democrats, just exactly what the New Deal party did with the promises they made in 1932 representing our party, to assure them as far as I am able to do it, that they need not have any fear of being accused of walking out of the party; far from it.

Its Party That Walked.

"The party has walked away from them. It has left them high and dry, and the meanest thing that can happen to the rank and file of the party is to be put in a position where it has to defend or apologize for what a party was in honor bound to do.

"Now, at the end of that platform they quote from Jefferson: 'equal rights to all and special privileges to none.' Jefferson did a great deal for God's country, and I am satisfied that there has been a great deal done for him, and if, to the souls of the just, made perfect, there is permitted a glimpse of what is going on on earth, how must Jefferson feel tonight when he looks at the New Deal party traveling around in the livery of a democracy that he brought into being?

"Now, in conclusion, let me ask you to do something before you retire for the evening. Go into communion with yourself, think about this country and what it has meant to you and what it has meant to everybody from the day that it was discovered, and in that moment make a solemn promise that from now until the third of November you will do everything that you can, and induce your neighbor to do everything that he can to separate the political bunk from facts."

Ruling Follows Opinion of Bishop Waldorf.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Charges of "consorting with and aiding communists" against the Rev. Dr. Harry F. Ward, New York radical leader, were barred yesterday from discussion on the floor of the Rock River conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, now holding its annual sessions in Austin Methodist church, Race and Center streets.

The charges were brought on Wednesday by the Rev. Dr. Rembert G. Smith of Pryor, Okla., who filed them before the Rock River conference because Dr. Ward's ecclesiastical residence is the First Methodist church of Evanston.

The conference committee on procedure, acting on the advice of the presiding officer, Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf, took the action declining to permit consideration of the charges. These cover eleven allegations involving Dr. Ward's character as a minister, and one under the head of unministerial conduct.

Bishop Reads Statement.

Before the committee's vote on the matter, Bishop Waldorf read a statement to the conference.

"I am of the opinion that the matter involved here," he said, "has no real place in this session. I think if it were to come at all, it should come in some other way."

Dr. Ward replied to the charges in five words, according to a dispatch from New York where he is a professor in Union Theological seminary.

"These charges are ignorant nonsense," he said.

Dr. Smith said his charges had received about what he had expected of them.

"The Rock River conference," he said, "sidestepped, but the issue remains: can a Methodist minister be a follower of Karl Marx and espouse the cause of communism? He cannot without violating his ordination vows which implicitly demand his full allegiance to the church's articles of religion. The violation of vows is the supreme challenge to character; in such violations essential morals are involved. Methodists will not permit the Rock River conference, which has jurisdiction over Dr. Ward, to sidestep this moral issue."

Cites Ward's Statement.

Dr. Smith alleged that Dr. Ward has said that private property held by citizens "was taken away from somebody else by trickery, by fraud or by force," and to transfer this private property to national ownership "would be restoration, not confiscation."

In answer to that doctrin, Dr. Smith's charges cite the Methodist constitution.

"The riches and goods of Christians are not common as touching the right, title and possession of the same, as some do falsely boast," that constitution declares.

UNCHARTED AREA OF ARCTIC GOAL OF GLACIER PRIEST

The large white area between Siberia and the north pole which is marked on maps as unexplored is the next goal of the Rev. Bernard R. Hubbard, the "glacier priest." Father Hubbard arrived in Chicago yesterday after completing his tenth year of glacier study in Alaska and disclosed his intent to survey the last unmapped region in the world.

"Birds from this continent and Europe fly directly to that region," said Father Hubbard. "I believe they must find sustenance there and that there is animal and a low form of vegetable life. There also may be human life. It was reported that the body of an Eskimo borne by the current from that region and recently washed ashore was dressed in the Eskimo fashion of two centuries ago."

Father Hubbard outlined his new plan while visiting at the Illinois Club for Catholic Women. He will speak tonight in Orchestra hall.

REPORT DENTIST SLAYER NAMED BY GRAND JURY

Clarence Sutton, 36 years old, 510 Hirsch street, Calumet City, was reported named in a true bill voted by the grand jury yesterday for the slaying last Sunday of Dr. Stanley Nowak, a Hammond dentist. Sutton has declared he shot and killed Dr. Nowak in self-defense when the two men quarreled in his home over a picture of Nowak's wife, Louise, 28 years old. She saw the shooting and was the principal state's witness.

VOTE BUYING IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Democrats as well as Republicans, if they value honest administration of relief funds, must applaud the efforts of William Hard in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Hard says the WPA funds are being used for political purposes. The Democrats deny it. Mr. Hard invites a showdown. A senatorial committee, loaded in favor of the New Deal, is supposed to be investigating improper uses of money in Pennsylvania. Mr. Hard demands that this committee admit his documents into evidence and disprove his facts if it can. The committee thus far has declined to do so. It has sought to evade the issue by promising to send an investigator to study any instances of misuse of government money which are presented in good faith.

Mr. Hard heard that evasive answer but refused to fall into the trap. He went to Pennsylvania, personally investigated the situation, obtained his sworn statements and read them over the radio to his immense audience. Now he has sent the affidavits to the committee and dares the majority members to summon witnesses.

The committee is caught between the jaws of a trap. If public hearings are held the facts will be broadcast for every voter to read. If the hearings are not held the Democrats will have proved beyond all possibility of doubt that they are afraid of the disclosures.

Meanwhile Mr. Hard has succeeded in obtaining widespread publicity for his indictment. He charges that the New Dealers in Pennsylvania [and, of course, in other states as well] are refusing relief to Republicans, regardless of how seriously they are in need. The only way in which a victim of the depression can be certain of remaining on the relief rolls is to register as a Democrat and work for the Democratic organization.

It is a terrible indictment, supported as it is with sworn statements of men thrown off relief because they would not sell their votes for bread. The Democrats, from the President, Jim Farley, and Harry Hopkins down, are accused of turning human suffering to political profit. They are charged with a systematic bribery of the voters on a scale never before imagined. If Mr. Hard's evidence is sound, all the tears they have shed over the plight of the unfortunate were hypocritical.

Mr. Hard has presented a prima facie case in support of his allegations. Until the committee has proved his evidence false the presumption must be that it is true.

HOW MANY IS MUCH?

After studying a recent TRIBUNE editorial captioned "Daylight Saving Continues," a reader reached the commendable decision to write to the Voice of the People and "take up" the alleged advantages of daylight saving time "in order." A day or two later a well phrased article appeared in Vox Pop which proved to the satisfaction of the writer, at least, that the discomforts of rising "in the dark" would so outweigh the advantages of a longer evening as to warrant the conclusion that the whole daylight saving plan is "crazy" and "does not make sense." With one exception the arguments advanced proved to be the familiar objections of any normal citizen, who, without further thought on the subject, opposes a disturbance of household routine on general principles. Tomes of such literature have reached TRIBUNE files to show that the dispute between proponents and opponents of daylight saving time hinges largely on whether the writer regains morning consciousness refreshed and with a desire to resume activity or with a jaded inclination to lie abed.

The one exception in the round of the clock discussed by our correspondent was life saving in the hour between five and six in the evening, known to trafic students as the most dangerous in the twenty-four. During that period patrons of the traction systems, pedestrians and motorists are struggling homeward en masse. The interval was dismissed with a terse "so E. S. T. won't help much there." Won't help—much. Had the phrase been shortened it would have expressed the writer's conviction that life saving time is a myth. The addition of the word "much" stamped the whole article as a biased and brutal effort to influence voters for a selfish purpose because it contains the inference that daylight saving time might help "some."

During the first two months of 1936 Chicago operated on central standard time. In that period 135 citizens, largely pedestrians, lost their lives in automobile accidents. For the same period in 1935 the record was 117 killings. Because trafic, as gauged by gasoline sales, was on the increase, it might have been expected that the ratio established would continue, but on March 1 daylight saving time became effective. In the next two months, March and April, the discrepancy was wiped out and on Sunday, April 26, the score was even—241 fatalities for 1936 and 241 for 1935. Eighteen fewer persons had been killed in the daylight saving period when experience pointed to an increase of eighteen victims—36 lives to the credit of the change in time.

How many lives must be sacrificed before the value of "much" will be raised to the level of "sufficient"?

THE ROCK ISLAND STEPS UP.

In an editorial published on Aug. 21, 1936, captioned "What Next, Railways?" THE TRIBUNE warned the western carriers that they could not rest on their laurels after having demonstrated that mile-a-minute passenger service is not only feasible but profitable. Something new is the order of the day, and two virile competitors, the air lines and the automotive industry, are lying awake o' nights hatching novel features. An announcement was not long in forthcoming, and this time it is the Rock Island, the single missing link in the western chain, that will furnish the fireworks.

Bids are being received for six new streamliners, the first to offer two and one-half hour service for the Peoria hop of 161 miles. A Des Moines train will follow on a schedule of six hours for 358 miles, to eclipse the present operating interval of eight hours. Two more trains will run on equally fast cards between Kansas City and St. Paul-Minneapolis, with others cutting the time of the Kansas City-Denver trip from seventeen to eleven hours.

Congratulations of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Messrs. Gorman, Lowden, and Fleming.

SO, THE OWNERS ARE HUMAN.

All the Cubs are on the block. Some are basement bargain sales and some catalogued as fancy. They'll have to bring something handsome in a trade or a sale, but Mr. Wrigley will not mind if he sees none but new faces in his ball park next spring. He hopes they will be bright and shining faces revealing high purpose and aspiration. Mr. Wrigley is not firing his manager, Mr. Grimm. He is trading in or selling the help.

Although there are a number of admirable persons and sterling performers in the Cub outfit, the series with the White Sox was too much for the owner. Strange that an owner is never thought of as having human feelings. The exasperated and disappointed fan is expected to go home and refuse to eat his dinner. The team's public is supposed to be justifiably sore when it is let down and humiliated by its favorites. No one thinks of the owner as suffering anguish and being touched severely on a point of pride.

Hereafter there will be more human understanding of what may be occurring in the owner's box when he sees his team bounced over the bumps. Events of a Saturday afternoon in the fall may give the old grad a miserable Sunday and make him touchy in the office Monday. But he hasn't paid his money [or has he?] for the players and the coach who made him so miserable. He tries to regain his self-respect by going after the coach's job and scouting about for prep players.

An owner is not a hermit. He may find it unpleasant to go to lunch or to dinner parties after certain events. People may be sympathetic. They may even pretend not to have heard the score. If extremely polite they might not know that the owner owned a ball team. But the owner will not be fooled. His smile will hide a bitterness such as no old grad ever experienced. And we call this sport. It is if you win.

IN OTHER WORDS.

A learned colleague, having read our recent observations on the phrases like nobody's business and or what have you? asks us to do something drastic about in other words.

"I notice it in your editorials," he writes. "It is employed by those who lack precision and stumble for continuity, etc., etc. No flowers."

Maybe in other words is shopworn, but it is not idiotic and this campaign is directed against expressions which are both shopworn and idiotic. In other words has meaning, and the idea it expresses is a useful idea. The phrase is employed frequently by those who stumble for continuity, but to damn it for that reason is to condemn shoes because some men wearing them stumble.

Our colleague errs when he says in other words is used by those who lack precision. On the contrary, the phrase is in the armamentarium of all who value precision. Jones talks at great length about the virtues of his new automobile. Thirty miles to the gallon. Stops on a dime. Accelerates to the terror of all beholders. The passengers ride as on air. His car is better than anything else at twice the price.

"In other words," says Smith, "you've bought one." Precision of thought is not the least of Smith's virtues.

The other words should always be fewer and they should always expose a hidden motive. Sometimes the motive is deliberately concealed and sometimes not, but in either case the exposure is valuable. The kind of mind which puts in other words to this, its proper use, is a priceless asset to any family, any nation, and needless to say, to any newspaper office.

Editorial of the Day

HEAVY REGISTRATIONS.

[Reno (Nev.) Gazette.]

It is an old saying in American politics that when the people register or vote in unusually large number, or when they vote unusually early, they are "out to get" some individual or some group. There is sound support in history for the statement that when the people are so aroused their intention is to use the ballot in driving an individual or group out of office. It is notable, therefore, that in both Chicago and Kansas City the registration for the November election, which opened a few days ago is extremely heavy. Kansas City newspapers report that all registration records in that city may be broken. In the first day of precinct enrollment under Chicago's new permanent registration system 957,746 persons registered, as compared with 1,644,198 during March, when the voters were registering for the April primary.

The nation-wide polls have shown remarkable strength for Gov. Landon, and their probable accuracy is shown by important straws in the political wind such as the early and extremely heavy registration in two great midwestern cities. Unexampled interest is being taken in the presidential election, and there is no such interest taken when the people are satisfied with their government. It is history that dissatisfaction brings out the large vote totals in political races all the way from those for the smallest district offices to those for the presidency.

NO QUARTER FOR ROMANCE.

In my Hometown in western Iowa, where the chinchbugs, grasshoppers, drouth and floods have ruined the crops for the past three years, lived good-natured, worthless old Gib. That was a nickname and nobody knew just how he got it. There was a romance in his young life, but it lasted hardly more than an hour. . . . It happened at the time the Baptists had a dinner and harvest festival. Bashful Gib fearfully asked a young woman of the neighborhood to be his guest and, much to his surprise, she accepted. . . . The meal cost 25 cents, and Gib, having only one quarter, took the belle to the front door of the church, handed her the coin, and said: "You go in and eat; I ain't hungry." Poor old Gib! He died without ever understanding why the lady threw his quarter in his face. Bildik.

WE OFTEN HEAR of a city with such and such a number of souls, but nobody ever mentions the heels in the total. . . . When a man begins to reminisce he's merely getting old, but when a woman does it she's getting absent-minded.

BUILDING ON THE RUINS.

The young lawyer's wife was fretting over the bareness of their home. "We need furniture, drapes, carpets, and pictures," she wailed. "Cheer up," said the barrister; "I got a swell divorce case today. I represent a wife whose husband has a lot of money. As soon as I finish breaking up their home we can fix ours up." Carolus.

INVITATION.

(For Phryne.)

April comes again next year
But winter comes before,
And warm green winds of April
In winter blow no more;

And if the vernal day return
With lotus-odored breath,
I still must take the twenty-first
Of eighty steps to death.

So fleet the time of plenty,
And I who wish and wait
May neither stay nor slacken
This breathless graveward gait.

The legion-petalled lotus
In winter darkly dies,
And time will take as surely
The luster from your eyes.

And from your face the beauty
That aye in dreams I see;
O April lady, squander
These golden days with me,

Before the circling seasons
That not a power can stay
Shall wing with winds forever
The crumblings of our clay.

Charles W. Norris.

CAN SUCH PERSONS BE?

Since you started the thing, I'd say a typical (male) Chicagoan is one who has never been in the Art institute, Field museum, Oriental institute, Adler planetarium, Chicago Historical Society building, or any park conservatory. He has been to the opera twice at most and to the stockyards once. He prefers poker to bridge, would rather eat hamburgers than good food, and chooses to read the sports news instead of the editorial page.

THE NEWS from Kirksville, Mo., that a revival is being held in the Pure Air church brings up the thought that most of the churches we have been in are poorly ventilated.

NOTE ON THE DRAMA.

The plays today don't compare with the grand thrillers of long ago. Col. Wood's Museum on Randolph street used to feature in its stock company Frank Aiken, leading man; John Dillon, inimitable comedian; Mrs. Gilbert, who played sweet old ladies; Jennie Hight, ingénue, and Mr. and Mrs. Allen. Among the plays were "East Lynne," "Ticket of Leave Man," and "Waiting for the Verdict."

ANOTHER DEVALUATION.

(McConnellsville, O., Herald.)

The $7,000 reported found by a WPA workman while razing the old Cyrus McGlashan house at Caldwell while excavating for the site of the new postoffice has now shrunk to $600 in gold certificates. The item on page two should be read in the light of this corrected report.

SALESMANSHIP.

Are the Chicago police seeking boarders? In front of the police station at 5250 Broadway is a sign: "ROOMS FOR RENT, REASONABLE."

AND NONE TOO SOON.

The mamma hit me on the head with a skillet one day last summer. It was all on account of a woodpecker. He started riveting on a pillar of the front porch and she said, "What's that?" I began singing "Listen to the Knocking Bird," and that's when it happened. Karlov Karlov.

HOW SAD.

Cookie jars in days of yore were of a grayish hue;
Two Gal. was marked upon the side in strokes of shiny blue,
And this gal always found a cookie there.
Things have changed, as most things do, and cookie jars have, too;
I'd gladly lay the old aside for something pretty new—
But this gal never finds a cookie there.

OLD AMERICAN CUSTOM.

J. E. S. forwards an advertisment for a potent beverage, which urges: "First warm the glass in the hands, inhale its exquisite bouquet . . . then sip s-l-o-w-l-y." Then he adds: "Why dilly-dally? Palatable or no, I gulp mine like an oyster on the half shell."

AFTER LISTENING to the rest of the stuff on the radio, we give prayerful thanks to the man who invented the violin solo.

AVOID INDUSTRIAL POISONS.

EVERYBODY works or should. Industry—the backbone of our material and moral welfare — requires workers who are physically sound; whose health is in no wise jeopardized by occupational hazards.

American manufacturers are alert to the necessity of conserving and preserving the health of their employés, and physicians—particularly those attached to plants in which poisons or deleterious substances are used—are studying the subject intensively.

It is desirable to recognize, if possible, dangerous situations which are set up by special types of employment. We have no right to assume that headache, anemia, or bronchitis—which are widespread general conditions and may come on irrespective of one's trade—are associated primarily with occupation. On the other hand, we must admit that men laboring in a dusty atmosphere may exhibit an increasing amount of bronchitis. Furthermore, those who work in vapors may absorb poisons through the air that they breathe. For example, trichlorethylene and tetrachlorethylene may lead to liver damage and to the development of jaundice, while benzene may bring on a particular type of anemia.

Before the use of yellow phosphorus was prohibited in the manufacture of matches, "Phossy jaw" [necrosis of the jawbone] was common among makers of matches. Tetrachlorethylene was employed to dissolve cellulose and serious types of illness followed frequently. As soon as this solvent was discarded the symptoms disappeared. Until a dozen or more years ago the majority of glazes used in potteries contained lead in a highly soluble form. Many cases of poisoning ensued. By treating the lead so as to render it insoluble, the hazard was reduced 90 per cent.

Sometimes a bad situation may be rendered harmless through proper ventilation. This means the removal of dust laden air, performing certain operations in the presence of a forced draft, and the precipitation of particles by water sprays.

Skin diseases constitute a separate group of annoying conditions, but they are no more common among the general group of workers than among other members of a community. Nevertheless, it is well known that many chemicals may bring on a dermatitis so severe as to render the victim unable to use his hands.

Lead presents one of the most pernicious industrial problems. Whenever employés are in contact with lead compounds, fumes, dust, or the metal itself, cleanliness in the workroom and of the person must be enforced strictly. The hands should be washed frequently, particularly before eating. All should be encouraged to take warm baths daily and no food should be eaten inside the shop proper.

The diet should be high in calcium, and for this reason in many factories where lead is required it is common practice to provide each workman with a glass of milk in the middle of the forenoon and another in the afternoon. This aids in the storage of lead in a harmless form in the bones. Furthermore, exposed persons are encouraged to take a saline laxative at least once each week. All are examined for unusual susceptibility to the poison.

If toxic symptoms appear the diet should contain three pints of milk daily, with milk puddings, ice cream, and plenty of butter, eggs, and cheese. This provides an adequate calcium surplus which will temporarily drive the lead into the bones. The elimination of the poison may be begun as soon as the acute symptoms have subsided and this may be aided by the use of a low calcium diet with potassium iodide and certain other drugs.

These are but a few of the many sources of ill health that may exist in any manufacturing center. But they are all avoidable and controlable. Just because a chemical may be dangerous that fact does not mean that it cannot be utilized. It requires, however, careful study to determine just how it may be handled safely.

CHANCES GOOD.

J. S. writes: Is it possible for a boy of 14, who has heart disease as a result of rheumatic fever, to be cured? I am anxious to indulge in sports.

REPLY.

Perhaps not cured as we understand the term, because damage to the heart may persist during life. This does not mean that you cannot later be as active as your playmates. The heart may enlarge slightly, but this is nature's way of giving you added heart power. Be careful not to overdo for the next year or so and then resume activity gradually. The chances are that you will be as well and healthy as any one. Keep in touch with your family physician.

PLAN A GOOD ONE.

M. A. S. writes: I have two boys—15 and 16 years old. I buy ten quarts of milk a week and about a dozen cans of evaporated milk. My husband claims the latter is no good. I use it in chocolate drinks, puddings, etc.

REPLY.

Evaporated milk is cow's milk with about 60 per cent of the water removed. It has the nutritive value of milk except that the vitamin C has been destroyed. Evaporated milk is frequently given to babies because it is sterile and it is easier to digest. Your plan is an excellent one.

IODIZED OIL.

Mrs. P. writes: I read your article about iodized oil in bronchial asthma. Where can I get this oil and how is it used?

REPLY.

The treatment with iodized oil must be given by a skilled physician who will know how to obtain the oil. An anesthetic solution is used in order to render the trachea nonsensitive. The mixture is warmed to 110 degrees F., which enables it to flow readily into the smaller tubes. The oil is injected into the trachea by means of special instruments.

THYROID GLAND.

Mrs. H. M. writes: What are the symptoms of an overactive and a slow thyroid gland?

REPLY.

Symptoms of overactivity are fatigue, rapid pulse, tremor, and nervous excitability. Symptoms of underactivity are increased weight, decreased appetite, dry, puffy skin; thick, slow speech; anemia, and slow mental reactions.

HORN AND AX HANDLE.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Having driven nearly three-quarters of a million miles, in almost every make and type of car, under all driving conditions, in every part of the United States and in foreign countries, and without ever having had an accident more serious than one or two which slightly damaged a fender, I am egotistical to the extent that I consider myself a seasoned driver, and do not feel that there is any one who can tell me much about automobiles or their operation.

With such a background I feel well able to recognize good or bad trafic systems when I come into contact with them, and I am convinced that I am not entirely wrong when I say that I have never found a worse place in which to drive than in Chicago. To the person who does a considerable amount of driving elsewhere, entering the city of Chicago is the beginning of a nightmare.

No longer do the other drivers keep to the right side of the road, and sounding the horn to signify that you wish to pass the car ahead has no effect whatsoever. A second sounding of the horn sometimes causes the road hog ahead to look back and glare, but repeated requests for a small portion of the road never accomplish the desired result.

My car is equipped with the loudest horn that I could find, operating on 250 pounds of compressed air. This horn is for the exclusive purpose of blasting Chicago road hogs over to the right trafic lane, and is used only after repeated use of the ordinary electric horn is unavailing. To those who sponsor the noise elimination movements I send greetings, and state that I am wholly in accord with their ideas, but suggest that if people kept where they belong horn blowing would be unnecessary.

Occasionally even the air horn has no effect on the road hog, except to cause him to look back and curse. In such a case I find that a gentle shove from the rear, with my reënforced front bumper, has never failed to accomplish the result that the other milder forms of persuasion have been wasted on.

Some of the worst road hogs, obviously persons of arrested mental development, seem to resent being shoved around, and with much bellowing seek to do me great bodily harm. This is always most interesting, for it not only gives me an opportunity to study the breed at close range, but enables me to attempt to explain the virtues of keeping to the proper path.

When violence is insisted upon I am always glad to be accommodating. If greatly outweighed or outnumbered, a pick handle, which is standard equipment in my car, can always be relied upon to even things up.

There is a movement afoot, I hear, to "Keep Chicago Safe." I wonder if any one knows just how this accomplishment is to be brought about. I suggest that probably the greatest single move that could be taken to "Make Chicago Safe" would be to have the police department make a concentrated and permanent drive, with wholesale arrests, against all who choose to ignore the rule which safety, courtesy, and common decency on the road demand, the first rule of American motoring: "Keep to the right!"

JACK C. DEAGAN.

SQUANDERMANIA.

Moline, Ill., Oct. 4.—The national debt is at present quoted at 34 billion dollars. This figure, however, is incomplete in that it concerns only the principal and does not take into account the vast amount of interest which the nation must eventually pay for the privilege of being in debt. The interest at present is nearly 900 million dollars a year and this will increase progressively as the principal increases.

Treasury actuaries assume that the national debt will be repaid over a period of 100 years. Under sound fiscal policies the average interest rate during the entire period would be at least 2½ per cent. This program, at best, calls ultimately for $2.73 in taxes for every $1 of the present debt.

The American taxpayers, therefore, face an obligation of not 34 billions but over 92 billion dollars.

These figures do not yet tell the whole story. The individual states and subdivisions of government have an additional indebtedness of 20 billion dollars. Add this figure to the national debt, plus a very conservative estimate of interest and the resulting figure is appalling. The ultimate obligation facing the American people is over 115 billion dollars—a gigantic figure utterly beyond human conception.

Yet the squandering of the present administration goes merrily on with reckless disregard of the imminent consequences to the nation—many long years of heavy added taxation, possibly national bankruptcy and economic chaos.

Every time the clock ticks the nation's debt increases by over $300. No living person will live to see the nation free of this debt. Children yet unborn will be taxed to help pay for Roosevelt's folly.

Heaven help the nation if the New Deal squandermania is allowed to continue another four years.

LESTER E. FROST.

FOR ROOSEVELT.

Aurora, Ill., Oct. 6.—Roosevelt, we are told, is a dictator, acting both illegally and unconstitutionally, and we are warned that to reëlect Roosevelt to the presidency is to substitute him for the constitution, and that in place of legal processes of law we shall have the unrestrained caprice of an irresponsible dictator.

However, you may count on this: if the people of the United States reëlect Roosevelt it will mean one thing and only one thing, namely: That they are behind him, will stand behind him and will expect and demand of him that he continue and help to carry through to a finish the fight as initiated against the commercial anarchists in and out of congress who, with little respite, have governed the United States for more than sixty years.

If it is illegal and unconstitutional to fight these men as Roosevelt fought them, then it is high time that we revise our ideas of what is legal and constitutional.

CLARK MORE.

STATISTICS.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—In one typical issue of THE DAILY TRIBUNE last week the name of Roosevelt appeared exactly 133 times and the New Deal was mentioned precisely 42 times, making a total of 175 times, for FDR is the New Deal and vice versa. The Democratic party, the three letter agencies, poor Dr. Tugwell, etc., drew altogether 54 TRIBUNE mentions, making a grand total of 229 for our side.

"Boots" Landon's name appeared in the same issue but 35 times and the G. O. P. scored only 17 mentions, giving the Obstructionists a measly total of 52.

We new partyites of the Youth movement don't givadam what you say about Roosevelt and his great program so long as you just mention them a couple of hundred times a day. Have you noticed the Roosevelt smile is getting broader all the while?

AN INDIGNANT INVESTOR.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—The recent imposition of a further decrease of $3,000,000 from the revenue of the Commonwealth Edison company should indeed intensify the determination of more than 40,000 investors [all voters, I hope] to devote their energies between now and election day to defeating the return of Henry Horner as governor of Illinois.

PURCHASE DEPOSIT.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—"A" had a store for sale. "B" came along, investigated, and was satisfied. Says he'll go home and tell his wife, which he does. Next day she comes over, goes over all details again, and decides they will buy and lays down a $10 deposit until she can get to the bank for more money. She leaves. Less than four hours later "B" returns and says they don't think they will take the place after all.

He gives no good reason for the change and [1] wants his deposit back, which "A" refused. "Well," says "B," "I don't want the place and you cannot sell it to any one else as long as you hold my deposit." What is the answer?

2. I contend that "A" is perfectly within his rights and has every right to retain that deposit. I know I have lost deposits on things in different ways. "B" bought and "A" sold the store in good faith.

3. Can "B" demand his deposit back if and when "A" sells his store to some one else?

G. H.

1. Presumably the purpose of the deposit was to protect the seller against the buyer's changing his mind. This would mean that the seller would be entitled to keep out of the deposit any damages that he sustained by the buyer's refusal to proceed. It seems probable that there would be no difficulty in proving that the damages would exceed the deposit in your case.

2. We agree with you, although we would be in a better position to advise if the amount of the proposed price was stated in your letter.

3. No. See 1.

lunch. In the white and gold "salle a manger" [dining room] the Hotel Palace orchestra played. People ate, none quite at ease. Russia, I thought, must have been like this just when things began to crack for good. A "Portuguese diplomat" who looked oddly like a well known Spanish duke, seemed uncomfortable.

"He might have picked a more popular nationality," my companion said. "Here the Portuguese, Germans, and Cubans are selling their passports to their friends of the right. It is a good thing to get them out of the country, but the masses don't see it that way."

Primo "Murdered."

An Italian said, "Primo alive. Humph. They've murdered him long ago."

Difficulties. Paco Valdes says I can see my man. Comrade Jose Prieto, a keen, wiry citizen in blue shirt with a red star on his breast, a pistol at his side, says I can't.

"The committee on public order says nothing doing, it's too delicate a matter," he said.

I ask to meet the committee. A plenary session is called with two representatives of all parties of the People's Front. I make a speech in bad Castilian.

"If he's alive, it proves there's some kind of authority here," I said.

We argue. I'm taken to task about what the world press says. I speak of the western world's fear of a communist Spain that seems to have banished all other consideration. An anarchist brother gets solemnly to his feet.

The Anarchist Speaks.

"You can assure your readers there'll be no communism in Spain, none of this crude, destructive, primitive communism," he said. "We, the anarchists, we will see to it, see to the implantation of more constructive, more . . ."

They told him to shut up. I am asked out while the committee deliberates. I am asked back and make another speech.

"In Madrid they see no reason why I shouldn't interview Primo," I said. "If you people here prevent me, then I'll have to say to my paper that the government of Spain seems to have little authority."

We win.

At 9 o'clock one morning the comrades come. Prieto, Carmelo Alberola, Martin Bautista, and Commissar Jose Cases, a former reporter. They bundle me into a car. Other guests look significantly at each other and are happy it is not they.

Prison Gates Swing.

The gates of the dun prison swing back. People look. They probably hope I'm Portuguese. The governor of the prison bows. We advance now to cell doors which could be opened, as in all Spanish prisons, just a crack so the prisoner could see the high altar. No longer.

"They're taking exercises in the patio," the guard says.

The ancient lock is negotiated. We step into the bright sunlight. Two young men, dark and handsome, clad in soiled white breeches, shirts with open collars, and frayed, rope soled sandals, trot up. They are eager as bird dogs. This is the first visit in months.

Jose Antonio, the slighter of the two, shakes hands politely. It is hard to conceal his disappointment that it is only me. The four comrades of the committee stand back a few paces.

Recalls Lunch at Savoy.

"Let's see, it was two years ago, wasn't it, we lunched at the Savoy in Madrid with Prince So-and-So?" José Antonio said.

The comrades pricked up their ears. I said very professionally, "Suppose we get on with the interview."

He said with a charming smile, looking at the comrades who may tomorrow be his executioners, "With pleasure, but you see I know nothing. I've been here since March."

The comrades look at each other. They had already told me they had found two pistols and 100 cartridges in the brothers' cells after the rebellion broke, and along in August maps showing the military situation in the Balearic Islands.

Primo a Lawyer.

"Since the second week of the movement I've been in rigorous incomunicado," he said.

The comrades smiled knowingly. Primo is a lawyer and a keen one. But he is his own sole defense. It was not up to me to make his difficult job harder.

I said, "Suppose we talk about what happened before, about Gil Robles, for instance." [José Maria Gil Robles, Catholic political leader who took a leading rôle in the rightist government preceding the present régime.]

"Gil Robles is to blame for everything," he said with passion. "For two stupid years when he might have done everything, he did nothing."

He went on, "And Casares Quiroga [premier who was deposed when the revolt began], for his policy of provocation."

Craved News.

He kept his eyes on me. He wanted news, craved news, because he really is incommunicado now. What could I tell him. He beat me to it, saying, "But what's going on now I don't know."

I said, "I'm sure our amigos [friends] here didn't bring me here to inform you, but suppose I ask some hypothetical questions which you can answer or not."

"All right," Miguel suddenly said. "I used to live in New York, you know."

He is an aviator and the political mind of the family.

"What would you say if I told you Gen. Franco's movement got out of hand and whatever it was intended to be is now simply old Spain fighting for its lost privileges?"

"I know nothing. I hope it is not true, but if it is, it is a mistake."

"If I said that your boys are fighting side by side with mercenaries in the service of the landowners?"

Recalls Speeches in Cortes.

Primo looked at me searchingly and said, "You remember my stand, my speeches in the cortes. You know I said that if the right after October [the 1934 Asturias rebellion] kept on with its negative policy of repression, Azana [Manuel Azana, now president] would be back in power in no time, and so it happened. It is the same now. If it is simply to turn the clock back they are wrong. They can't hold Spain, if it is only that. I stood for something else, something positive. You've read my program on national syndicalism, agrarian reform and all that."

"Apparently the Spanish people never believed in your sincerity," I said, putting it mildly.

"I was sincere," he said. "I could have become a communist and won popularity."

I said, "but your boys now. . . .?

"I hope and think what you say is untrue. But, remember, they had no leaders after I was arrested, and, remember, that they and many other people were goaded to violence by the Casares policy of provocation."

The comrades glowered.

"But, I seem to remember you introduced political gunmen into Madrid," I said.

"Nobody ever proved that," he said. "My boys may have killed, but it was after they were attacked."

I wanted to cite cases to the contrary, but, too aware of the comrades eyeing this so handsome, so assured young aristocrat who had brought or helped bring, by their lights, such horror to Spain, I refrained.

Another Question.

"What would you say if I told you Gen. Franco, a nationalist patriot, brought Germans and Italians into it, pledging Spanish territory in Mallorca to the Italians and the Canaries [islands] to Germany and brought Europe closer to war than ever?" I said.

"I'd say it is untrue," he snapped.

"I know nothing," he added. "I don't even know whether I'll have a part in the new government if we win." We all gulped. He went on: "I do know that if this government does win and it turns out to be nothing but reaction, then I'll withdraw my Falangistas and I'll . . . I'll probably be back here in this or another prison in a very few months."

Predicts Abyss for Spain.

"If that is so, they're wrong. They'll provoke still worse reaction. They'll precipitate Spain into an abyss. They'll have to cope with me. You know that I've always fought them. They called me a heretic and bolshevik. I . . ."

I didn't like to look into the eyes of the committee. They had stood back and said nothing, but they were looking—I know what they were thinking. About the boys of his phalanx who hired gunmen or played gunmen before and now roam rebel Spain "liquidating" not Marxists alone, but all liberal elements they can get their hands on.

"Gen. Franco told me Spanish Fascism is not comparable with other Fascisms, but is simply a defense of the church," I said.

José Antonio looked annoyed.

"The trouble with all Spaniards," he said, "is that they won't give ten minutes of their time to get a fair estimate of people or things. I shall prove . . ."

The atmosphere was becoming too thick. I said, "I've got to catch a plane. I'll say good-by." We shook hands.

Going back, one comrade broke the silence and said: "Did you notice that he had gained weight?"

I had. They looked furtively to see how far I had been won by their prisoner's magnificent presence, by the fine show he gave us. But that was my secret.

"What are you going to do with him?" I asked.

There'll be a trial. They exchanged looks. It will be a trial not only of the man, but of Spanish Fascism. I can't for the life of me imagine any circumstances to save this young man.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, Oct. 4.—[By Air Mail to Paris.]—The organization of a children's infantry regiment, composed of 600 Moscow school pupils, aged 14 to 18, all members of the Young Pioneers, was announced today by Osoaviakhim, the civilian air and land defense organization.

It is to be modeled on Red army units, with three battalions composed of two companies each. Young Pioneer leaders and Comsomol [young communist] organizers will serve as officers and on the political staf. The organization will have special uniforms.

It will not be merely a play regiment, for practical instruction will be given in the elementary principles of machine gun firing, artillery, and aviation. By Nov. 1 all the members must pass tests qualifying them as "Voroshiloff marksmen."

DEMAND MADRID SURRENDER; NEAR SHELLING RANGE

Rebels Take San Martin; Unite Armies.

BULLETIN.

PARIS, Oct. 9 (Friday).—(AP)—The newspaper Le Figaro reported today the Spanish government was moving the entire gold reserve of the Bank of Spain to France.

[Copyright: 1936: By the Associated Press.]

BURGOS, Spain, Oct. 8.—Fascist lines tonight boxed Madrid on three sides as insurgent leaders demanded the city surrender or be "blown up" from land and air.

Some units of the troops on the southern side were almost within shelling distance of the capital, rebel leaders said.

Their warplanes banked and circled over Madrid throughout the day, the pilots dumping hundreds of printed surrender ultimatums upon the city's inhabitants.

Calls Resistance Useless.

Further resistance was useless, the circulars read, and the populace had best declare allegiance to the insurgent provisional government or suffer the same fate as the north coastal city of Irun, bombed and pillaged when it was captured by Gen. Emilio Mola a month ago.

Steadily the southern and bottom side of the box being built about Madrid is being stretched longer past the capital. The strategy then is to march troops on this line due north, completely boxing the capital.

One section of the insurgent juggernaut under Gen. Francisco Franco captured San Martin de Valdeiglesias today. It is a strategic junction for rebel armies about 40 miles west of Madrid.

Within 6 Miles of Aranjuez.

Another column of Fascists charged to within six miles of Aranjuez, trafic center, only 30 miles south of the capital. It is this wing which the Fascists hope to extend eastward so that Madrid might be completely surrounded, with all avenues of escape blocked off.

[A rebel radio broadcast yesterday said Fascist air bombardments had cut the Madrid-Valencia railroad, which connects the capital with the eastern Spanish coast.]

To the west, another column drove over Escalona and fought forward to join comrades further along the Maqueda-Madrid highway.

Conflicting reports were received on the battle in the northeastern coastal sector of Spain centering around government-held Bilbao.

Radio broadcasts said 150 Fascist hostages had been executed in Bilzoa, and that insurgent troops fought to within five miles of the besieged city.

Rebels Take Mountain Redoubt.

[Copyright: 1936: By the Associated Press.]

CEBREROS, Spain, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Fascist soldiers drove Gen. Julio Mangada's government troops out of Navalperal, their mountain redoubt northwest of Madrid, in a final bloody push today which crowned two weeks of constant attacks.

The last surge started at dawn, when over 1,500 bombs were dropped on government lines in front of Navalperal, which is 45 miles northwest of Madrid and about 10 miles north of Cebreros.

Insurgent artillery shelled the village as the bombing planes swooped low, machine gunning the government soldiers. The defending artillery squads stuck to their field pieces, but their fire was weaker than that of the Fascists.

Gen. Mangada's armored train, endeavoring to silence the insurgent guns, sent barrage after barrage into their lines.

When the shelling and bombing ceased, the Fascists, who were reported to be mostly brawny Moors, leaped to the assault and a bitter hand to hand struggle ensued. The government militia men were slowly driven from the lines they had held for close to three months.

[Rebel claims that Navalperal had been captured were denied in Madrid.]

Loyalist Offensive Announced.

MADRID, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Government forces hurled an offensive tonight against Fascists northwest of Madrid in a drive to smash them out of their mountain strongholds.

Socialist militiamen battled fiercely for possession of El Escorial, about 25 miles northwest of the capital. Defense lines were pushed to the base of the Guadarrama mountains. Government commanders asserted their forces drove the Fascist lines back after three hours of desperate infantry fighting under a curtain of artillery shells.

Government leaders said they mapped the drive on the basis of optimistic reports their troops had taken virtual possession of Oviedo, in the extreme northwest of Spain, and soon would be free to bolster the Madrid defenses.

Oviedo Rebels Cornered.

A war ministry communique declared the dynamite throwing Asturian miners, fighting for the government, had cornered the insurgents in five barracks and the cathedral in Oviedo.

Buildings along several streets were said to be aflame. Flames were reported spreading rapidly from house to house. Government reports said a column of Moors and foreign legionnaires from Galicia had been repulsed by government fighters in the western part of the city.

Showering dynamite as they spread through the Bay of Biscay city, the report said, the miners stormed the railroad station and converted it into a fortress.

Sharp fighting was reported in the vicinity of Santa Cruz del Retamar, on the Madrid-Maqueda highway, as the Fascists encountered opposition attempting to widen their hold on the Tagus valley.

Attempting to shift from the defensive to the offensive in southern Spain the Socialists were reported to have launched a drive toward Montoro, in Andalusia, about 25 miles northeast of Cordoba.

Fighting in several sectors, particularly in north and central Spain, was severely hampered for both sides by penetrating cold and rain. In many places cannon bogged into deep mud.

MADRID ACCUSES FOE OF BOMBING RED CROSS UNIT

MADRID, Oct. 8.—(AP)—The Spanish government charged tonight insurgents bombed a Scottish Red Cross ambulance unit in broad daylight Oct. 4 near Toledo.

Officials said Dr. Duncan H. Newbigging, in charge of the unit, reported to the war ministry one ambulance in the group "came under rifle fire" while rounding a bend in the road between Aranjuez and Toledo about a mile from the latter city.

"The personnel took cover along the roadside," Dr. Newbigging was quoted, "and saw 12 to 15 shells explode near the ambulance. Five minutes later two planes dropped two more bombs."

The ambulance staf retreated on foot, the report said, but "on the way three dark colored monoplanes flying low dropped two more bombs. The violent attack lasted about half an hour."

GERMANY LOOSES COUNTERBLAST ON SOVIET THREAT

Sees Effort to Salvage Red Venture in Spain.

BERLIN, Oct. 8.—(AP)—The German foreign office tonight attacked the soviet outburst against alleged military aid given Spanish rebels by Germany, Italy, and Portugal as an attempt to save a "comintern venture" in Spain. [The comintern is the communist world propaganda organization.]

A foreign office statement said that the soviet government, by throwing its weight against the Spanish Fascists, hopes "to rescue the revolutionary capital invested in Spain by the comintern."

"The true soviet motive for an offensive becomes clear," a foreign office spokesman said, "if one considers frankly the fact that the cause of the Spanish popular front—despite support given it—is not making the military progress hoped for in Moscow."

Danger of Complications.

The spokesman expressed the foreign office's view as believing that the powers had at least been successful in localizing the Spanish conflict, but that Moscow's move "which thinly veiled a threat of official intervention in Spain" created danger of the very complications which the nonintervention agreement was designed to prevent.

He expressed astonishment that the soviet union, "of all powers," should feel itself competent to appear in the rôle of a denouncer.

It was, he said, "hardly sincere" that soviet Russia should "accuse other states of doing what it itself has long been doing."

"The whole world," he declared, "understands perfectly Moscow's interest in the bolshevization of Spain."

Earlier the propaganda ministry emphatically denied soviet charges that Germany is delivering war material to the Spanish insurgents.

"We have adhered strictly to the nonintervention principle," a communique asserted. "We have delivered neither airplanes nor any other such materials mentioned in the Russian statement."

[Well informed Italian circles in Rome also denied that Mussolini had violated the noninterference pact since Italy signed.]

Spanish Envoy Moscow's Idol.

MOSCOW, Oct. 8.—(AP)—The soviet foreign office, informed sources said tonight, has not yet decided to send munitions into Spain to aid the Spanish government against the Fascist insurgents.

Nevertheless, reliable informants said, the Kremlin is under considerable pressure and having difficulty restraining a wave of sympathy for Spain which has developed during the last three months.

Marcelino Pasqua, first Spanish ambassador to the U. S. S. R., became the idol of Moscow. Soviet citizens accorded him great ovations whenever he appeared in public.

Accompanied by high soviet officials he was introduced to a theater audience tonight and given a wild ten minute applause.

Mass Meetings Continue.

The government continued mass meetings of workers for donations to be sent to Spanish women and children, but in many quarters "airplanes and not apples, bombs and not butter," were demanded for the Spanish "popular front."

The government denied it had acted precipitately in issuing an ultimatum to abandon the neutrality pact unless Germany, Italy, and Portugal ceased actively aiding the Spanish insurgents.

The spokesman said the ultimatum had been decided upon only after the situation became "intolerable" through continued intervention on behalf of the Fascists in direct violation of neutrality.

It was declared in official circles that the soviet government entered the pact in good faith, but with faint hopes and with belief that it was tantamount to a blockade of the Madrid government.

Soviet officials placed full blame "for the failure of the agreement" on the lack of "backbone of England and France" which the officials said they hoped had been stiffened by the ultimatum.

Neutrality Group Meets Today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Representatives of twenty-seven nations will meet tomorrow in an emergency session of the Spanish nonintervention committee to try to find a way out of the new danger created by Russia's ultimatum. British diplomats are frankly flabbergasted at the Bolshevik bombshell, but are unwilling to make any official comment or venture any prediction beyond a statement saying the government is "fully conscious of the dangers which may be incurred if the situation is not cleared up without delay."

The statement followed a half hour conference between Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer who is acting prime minister, and Clement Attlee, and Arthur Greenwood, parliamentary leaders of the Labor party.

Resent Note's Publicity.

Officials resent Russia's action in releasing its note to the press immediately after its delivery. This was called a violation of the committee's agreement to confine public statements to communiques jointly issued after meetings.

Three explanations for the Russian action were advanced. The most likely reason is believed to be an attempt to drive a wedge between the Locarno powers to prevent an agreement on a western mutual aid pact. It is understood that Moscow is determined to prevent negotiations for a western European pact without simultaneous formation of an eastern pact.

A second explanation is that Moscow is making a genuine effort to save the day for the Madrid government, which is generally considered doomed unless given help soon.

Effort to Save Face?

The third is that the ultimatum is merely an effort by Dictator Josef Stalin to impress the Russians and the world proletariat with the sincerity of his statement that the Red army is at the service of the world's proletariat.

It is not impossible, it is believed, that Moscow, seeing the imminence of Madrid's fall, wanted to save her face before the world's communists by making a gesture even though too late.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is heading home from Monte Carlo, but will not arrive in time to take part in tomorrow's session of the committee. He will meet Premier Leon Blum in Paris.

"HERE'S THE EASIEST WAY TO SAVE MONEY I'VE EVER FOUND"

—says MRS. C. A. OSWALD

"I have always prided myself on being very thrifty in my household purchases. I have been known to walk three blocks to save a penny. But I have found that the easiest way to save money, so far as laundry soap is concerned, is to use American Family Soap. It saves time for me, but most important, it saves the wear and tear on my clothes because it floats out dirt without hard rubbing."

And here's the secret of the amazing success of American Family Soap. Why it makes washing easier, safer, quicker. Laboratory tests prove that American Family contains as much as one-third more suds-making material than other leading laundry soaps sold in this market. And dissolves almost instantly into rich, creamy, active "DOUBLE SUDS." These "DOUBLE SUDS" work doubly fast—float out the grimiest dirt without hard rubbing—and in utter safety to fabrics. That's the miracle of American Family Soap. Why colors stay true. Why ALL washables keep their life and newness much longer. More women in and around Chicago use American Family than any other brand. Start today to use American Family Soap and prove, beyond any shadow of doubt, that it is cheaper to buy good soap than new clothes. Made by Procter & Gamble.

CHINA'S DICTATOR APOLOGIZES FOR KILLINGS OF JAPS

Chiang and Tokio Envoy Confer at Nanking.

NANKING, Oct. 8.—(AP)—An exchange of compliments between China's dictator, Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, and Ambassador Shigeru Kawagoe of Japan, was viewed here tonight as a harbinger of peace in the orient.

After they ended a two hour conference, the Japanese embassy said Chiang had expressed "deep regret" over the recent killings of Japanese in China and Kawagoe said he was "impressed with Chiang's sincerity."

Chiang issued a communique applauding Kawagoe's "spirit," which he said raised hope the crisis could be solved "without resort to nondiplomatic measures."

Find "Dud" Bomb in Shop.

At Hankow, however, Japanese naval authorities took drastic "precautions" against a possible new incident when a "dud" bomb was discovered in a Japanese bookshop in the former British concession.

The Japanese asserted the bomb was the type used in the Chinese army and posted patrols from the recently reinforced landing party in the Japanese concession and elsewhere.

Neither Chiang nor Kawagoe would disclose details of their conversation which was held in a private villa on the outskirts of the city with only official interpreters as witnesses.

The statement issued by the Japanese embassy after the meeting said Kawagoe told Chiang the epidemic of slayings, which Japan viewed as a sequel of government-fomented anti-Japanese sentiment, was "having serious repercussions on Chinese-Japanese relations." It said Kawagoe demanded the Chinese government show "good faith" in dealing with the cases.

See Tension Relaxed.

Chiang's statement stressed other points of issue, mentioning his insistence Japan recognize China's territorial integrity. Observers felt, however, both sides had indicated the tension was relaxed and a basis had been found for peaceful negotiations.

Dispatches from Aomori, Japan, said the Japanese Seiyukai [opposition] party adopted a resolution urging the Tokio government to establish a "clear-cut foreign policy and definite administrative reforms."

The party attributed the gravity of the Chinese-Japanese crisis to "the failure of the government of Premier Koki Hirota to establish a definite diplomatic policy."

Warning against a "dangerous tendency" toward state control in internal affairs, the opposition group recommended a return to parliamentarianism, readjustment of national policy to promote friendship with Japan's neighbors, replenishment of national defenses, and revision of financial policy.

If you like trying to figure out what you'd do in another fellow's place, try this one. Tradition in the automobile business is not to make major changes in a car after a successful year. Changes cost a lot of money, and besides, why rock the boat? On the other hand, progress and improvement come only through changes, costly as they are. Buick has had a highly successful 1936 year. Plenty of people said the car couldn't be improved. But Buick men had some ideas. To put them into effect would cost plenty. Should they change, or shouldn't they? Buick had to decide—and did, to the tune of some $14,500,000. So

EX-CZARIST ARMY OFFICER MUST DIE FOR KILLINGS

MOSCOW, Oct. 8.—(AP)—A former czarist officer, A. I. Yakhukhin, tonight was sentenced to death at Askhabad, Turkmenistan, for being involved in the execution of twenty-six Baku commissars on Sept. 20, 1918.

V. A. Zimnitsky, also a former Czarist officer, was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment.

It was the third trial to be held for those believed to be guilty of wiping out leaders of the newly established Baku commune, allegedly under orders from British interests in the rich Russian oil land. Trials in 1921 and 1926 ended in executions.

Duce's War Chief to Be Governor of Eritrea

ROME, Oct. 8.—(AP)—An official communique today confirmed that Gen. Federico Baistrocchi, under-secretary of war, had resigned to become governor of Eritrea and had been succeeded by Gen. Alberto Pariani, chief of the general staf. The statement said Gen. Baistrocchi resigned "for reasons of a personal nature" and had been created a count by King Victor Emmanuel. Baistrocchi was in charge of preparations and maintenance of the Italian forces in Ethiopia from the mainland.

CHINA CLIPPER LANDS IN HAWAII ON 'PREVIEW' HOP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, Oct. 8.—Songs and cheers greeted the arrival of the China Clipper shortly after dawn today. The great plane, en route to Manila from Alameda, Cal., alighted on the waters of Pearl Harbor after a 2,400 mile flight of 17 hours and 48 minutes.

The "preview" trans-Pacific passenger flight was in many respects like that of an ocean liner on its maiden voyage.

As the passengers—newspapermen—and crew stepped from the plane to the landing boat Hawaiian girls hung leis about their necks. Just before the plane landed a steward sprayed the interior of the clipper with an insecticide.

"We are taking every precaution to prevent introduction of bugs which might injure Hawaii's sugar crop," he explained.

Passengers told the reception committee they had slept with the greatest of comfort. Private dressing rooms are to be installed on the clipper when women are carried as passengers.

"The clipper flew at a constant altitude of 9,000 feet throughout the flight," one of the passengers said.

Cruelty Is Charge

Mrs. Jeannette Phillips Schreiner Loeber, 21 years old, 70 Cedar street, filed suit for divorce in the Superior court yesterday against Paul C. Loeber Jr., 25 years old, 69 East Division street, charging cruelty. Mrs. Loeber is the daughter of Joseph O. Schreiner, board of trade broker. Loeber's father is a real estate broker. Their wedding took place here during the Christmas holidays in 1934.

In her bill Mrs. Loeber asks an injunction to restrain her husband from disposing of their furniture, which is mostly wedding gifts, and waives alimony. She asks for the return of her maiden name. She charges that her husband twisted her arms last April 22 and treated her roughly on July 28.

VATICAN OFFICIAL REACHES U. S. ON 'SECRET' MISSION

New York, Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli, papal secretary of state, arrived here today on what he termed a private visit to America, but there were those who saw a connection between his formal trip and the political campaign of Father Charles Coughlin.

Although the 60 year old cardinal refused to discuss the Detroit radio priest's political activities, he would not deny that he was spending the coming month in America "watching over" a situation in which the Holy See is known to be deeply interested.

As he disembarked from the Conte di Savoia, on which he came to America from Italy with the new Italian ambassador to the United States, Fulvio Suvich, the papal secretary was met by a large group of churchmen.

The cardinal agreeably posed for photographers and issued a long statement in recognition, he said, that despite the private character of his visit he was expected to make his "little contribution to the representatives of the press as a sort of journalistic tax of entry."

Although his statement was nonpolitical, some observers believed a hint of warning to Father Coughlin was contained in his remarks.

"The church cannot refrain from reminding peoples and those who govern them of their duty to submit without reserve, not only in private life, but also in public life, to the supreme domination of God and to the majesty of divine law, natural and positive, which takes precedence over all human legislation," the statement said.

Papal Displeasure Hinted.

Echoes of papal displeasure over Father Coughlin's political activities have persisted in recent weeks during which two bishops have visited Rome and the Detroit priest issued an apology for having called President Roosevelt a liar in one of his addresses. Father Coughlin was rebuked by a Vatican organ for his attack on the President's veracity.

Because of the wide attention given the American priest's political activities and controversy over their propriety, some persons believed Pope Pius decided to have Cardinal Pacelli act as his own observer here during the final stages of Father Coughlin's campaign.

Renowned As Diplomat.

Cardinal Pacelli is renowned abroad as a diplomat. His most famous accomplishment was the negotiation in 1929 of a concordat between Protestant Prussia and the Holy See.

He displayed such rare diplomatic ability that he was raised shortly thereafter to the rank of cardinal at the age of 54. Within a year he was named papal secretary of state, succeeding the elderly Pietro Cardinal Gasparri.

Cardinal Pacelli will pass most of his American stay at the Long Island estate of Mrs. Nicholas Brady. It was reported he may visit the middle west.

VETERAN TELLS NIGHT OF TERROR IN FIRE OF 1871

Courage That Rebuilt City Is Gone, He Thinks.

Nick Spelz, 81 years old, 2501 Sunnyside avenue, who as a boy of 16 watched the great Chicago fire, believes that modern men and women lack courage in the face of disaster—courage such as early Chicagoans displayed during and after the great fire of 1871.

Mr. Spelz remembers clearly the night of Oct. 8, 1871, when the fire started and the succeeding hours when the flames roared unchecked. Among his most treasured recollections is the memory of the courage and fortitude with which Chicago citizens, their homes ruined, most of their possessions gone, set about to rebuild the city.

No "Bellyaching" Then.

"Nobody cried about his loss," Mr. Spelz recalled yesterday. "There wasn't any of the bellyaching—that's the only name for it—you find today. Nobody ran to the government for help. We just put our shoulders to the wheel and kept on pushing, and look at the city today."

Mr. Spelz was at his home playing cards with a few friends on that Sunday night in 1871 when the fire broke out. His father, Peter Spelz, operated a saloon at what was then 321 Michigan street and is now the east end of Tribune square.

"There had been a big fire the night before which we missed, so we decided to see this one," he said. "We ran down to State and Lake streets where we boarded one of those old horse drawn buses and rode out near Halsted and De Koven streets to see the fun." [The fire started at what is now 558 De Koven street.]

Fire Jumps the River.

"It was a pretty good fire when we got there, but we had no idea it could not be controled. Certainly we never dreamed it would spread to the north side. But it did. We followed the flames as they ate their way into the city. I saw the fire cross the river at Adams street and later at Clark street. Then I decided to go home.

"My mother scolded me and told me to go to bed to get a night's rest, but I told her the fire was too big. I went back then into the business section. I saw the courthouse go, the Sherman, Tremont and Clifton hotels. Everybody knew then the flames could not be checked.

"I returned home again and a man we knew as Dutch Bill offered to take a load of our furniture out to Lincoln park. We piled his wagon with our gear and he drove away. That is the last we ever saw of him or of the furniture.

"Like a Trip Through Hell."

"We remained near the lake that night and most of the next day. The night of Oct. 9 the captain of a tugboat said he was going up the river to see how the fire looked and he let me go along. I'll never forget that ride. We went up as far as the Kedzie avenue bridge. A trip through hell couldn't be more fearsome.

"The flames from the still burning buildings lighted up the river like a fiery road. At intervals along the shore we could see huge crimson mounds with an occasional flash of fire licking from them. These were the remains of the elevators which had been filled with grain. The heat was intense. We had to play a hose continually on the sides of the boat to keep it from catching fire.

"After I got off the boat I found I was separated from my mother and it was several hours before we were reunited. When I found her she was carrying a basket with a loaf of bread and a beer spigot. That bread tasted mighty good.

Waiting to Build Again.

"The people didn't seem excited. They watched their homes burn, but there was no hysteria. They were just waiting until the fire was out so they could start over again. They weren't discouraged. Of course, every one tried to help his neighbor. We shared food and places to sleep and by Oct. 10 there were some relief stations set up.

"My folks and I went to Cedar Rapids, Ia., for a couple of weeks to stay with relatives. Then we returned and began to build a new place. Every one was working then. Every one was busy. We put together a sort of shack and went back into the saloon business.

"That was a pretty hard winter. My brother was born about a month after the fire. We had to go nearly four miles to the nearest butcher shop. But we stuck it out and after a while we built an addition to the saloon. My father received a little insurance in the form of notes which we discounted at the banks for cash and this helped, but mostly we got back on our feet by hard work."

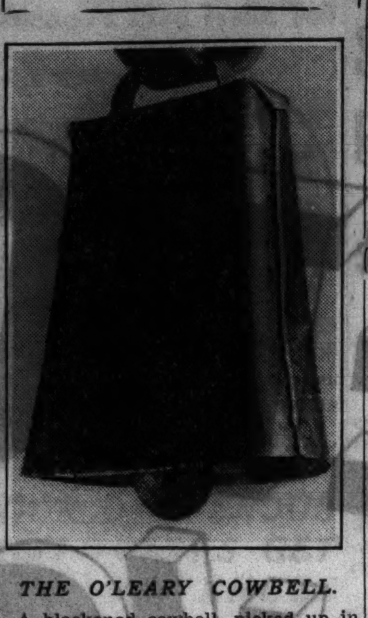
Mrs. Arthur L. Warner, 73, Wife of Factory Head, Dies

Mrs. Belle Kneeland Warner, wife of Arthur L. Warner, general superintendent of the Illinois Iron and Bolt company of Carpentersville, Kane county, died yesterday at the Sherman hospital in Elgin. The Warner home is at 34 North Porter street, Elgin. Mrs. Warner, who was 73 years old, had been ill with pneumonia for ten days. Her husband, a brother, Howard E. Kneeland of Battle Creek, Mich., and five stepchildren survive. Mrs. Warner's first husband, the late Charles W. Cornell, pioneer Elgin butter manufacturer, died eight years ago. She married Mr. Warner last June. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 12:30 p. m. at an Elgin chapel. Burial will be at Bluffy City cemetery, Elgin.

Dr. W. B. Percival, Veteran of U. S. C. Faculty, Dead

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Dr. W. B. Percival, 75, a member of the original staff of the University of Southern California's school of medicine, died yesterday at his home here. He was a native of Covington, Ky.

Historic Cowbell



THE O'LEARY COWBELL.

A blackened cowbell, picked up in the ruins of the O'Leary stable back of 558 DeKoven street on Oct. 9, 1871, now is in possession of John D. Lamb, a Payne, O., merchant, it was learned yesterday. The bell is the one worn by Mrs. O'Leary's much maligned cow—the first casualty of the great Chicago fire.

The relic of the conflagration was acquired two years ago by Mr. Lamb, after it had been in the family of Frank G. Pearson for 63 years. Mr. Pearson's parents were neighbors of the O'Leary's and purchased milk from them. On the night of Oct. 8, 1871, Mr. Pearson was spending a leisure hour in a fire station near State and Congress streets, and when the first alarm came in he accompanied the fire fighters to the O'Leary home. Being a collector of curios he went back the next day, found the bell and received Mrs. O'Leary's permission to keep it.

A history of the souvenir, which Pearson wrote a few years later, contained the legend that the conflagration was started when the cow kicked over an oil lamp. Although generally believed at that time, the lamp theory has been disproved through research by the Chicago Historical society.

FIRE PREVENTION URGED ON SITE OF O'LEARY HOUSE

Mayor Kelly, Fire Marshal Michael J. Corrigan, and 100 firemen yesterday gathered at 558 DeKoven street, the site of the O'Leary home where started the great fire of 1871, to commemorate sixty-five years' progress in fire fighting.

A bronze marker, placed by the Chicago Historical society in 1881, is imbedded in the tall gray stone building which was built on the site of the O'Leary home after the fire.

In a brief ceremony, Mayor Kelly and Marshal Corrigan pointed out the progress in fire fighting equipment, illustrating their words with a battered little wooden hand pump, which was used in 1871, a 1907 steam pump, and a modern scarlet and chromium pumping engine of today.

The fire prevention committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce offered two art school scholarships yesterday to the high school students submitting the best posters on fire prevention. Selection of winners will be made in January.

Osmun said the woman had been dead about 24 hours and that death was due to natural causes. Mrs. Reidel was a widow.

Mrs. Mary A. Chase, 82, Dies from Injury in Fall

$100,000 ESTATE IS LEFT TO FAMILY BY C. F. HENNING

Widow Will Get Income During Her Lifetime.

The will of Charles F. Henning, vice president of the United States Gypsum company, who died Oct. 3 of injuries received in an automobile accident, disposed of an estate of $100,000, it was learned yesterday when the will was admitted to probate.

Under the terms of the will the income from the estate is to go to the widow, Mrs. Jane C. Henning, 909 Sheridan road, Glencoe, and on her death the estate is to be divided between two daughters, Mrs. Betty Cornelius of Buffalo, N. Y., and Mrs. John Hunter, 4914 Mulford street, Niles Center. Mr. Henning, who was 55 years old, was run over by his own car when it was rammed from behind while stalled on Highway 41, north of Deerfield.

Attorney Leaves $30,000.

The will of Attorney Nahum Morrill, who died Sept. 9 at the age of 43, was also probated yesterday. He left an estate of $30,000 to his mother, Mrs. Edith Morrill, who lives at the Chicago Woman's club, 72 East 11th street. Morrill was the son of former Circuit Judge Donald L. Morrill who died in 1923.

An estate of $35,000 was disposed of in the will of Lucius Henry Davidson, secretary of the board of supervising engineers for the Chicago Surface lines, who died Sept. 3 at the age of 66. The entire estate was left to the widow, Mrs. Nellie Carlson Davidson, 832 Argyle street.

Widow's Estate $125,000.

An estate of $125,000 was left by Mrs. Viola H. Stern, who died last Sept. 11, it was disclosed yesterday when letters of administration were issued by Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to the probate judge. There was no will. Mrs. Stern, who was the widow of Ike Stern, Danville, Ill., clothing merchant, was 80 years old when she died in her apartment at 3966 Lake Park avenue. The estate will be divided equally among three sons and a daughter.

DR. W. A. MANN OF WILMETTE IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Dr. Mann, born in Rutland, Ill., was graduated from the Chicago Medical college in 1883 and was president of his class. After several years' practice in Palatka, Fla., and Rockport, Ind., he came to Chicago. He practiced here a total of forty-seven years, practically all that time as a specialist.

He was oculist and aurist to the Michael Reese hospital dispensary from 1890 to 1899, professor of ophthalmology at the Chicago Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat college from 1899 to 1903, and assistant clinical professor of ophthalmology and otology at Northwestern university medical school from 1903 to 1906. He was president of the alumni of that medical school in 1902 and of the Wilmette Physicians' club in 1911.

Surviving him are his widow, Anna, and two children, Marjorie and Dr. William A. Mann Jr. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at 1118 Greenleaf avenue, Wilmette. Burial will be in Memorial Park.

Cheiro, Psychic Consulted by Many Notables, Is Dead

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Count Louis Hamon, famed psychic known as Cheiro, whose clients numbered notables from stage, screen, and royalty for two generations, died here today. In a huge guestbook in his reception room are such names as those of Lillian Gish, Douglas Fairbanks, Sarah Bernhardt, Mary Pickford, King Edward VII. of England, and Mark Twain.

CHICAGO
October, 1871

By John Greenleaf Whittier

[These inspiring lines by the Quaker poet were written soon after word had gone forth that Chicago would rebuild. The poem was New England's hail to our stricken citizens. It had been preceded by more substantial gifts, but none of them, said Joseph Medill of The Tribune, then mayor of Chicago, gave him and his colleagues in the so-called "fireproof administration" greater heart for the heavy task before them and their homeless fellow townsmen. Many Chicago business men found time amid the hurry and anxiety of reconstruction to write grateful words to Mr. Whittier at his home in Amesbury, Mass., and those letters he long kept among his cherished souvenirs.]

MEN said at vespers: "All is well!"
In one wild night the city fell;
Fell shrines of prayer and marts of gain
Before the fiery hurricane.

On threescore spires had sunset shone,
Where ghastly sunrise looked on none.
Men clasped each other's hands, and said:
"The City of the West is dead!"

Brave hearts who fought, in slow retreat,
The fiends of fire from street to street,
Turned, powerless, to the blinding glare,
The dumb defiance of despair.

A sudden impulse thrilled each wire
That signaled round that sea of fire;
Swift words of cheer, warm heart-throbs came;
In tears of pity died the flame!

From East, from West, from South and North,
The messages of hope shot forth,
And, underneath the severing wave,
The world, full-handed, reached to save.

Fair seemed the old; but fairer still
The new, the dreary void shall fill
With dearer homes than those o'er-thrown,
For love shall lay each corner stone.

Rise, stricken city!—from thee throw
The ashen sackcloth of thy woe;
And build, as to Amphion's strain,
To songs of cheer thy walls again!

How shriveled in thy hot distress
The primal sin of selfishness!
How instant rose, to take thy part,
The angel in the human heart!

Ah! not in vain the flames that tossed
The Christ again has preached through thee
The Gospel of Humanity!

Then lift once more thy towers on high,
And fret with spires the western sky,
To tell that God is yet with us,
And love is still miraculous!

POLICEMEN ADD UP THEIR CLEWS AND GET ANSWER

Some twenty robbery victims, mostly bakery and candy shop owners and employés on the north side, held up by the same bandit during the last few weeks, furnished identical descriptions to police. The robber, they said, was a young fellow with a large nose and two moles on the left side of his face.

Late yesterday Detectives Michael Hoban, Frank Mudloff, and Thomas Barrowman of the Town Hall station noticed a young man walking hurriedly in the 900 block of Crescent place.

"He's young," observed Hoban.

"He's got a large nose," said Mudloff.

"He has two moles on the left side of his face," said Barrowman.

The young man was arrested. He turned out to be Dan Tessone, 22 years old, alias Ben Di Nicola, alias Tinicolo, just a month out of New York. He also turned out, according to the police, witnesses, and his own reputed statements, to be the bandit who held up the north side shop owners and employés.

YOU'LL say it takes our Slow Mash to make real lip-smacking whisky—when the very first sip of Bottoms Up slips down your throat. It's so smooth and goes down so easy—because of the extra time and grain we spend on the mash. NAZI POLICE RAID HOMES OF DANZIG SOCIALIST CHIEFS Push Cleanup of Foes; Newspaper Closed.

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Nazis, pushing their cleanup of all opposition, virtually wiped out the Social Democratic organization in the free city today.

Secret police of the Nazi administration raided Socialist party headquarters and seized membership lists. Then they closed the plant of the newspaper Volkstimme, asserting they had found quantities of ammunition and anti-Nazi handbills in the building.

Several Social Democratic party leaders, including the party chieftain, Arthur Brill, still were at liberty. Brill was said to have left Danzig before the raid started.

The publisher and editor of the Volkstimme, however, were arrested, along with two other persons connected with the paper, and the houses of all Socialist leaders were searched.

Earlier in the week the Nazi police seized 74 political foes during a raid on conferences of opposition leaders who were opposing the growth of Nazi influence in the city.

The Nazis have been building up their case for a plebiscite to oppose appointment of a successor to Sean Lester, league of nations high commissioner who has been named deputy secretary general of the league of nations.

Poland has been given a league mandate to find a solution to the difficulties of the free city.

FEY DROPS DUEL PLAN IN ROW WITH STARHEMBERG

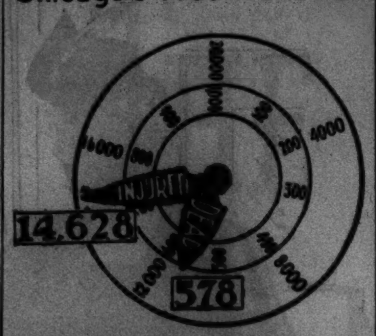
VIENNA, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Maj. Emil Fey, apparently abandoning plans for a duel, declared tonight he would appeal to the Austrian military court of honor for vindication in his quarrel with Prince Ernst Von Starhemberg.

Fey said that his seconds had been unable to present his challenge to "responsible representatives of Starhemberg," and that he was therefore taking recourse to the military court.

Fey flung his challenge after Starhemberg, his former chief in the Fascist Heimwehr [home guard] had asserted Fey's conduct at the assassination of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss by Nazi putschists July 25, 1934, "was never satisfactorily explained."

THE MASSACRE

Chicago's 1936 Trafic Toll



Over 98 per cent of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

FOUR DANGEROUS MOTORISTS GET JAIL SENTENCES

Four motorists were sent to the county jail yeserday by Judge Joseph A. Graber in Safety court for dangerous driving. They are John K. Cearoalov, 31 years old, 2801 Cermak road, ten days for driving while intoxicated; Melvin Reynolds, 46 years old, of Milwaukee, five days for leaving the scene of an accident; Joseph Miley, 28 years old, 4051 Van Buren street, five days for reckless driving, and Wendell Spraggins, 36 years old, 4747 Forrestville avenue, colored, ten days for reckless driving.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday the number of persons killed in Cook county auto accidents since Jan. 1 stood at 751. Of these 578 had been killed in Chicago. In the same period 14,628 persons were injured within the city.

MEXICAN WEDS ACCUSED GIRL; BOTH ACQUITTED

After deliberating an hour and a half, a Municipal court jury yesterday found Eleanor Swimmer, 21 years old, and her husband of a day, George Rojas, 26 years old, a Mexican, not guilty of disorderly conduct. They were arrested on this charge last Aug. 23 on the Illinois Central railroad embankment near 67th street.

The verdict came after a day of surprises in the courtroom of Judge Harold P. O'Connell. The first surprise was when Rojas testified that he and Miss Swimmer, a former University of Chicago co-ed, were married Wednesday. The second came when Miss Swimmer—or Mrs. Rojas—denied they had been found "embracing" on the railroad embankment. "We were sitting on a stone wall, swinging our feet over the edge," she said.

"The verdict was swell," she commented after the jury's decision was announced. "They couldn't do anything else," said Rojas.

"And the first thing I am going to do," said the new Mrs. Rojas, "is go home and see my mother and get her approval of our marriage."

PARIS 'CLEANUP' SQUADS RAID 37 FASCIST CENTERS

Search Leader's Home, Find Swastika Dagger.

PARIS, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Communist cries of "Prison for De la Rocque!" rang through Paris tonight with the opening, after a series of lightning raids on 37 Fascist "Social party" centers, of an inquiry against Col. Francois de la Rocque, former leader of the outlawed Croix de Feu, and his chief lieutenants.

Angrily defiant, De la Rocque himself charged the government was operating "under orders from Moscow" and was committing "acts which dishonor it."

"I have protested against this police measure," he said. "I shall take definite issue with the government on the legality of any judicial acts which may ensue. Moreover, I shall continue my activities.

"Nothing—not even my death—could stop the national renaissance movement I and my friends have started. We are already on the road to victory!"

Find Swastika Dagger.

De la Rocque's summer home, in Versailles, was the first target of the raiders, who searched it from cellar to roof. A small dagger with a swastika hilt, documents, weapons and other "incriminating" evidence was seized, special government agents said.

They bore a search warant to investigate charges against the colonel of "participating in the maintenance or reconstruction, direct or indirect, of associations called the Croix de Feu [cross of fire] and the national volunteers, dissolved by decree of June 13."

The raiders descended on the office of the Fascist newspaper Le Flambeau, then took the center of the party's sports society "by storm," and swept on to search the home of Jean Mermoz, noted aviator who established France's commercial air line over the south Atlantic. Mermoz is a member of De La Rocque's executive committee.

Other search squads spread-eagled from Paris to the suburbs, seizing hundreds of documents in their swift drive.

De La Rocque Watches Raid.

De La Rocque, clad in a shaggy tweed suit, watched the raiders as they wrenched out desk drawers and ran through files in the party headquarters. He had just conferred with Mermoz and other party leaders in the bare, gray walled office when the squad of searchers, without warning, burst in. At first he protested volubly, then shrugged and watched them in silence.

The mass of documents seized in the widespread raids was turned over to the investigating magistrate, who is empowered to decide whether criminal action shall be taken as well as to recommend dissolution of the Social party.

Acceding in part to the request of Socialist Premier Leon Blum, communists tonight agreed to call off all but ten of their fifty-six meetings planned for Alsace and Lorraine next Sunday and Monday. The communists, who earlier had refused to abandon the meetings in the frontier provinces, which the Fascists threatened to smash, changed their plans under strong government pressure.

2 Shot in Algerian Riot.

ORAN, Algeria, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Two persons were shot when communists and Fascists clashed tonight as the communists organized a counter-manifestation to the Fascist meeting. Mobile guards dispersed the fighters, arresting several.

● Because eyes are often handicapped by poor and insufficient light, eye specialists, scientists and lighting engineers have developed a new science ... the Science of Seeing. As a result of their studies a new type of lamp has been developed especially designed to aid seeing. The Illuminating Engineering Society has prepared specifications which lamp manufacturers follow in designing and constructing these lamps to meet the prescribed eye-saving requirements.

These new I. E. S. Lamps provide soft, glareless light . . . light that reduces sharp contrasts and deep shadows. They provide an adequate amount of light for all seeing tasks, properly distributed to assure eye comfort and protection. These lamps are scientifically correct, and attractive as well, for their style has been approved by home making authorities. A few of the many different styles and models are shown below:

luxurious draperies—rich, lustrous damask

$9.95 pair

Usually $14.50

Though other fabrics may come and go, the popularity of damask rarely wavers . . . rich, regal, beautiful, it is as much a favorite today as in the days of old. Illustrated is a self-toned pattern that is truly lovely, with the look and feel of true quality as concerns both material and tailoring. They fall in deep, flowing folds. "Glowing" describes the colors—rich, deep shades of Venetian red, wine, cedar, Antoinette blue, parchment and verdure green. Made from 50-inch width material; finished length 2½ yards; fully lined with sateen. At this special price, quantity is limited.

Very soft sheer

$1.65 pair

Fine tailoring details distinguish these curtains. But it's the quality of the material that makes them so absolutely marvelous at the price. And soft and sheer as they are, they have surprising resistance to frequent launderings. The ruffles, which are cut 7 inches, and doubly full, are sewed on with French headings which are both decorative and extra-secure. All selvage edges are removed, back edges hemmed, and we needn't tell you what a difference this makes in hanging after laundering. Over-all width of 94 inches allows criss-crossing if you wish. "Decorators" tie-backs, equipped with bone rings, are included. Length 2½ yards. Cushion dots, point d'esprit dot and a figured pattern, in white, ivory and ecru.

Curtains and Draperies, Sixth Floor.

Stamps Valued at Two Million on Exhibition

Chicago Philatelic Society Marks 50th Year.

A collection of rare postage stamps valued at more than $2,000,000 will go on display today in the grand ballroom of the Hotel La Salle at the opening of the golden jubilee celebration of the Chicago Philatelic society. The exhibition will last through Monday.

For four days stamp collectors, professional and amateur, from all parts of the country will be busy inspecting the various collections, which include more than 80,000 individual stamps. The valuable collections will be under constant police guard.

The exhibition will include pages from some of the finest stamp collections in the country, many of which have received awards in national and international competitions. Among the exhibitors will be Sol Newberry of Chicago, whose collection is considered the most extensive in the middle west.

Some of the valuable exhibits will include frames of United States stamps issued by individual postmasters before the regular government issue in 1847. Another rare stamp valued at more than $2,500 is the United States 24 cent inverted air mail stamp issued in 1918. Also on exhibit will be a complete collection of unused United States stamps, regular and air mail, belonging to Alfred F. Lichtenstein of New York.

The Chicago Philatelic society is the oldest stamp club in the country. The club was organized Oct. 8, 1886, and last night the club members celebrated their 50th anniversary. The club has grown from the original five members to its present membership of 350.

Kreisler Brings Two New Arrangements for His Concert Tour

New York, Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Fritz Kreisler, the violinist, returned to America today on the Bremen. It is approximately his fortieth visit and he brings two new arrangements of the compositions of masters, a concerto by Paganini, and the "Fantasy in C Major," by Schumann, the latter being a labor of love dating back forty years, when he overhead the composer Brahms ask Joseph Joachim, the violinist, to revise it.

"It was done by Schumann near the end of his life," Mr. Kreisler said. "He died a lunatic, you know, and when he wrote the 'Fantasy' his genius was beginning to be affected. It has a lot of very beautiful music in it, but also a lot of silly nonsense. When I learned at Joachim's death that he had not attempted a revision I determined that I would. I approached it in a shy manner, because one does not like to meddle with the work of great artists. But I had to make a choice of meddling or letting it die. Whether I have succeeded, I do not know."

The violinist has spent most of the last six months resting, fishing, and traveling. He will give forty concerts in this country.

Hull House Has 74 Residents to Help Direct Activities

Seventy-four men and women are in residence at Hull house this fall to share in its community life and direct its settlement activities, according to Mrs. Kenneth F. Rich, head resident. Reviewing yesterday her first year as successor to Jane Addams, Mrs. Rich declared:

"It has been a lonely year without Miss Addams, but those who are carrying on her work find that she has pointed the way ahead for years to come. One of our new residents is Miss Mary Hulburt, grandniece of Miss Addams, who has just returned from social service work in California to take up graduate studies at the University of Chicago.

Several of the attorney residents in the house have assisted in naturalization applications in the last year with the result that more than 900 "first papers" and "second papers" have been filled out for men and women of the neighborhood.

Count Bernadotte Plans Permanent Home in Hollywood

New York, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Because Count Sigvard Bernadotte, son of the crown prince of Sweden, thinks there's no climate like California's he's going to make his home there.

He announced as much when he arrived with his wife today on the liner Bremen after spending the summer in Europe.

Count Bernadotte, who prefers to be known as plain Mr. Bernadotte, spent a year in Hollywood as an assistant director and said he was going back to continue his motion picture work. This time he's going to establish a permanent residence there, he added. He said he may take out citizenship papers.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

In the "Secrets of a G-2-Man," to be launched at 7:30 tomorrow evening, W-G-N appears to have a dramatic offering of extraordinary promise. Using a large dramatic cast, sound effects experts and Harold Stokes and the orchestra this dramatic broadcast is to present the personal adventures of Col. Thomas R. Gowenlock, assistant chief of staf, G-2 [military intelligence] of the First division of the American armies in France and of the many unsung heroes who played with death in this branch of the service.

These dramatizations will be presented in conjunction with a series of stories of combat intelligence written for the graphic section of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE by Col. Gowenlock in collaboration with Guy Murchie Jr. Publication is to begin Sunday.

Two celebrated ladies of the stage—Ethel Barrymore and Fannie Brice—are now holding forth regularly on Wednesday evening broadcast periods. It would be pleasant to be able to report that their radio efforts are as notable as their contributions to the stage. That, however, is not the case.

Miss Barrymore, unlike her brother Lionel, apparently has not given radio much serious thought as yet. In her first appearance on the Famous Actors Guild Miss Barrymore endeavored to revive "Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines," her first starring vehicle. Whatever it was in 1904, "Capt. Jinks" seems today a dullish and dated play. On top of that Miss Barrymore galloped along at a terrific pace so that she could not be understood. That was probably due to trying to compress a full length play into 28 minutes. Unless Miss Barrymore chooses her vehicles more carefully and gives more attention to adapting them for radio her sponsor might much better go back to the relaxing music of "Lavender and Old Lace."

Miss Brice, it seems to this listener, makes a mistake similar to Miss Barrymore's. In transferring her famous Baby Snooks act to radio she forgets that this brat needs to be seen to be fully appreciated. A highly successful Follies act transferred without alteration to the airways is not nearly so funny when only heard—and heard for the most part by the multitudes who have never viewed her in the flesh.

A poll of the family circle as well as among office associates confirms a personal conviction that Fred Allen was never funnier than on his return to the air Wednesday evening. The secret of the Allen success is probably that he remembers that the studio is not the stage; that he puts in lots of hard work and gives plenty of attention to details.

"How do you do it?" we asked Allen a week ago in New York.

"Well, I write the whole thing myself," Allen explained, "and I give the whole week to it. Every line is written with a special consideration for the idiosyncracies and talents of the person who is going to read the line."

New Services Are Launched by Red Cross

BY MARCIA WINN.

The establishment of two new services, accident prevention and hospital recreation, was a high light in the 1935-'36 activity of the Chicago chapter, American Red Cross, James B. Forgan, chairman, pointed out in the chapter's annual report yesterday.

The accident prevention program was concentrated on accidents in the home in its initial stages, but beginning Jan. 1, 1936, an intensive campaign of safety on the highways was undertaken.

Trafic accidents and hazardous points on the highways were surveyed with a view to establishing emergency first aid stations, police and fire officials were given first aid training and by June 30, the end of the fiscal year, 13 stations had been opened, 23 were being prepared for service, and 182 prospective station sites had been inspected.

In the home accident program, a total of 22,000 teachers in 1,510 schools coöperated in reaching home owners through the school children. As a result, the report shows, 344,820 homes surveyed accident hazards and adopted preventive measures.

During the year the Gray Lady hospital and recreation service was organized in Chicago. Volunteers in the service completed six weeks training in home hygiene and care of the sick, a 15 lecture course, and a four months' period of probationary hospital sercie. A total of 87 Gray Ladies now are in active service.

Other achievements of the year include the enrolling of 146 nurses, bringing the total enrolment to 1,230; caring for an average of 17 cases a day in the public health service; enlargement of life saving service; issuance of 4,939 first aid certificates; transcribing of 57,826 pages into Braille by 63 adult and 125 junior workers; making of 499,483 articles of clothing by 8,573 volunteers and the raising of $426,657, rather than Chicago's quota of $225,000, for the flood relief fund campaign.

SCHOOLS' CHILD EXPERT TAKES STAND FOR DODD

Draws Fine Line Between Sane and Insane.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

The narrow margin which separates sanity from insanity and emotional instability from a normal emotional balance was discussed yesterday on the witness stand in the Superior court of Judge Walter P. Steffen by Dr. George F. Munns of Winnetka.

He testified in behalf of Attorney Walter F. Dodd, former Yale law school professor, who began his defense in the separate maintenance suit brought by his wife, Mrs. Sue Hutchison Dodd of Winnetka.

Attorney Dodd asserts that she is emotionally unstable and therefore not competent to have custody of their children, Walter, 10 years old, and Laura Alice, 7. The children are with Mr. Dodd's sister in Atlanta, Ga.

Dodd Children His Patients.

Dr. Munns was questioned by Floyd Thompson, attorney for Dodd. The doctor is now the pediatrician of the Winnetka school system. He said the Dodd children were his patients from 1930 to 1935.

In the spring of 1935, Dr. Munns said, he called in Mr. Dodd and said that Mrs. Dodd was so upset nervously that she was having a bad effect on the children. He recommended, he said, that she be examined by a psychiatrist and general practitioner and possibly separated from her children until she got rest.

Dr. Munns was then cross-examined by Attorney Robert N. Golding, counsel for Mrs. Dodd.

Tells Difficulty of Definition.

Q.—If you get mad easily are you emotionally unstable? A.—Not necessarily. Some people get angry more easily than others, happy more easily, depressed more easily, and when they do all these things with the greatest of ease, we say they are emotionally unstable.

Q.—Did you have an opinion in the spring of 1935 that Mrs. Dodd was "nuts?" A.—No.

Q.—Then her emotional instability was within the range of sanity? A.—It depends on what you define as sanity. There isn't any clear cut division between sanity and insanity. The attempt to define it is causing a lot of difficulty in the field of psychiatry now.

Boy's Teacher Testifies.

Miss Ruth Kearns, who taught young Walter in the third grade in the Horace Greeley school in Winnetka, testified that Mrs. Dodd used to tell her for 45 minutes at a time about Walter's "superior mental ability." When Miss Kearns talked at all at these meetings, she said, she tried to create the impression that Walter had the mentality of an average child and if left alone would do average work.

Q.—Now in the Winnetka school system, if a child spells his words and reads and so on, up to his work, he passes, we'll say. And if he doesn't? A.—If he is socially capable of competing with the group, he passes anyway.

Q.—And to find out whether he is, you have a psychiatrist, a psychologist and trained psychiatric workers in the Winnetka schools. A.—To help children who are not adjusted we have them.

Q.—You need all those in Winnetka? A.—[As the courtroom spectators laughed]—No more than anywhere else. They are fortunate enough to have them there.

Q.—And they're kept pretty busy—in Winnetka?

The answer to this was lost in the courtroom laughter.

The hearing will be resumed on Monday.

RESCUED OCEAN FLYER ABANDONS HIS PLANE AT SEA

VALENCIA, Irish Free State, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Cheated of victory, but uninjured, Kurt Bjorkvall, 31, Sweden's trans-Atlantic flyer was en route tonight to La Rochelle, France, aboard the French trawler Imbrin.

Bjorkvall abandoned his big red and blue Bellanca plane to choppy seas, 100 miles off the west coast of Ireland, where he was rescued yesterday after being forced down 1,000 miles short of his goal on the 4,500 mile hop from Floyd Bennett field, New York, to Stockholm.

The Imbrin, which spotted Bjorkvall's plane wallowing on a moonlit sea late yesterday, set out to continue its fishing after the crew had failed in attempt to salvage the plane. The Imbrin is due at La Rochelle Tuesday morning. Additional messages disclosed the airman was forced to alight alongside the trawler because of engine trouble almost within sight of land. The trawler towed the plane for 40 minutes before it became "disjointed" and then cut it loose. It sank in the heavy swell, the messages said.

Missing Woman, 66, Found Alive on Evanston Shore

Mrs. Catherine Gallahan, 66 years old, of Twin Bridges, Mont., yesterday was found in a semi-conscious condition on rocks along the lake shore at the foot of Burnham place, Evanston. She had been missing from the home of her sister, Miss Lillian Zapp, 6931 Greenview avenue, Evanston, for six days, and was suffering from hunger and a heart attack. She was taken to the St. Francis hospital. Police believed she wandered away from Miss Zapp's home and became lost.

RECIPE FOR HOT WATER PASTRY CRUST MAKING

There are those who prefer the mealiness of a hot water pastry crust to the flakiness of one made with thoroughly chilled shortening and water. So for the sake of those who do enjoy the texture of the former, here are the directions:

HOT WATER PASTRY.

½ cup shortening [lard or vegetable shortening]
¼ cup boiling water
1½ cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking powder [optional]

Pour boiling water over shortening, beating until creamy. Cool this slightly. Sift flour, salt and baking powder together, and then sift over the shortening, and mix to a soft dough with a fork. Chill thoroughly covered with waxed paper. Roll and shape. Bake in 450 degree F. oven for 10 to 15 minutes for single pastry shells.

IT'S CRANBERRY JUICE COCKTAIL TIME AND HERE IS THE RECIPE

It's the season for that refreshing breakfast beverage [and chilled dinner cocktail, too]—Cranberry Juice Cocktail.

This may be made in large quantities and sealed in sterilized jars for future use. It goes like this:

CRANBERRY JUICE COCKTAIL.

4 cups cranberries
4 cups water
⅔ cup granulated sugar

Cook the cranberries and water until all the skins pop open, which will take about 5 minutes. Strain through a cheesecloth or very fine sieve. Then bring the juice to the boiling point, add sugar and cook until it boils 2 minutes. Serve cold, or pour into sterilized jars and seal well.

RETAILERS MAKE FEW CHANGES IN PRICES OF FOODS

Lettuce and Spinach Are Lower; Eggs Unsteady.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Retailers have made few changes in the prices of foods this week except to take most of the price tags off the items carried on their bargain counters last Friday and Saturday.

Prices of head lettuce are getting down to normal nearly again, both in the stores and on the wholesale market. The strike in California still is unsettled, but nonunion labor is being used to pack and ship the lettuce and receipts are continuing to increase.

Spinach is lower than last week, but still is considered high. Cooking apples, green beans, and fresh peas are slightly lower in some stores.

Butter Down Slightly.

Butter is down 1 cent a pound. Egg prices are unsteady. Some stores have lowered the price 1 cent a dozen on the cheaper grades of eggs, some have taken off a penny a dozen on all grades and others have raised the price 1 to 4 cents a dozen.

Coffee, flour, and sugar prices are higher generally this week than last, since most stores have put these items back on the regular shelves after featuring them on sales counters last week-end. Most kinds of potatoes are slightly higher than a week ago and some stores have marked up their price tags 3 to 5 cents a peck.

Lamb cuts are being featured by most retail butcher shops. Leg of lamb is about 2 cents a pound cheaper than last week in many stores. Beef rib roasts are slightly lower in most shops.

Fresh Pork Cuts Higher.

Most fresh pork cuts are higher this week than last. Pork sausage advanced as much as 10 cents a pound in some shops. Frying chickens and sirloin steaks are higher.

Most wholesale cuts of fresh meats sold lower this week in Packingtown, according to federal market reporters. While the better grades of beef carcasses held steady with last week's prices, the lower grades dropped about 50 cents a hundred pounds. Wholesale cuts of veal sold 50 cents to $1 a hundred lower than last week.

Most wholesale pork cuts sold steady to 50 cents a hundredweight lower and fat lamb carcasses dropped as much as $1 a hundred. Wholesale prices on the better grades of beef held steady and the lower grades dropped about 50 cents a hundred pounds. Veal cuts sold 50 cents to $1 a hundred lower.

Live Cattle Prices Up.

Prices of live cattle and hogs advanced about 10 to 25 cents a hundred pounds. Live lambs sold 25 to 50 cents a hundred lower than last week.

A comparison of prices today with those of a year ago on about a score of foods indicates that reductions have been made on enough to offset the advances.

Butter is about 6 cents a pound higher than a year ago; American cheese, 4 cents a pound; lower grades of coffee, 1 to 3 cents a pound. The regular run of white potatoes is more than double in price, while Idahos are 10 to 12 cents a peck higher. Head lettuce is higher due to recent strikes in the west. Milk is up 2 cents a quart and canned vegetables are up about 1 cent on a No. 2 can.

Eggs and sugar are off slightly. Lard is down 5 to 6 cents a pound, flour is off 20 to 25 cents on a 24½ pound sack. Butchers are offering bacon at 6 to 12 cents a pound less. Steaks are 6 to 10 cents a pound lower and leg of lamb 4 cents a pound lower.

TRIBUNE RECIPES

RICED BEETS EN CASSEROLE.

3 cups not cooked riced beets
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ cup thick sour cream
3 tablespoons minced green pepper
½ cup buttered bread crums
Cloves, garlic

Prepare the beets by boiling or steaming until tender, rubbing off the skins and pressing through a ricer. Measure and season with the salt, lemon juice, sour cream, and minced green pepper. Rub a greased baking dish with the cut clove of garlic, and pour in the beet mixture. Top with the buttered crums and bake in a moderate oven until well browned.

COTTAGE CHEESE PIE.

1⅔ cups graham cracker crums
⅓ cup sugar
½ cup melted butter
3 cups cottage cheese
¼ cup melted butter
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour
¼ teaspoon salt
Grated rind of one lemon
2 eggs, separated
½ cup raisins
½ cup chopped nuts

The first three ingredients are to form the pie crust. Grease the pie pan. Roll the crackers very finely, then measure. It should take about 22 crackers. Add the sugar and butter, blending well. Now line the pan with 1½ cups of the mixture, pressing it around the bottom and sides and patting down firmly. Next mix together the cottage cheese and the ¼ cup melted butter. Combine with the sugar, salt, and flour which have been mixed together.

Add the lemon rind, beaten egg yolks, nuts, and raisins. Mix thoroughly and turn into the pie pan. Place in a moderate oven [350 degrees F] for 35 minutes, or until the filling is firmly baked. Remove the pie from the oven and pile on top a meringue made by beating the remaining two egg whites until stiff with 4 tablespoons of sugar. Over the top of this sprinkle the remaining cracker mixture and return to the oven just long enough to brown.

FINNAN HADDIE A LA KING.

1 tablespoon butter
½ cup sliced mushrooms
¼ cup chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup thin cream
1½ cups finan haddie, cut in pieces
2 tablespoons butter
2 egg yolks
2 teaspoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon onion juice
Pepper

Melt the tablespoon of butter and cook the mushrooms and green pepper in it for 3 minutes. Blend with the flour and salt, and stir in the cream. When the mixture boils turn into a double boiler top and add the fish. Let cook slowly over hot water. Blend the remaining ingredients together, stir into the fish and sauce, and cook only until the egg has cooked and begun to thicken. Serve with hot baked potatoes or in toast cases.

PEARS BAKED IN MARSHMALLOW SIRUP

8 medium sized pears
16 marshmallows
1½ cups water
½ tablespoon lemon juice

Make a sirup of the marshmallows and water by heating together. Add lemon juice. Pour over the washed pears which are arranged upright in a deep casserole, skins and stems left on. Cover the casserole and bake the bears in a moderate oven for 25 to 40 minutes, depending upon the hardness of the pears.

TESTS SURGICAL REMEDY FOR HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Builds Technique on Jungle Studies.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Dr. George Crile of Cleveland, O., told here today how he developed in the jungles of Africa a new surgical technique that "opens the door" for which he has been searching twenty-four years—a surgical remedy for high blood pressure.

He told members of the Southwest Clinical conference how he and a party of fellow scientists spent three months in Tanganyika, heart of the African "big game" country, studying the anatomy of 220 species of game, ranging from crocodiles to lions.

Their research disclosed, he said, a hitherto unknown "sympathetic complex" embodied in a network of nerves connecting the adrenalin glands.

Power to Meet Emergencies.

This network proved to be the "machinery" through which impulses flow to speed circulation and oxidation of the blood and give an animal power to meet any emergency detected by the senses, Dr. Crile said.

Since his return from Africa last May Dr. Crile has performed numerous operations on persons suffering from high blood pressure and by reducing the activity of this "sympathetic" network has succeeded, he said, in reducing blood pressure.

"This is just opening the door" to an ultimate perfection of the new surgical technique, he said.

How He Evolved Theory.

The surgeon told his listeners he first hit on the theory that some such system might exist after he had found that removal of portions of the adrenalin glands gave only a temporary relief to patients.

He conceived the plan of studying wild animals to determine what it was that controled the adrenalin glands, in the hope a comparison of low orders of life with those more progressively powerful and alert would reveal some consistently more intricate organic structure.

He found that the crocodile, "a lazy animal who has no excitement in his life," had a sympathetic system only one 280,000th of his weight, whereas the lion, "most volatile of beasts," showed a ratio of one to 11,000.

Dr. Crile said wild animals worry only when they can "smell, see, or hear danger, but we worry about dangers and keep worrying, even when we can't see, hear, or smell them." He blamed the complexity of modern life for a steady increase in high blood pressure cases, declaring "as civilization increases in complexity, so do we."

Dr. Crile began his African expedition last November, in coöperation with the Cleveland Museum of Natural History and the biology department of Western Reserve university.

PASTRY LEFTOVERS CAN BE MADE TASTY AS DATE BRAMBLES

Make your leftover pastry into date brambles! They're tasty and just the thing for the luncheon dessert or an afternoon tea accompaniment.

½ cup sliced dates
¼ cup chopped pecans [or other nuts]
1½ tablespoons orange juice
1½ teaspoons lemon juice.
½ recipe flaky pastry

Blend the dates, nuts, and fruit juices. Then roll out the pastry to one-eighth inch thickness. With a floured three-inch cutter cut it into rounds and dampen the edge of each circle with cold water. Place a generous teaspoon of the date filling on one-half of each round and fold over the other half, pressing the edges together firmly. Arrange the turnovers on a floured baking sheet and bake in a hot oven [375 degrees F.] for about 15 minutes.

GEORGE RECTOR THE PRODUCT OF 3 GENERATIONS

Trained as Chef at Home and in France.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

The story of George Rector, the restaurateur, chef of the cordon bleu and famous spokesman for the fine art of dining, who will make his debut as a contributor to THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE on Oct. 18, is part of the saga of a family for three generations. He may be regarded as the last volume of a trilogy that John Galsworthy might have written if he had been an American novelist. But he stands in the foreground, decidedly alive and active; therefore his own memoirs are the matter of immediate interest for future readers of his TRIBUNE articles.

George Rector, named after his grandfather [a hotelkeeper in Lockport and Lewiston, N. Y., in the 1840s], was born in Chicago, in a flat building at the southeast corner of Wabash avenue and Harrison street, in 1878. His father, Charles E., was then a Pullman dining car conductor on the run of the Pennsylvania limited between Chicago and Pittsburgh. Five years later the elder Rector established his Chicago restaurant, now a tradition of the city's downtown life, and the family fortunes improved rapidly.

Family Ship Comes In.

The Rectors moved into a house on Lincoln avenue; then they bought a home on Goethe street between State and Astor streets—a building which is still standing. After his grade school studies George was sent to the Shattuck academy at Faribault, Minn., and later to a preparatory school at Ithaca, N. Y., to be polished up for matriculation at Cornell university. He entered the college of law at Cornell in 1896. By this time his father's fortune was close to its first million.

After he had spent two years as a law student his father invited him to a serious consideration of his future.

"If you are bent upon becoming a lawyer and feel that you have a talent for that profession," said the elder Rector, "I will back you to the limit. But I believe that you should become my successor in this business. It's growing fast. Think it over."

A Common Sense Decision.

George did not take long to come to his decision. He did not have the distaste for the paternal occupation which is typical of American youth; he was, in fact, keen about it. The glamor of the after theater life at Rector's basement restaurant, on Monroe street at Clark street, already had enchanted his imagination. So the fall of 1899 did not find him on Cornell's beautiful campus, "far above Cayuga's waters," but in the kitchen of his father's new restaurant in New York.

There he cleaned chickens, peeled potatoes, washed vegetables, did the greasy chores of a cub apprentice. He also watched the cooks at their simmering pans, listened to the chefs as they discussed recipes and marketing orders, kept his eyes and ears open for all the secrets—and they are many—of the kitchen arts. He spent two happy, educative years there.

Then his father said: "It is time to complete your education. You will go to Paris to learn the methods and tricks of the greatest chefs in the world."

A Post-Graduate Course.

George Rector went to the kitchens of the best restaurants in Paris as buoyantly as an American art student going to the ateliers of the Latin quarter. Cooking, in its European refinements, and table service, in its Gallic graces, was his idea of romance.

He became an apprentice to M. Mourier, proprietor of the Café de Paris, and went into the kitchen to study the mysteries of sauces that gourmets yearn for. He showed such aptitude that after eight months he was made a member of the Société des Cuisiniers de Paris, with a diploma certifying to this effect. In other words, he was accepted as a full fledged Parisian cook.

He was also officially proclaimed by his colleagues a cook of cooks, a supercook, a veritable cordon bleu, and permitted to wear the ribbon of this rank. George Rector is proud of this decoration, but modest about his way of winning it.

On a Heavy Assignment.

While he was in service at the Café de Paris M. Mourier was commissioned to prepare and serve a state luncheon in the Palais des Champs Elysées [the White House of France], where President Loubet was entertaining King Oscar II. of Sweden. Mourier selected the best men on his staf to attend to this official affair, and Rector was among them. He says that he merely helped at odds and ends around the kitchen, but no matter. He had helped to serve the table of royalty. This automatically made him a cordon bleu among cooks.

Then he left the Café de Paris to spend a month in Marguery's restaurant, famous for its filet of sole and other exquisite seafoods, and to become the first American to master the fish sauce that was patiently and brilliantly blended there.

The Final Touch.

To complete his post-graduate studies he spent a month as a guest at the Château Pardaillon, near Bordeaux, where its owner, Eugéne Lacaze, initiated him into the ritual of the vintage. He watched the peasants trampling the grapes in their vats; studied barreling and bottling; became familiar with the lore of the "noble" vintages, especially that of St. Emilion, which is a great wine of the locality.

George Rector returned to New York late in 1902 and immediately took charge of the dining room of Rector's, at 44th street and Broadway, leading restaurant of the theatrical district. There he stayed, meeting all the great folk of the period, until late in 1912, when the de luxe hotel which his father built in 1911 on the site [afterward the Claridge] went into bankruptcy. This catastrophe crushed the elder Rector; he died in 1914.

Crowd Follows the Name.

George had been educated to continue the family tradition, and the loss of the hotel spurred him on. Soon after his father's death he opened Rector's restaurant at 48th street and Broadway, and the Broadway crowd followed the name.

On New Year's eve, 1918, this restaurant seated 1,500 at $10 a plate in advance, and was open with holiday festivity from 10 p. m. to 9 a. m., serving nothing but champagne as table beverage. The champagne receipts through that gala night and morning were $33,000.

He sold this restaurant in 1918 for a fortune, with the stipulation that the family name could not be used. It became the Café Royale and later the Hollywood.

ADD SHERRY OR PORT

If you enjoy broiled grapefruit as a breakfast dish or an appetizer for dinner, you will find that the fruit takes on a subtly different and delicious flavor when a little wine is added. To a half grapefruit which has been cored and sectioned, add one tablespoon brown sugar and two tablespoons of either sherry or port wine. Broil the grapefruit halves until thoroughly heated and seasoned. Serve hot or cold. (The fruit may also be baked in a moderate oven for 20 minutes.)

STUFFING OF RAISINS AND DELICIOUS SAUCE GLORIFY POTROAST

Some day, later on in the fall, you'll want to serve an especially glorified pot roast to special friends. You'll find glorification in this roast with its stuffing of raisins and its deliciously flavored sauce.

Here is the way it's done:

COMPANY POT ROAST.

5 pounds beef chuck or rump roast
½ cup seedless raisins
Salt, pepper, flour
4 tablespoons lard
1 cup hot water

Cut deep slits into the roast, fill with raisins, and skewer or tie together to prevent their dropping out. Dredge the roast with flour and seasonings and brown on all sides in the hot fat. Add the hot water, cover, and cook slowly for about two hours or until tender, adding water as needed. Serve with this sauce:

3 tablespoons minced onion
¼ teaspoon chopped garlic
1 tablespoon butter
½ cup seedless raisins
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
2 teaspoons chili powder
1½ tablespoons corn starch
1 cup cold water

Cook the onion and garlic in the melted butter until it is slightly browned. Add the raisins and Worcestershire sauce. Blend the dry seasonings with the corn starch, smooth to a paste with cold water, and add to the raisin mixture. Cook until thick and clear, stirring constantly. Serve hot with the raisin pot roast.

Lamb Cuts Are Good Meat Buys This Week

The forequarter cuts of lamb—lamb breast, lamb shoulder chops, lamb shoulder roasts—are recommended as the most economical meat buys for Chicago housewives over the coming week-end, according to the committee on marketing information of the meat council of Chicago. At this time of the year lamb stews or lamb roast prepared from these cuts are particularly tasty, the meat council states.

In addition to the good buys offered in lamb, housewives will find some very attractive values in the forequarter cuts of veal—veal shoulder chops, veal breast, and veal shoulder roast, the meat council points out.

DRIED APRICOTS LEND COLOR TO THIS ICE CREAM

Inexpensive Recipe; Servings for Six.

Dried apricots lend their beautiful golden color to this ice cream, which may be frozen in the automatic refrigerator without the least danger of a coarse grained product resulting. Both marshmallows and the rennet custard tablet used insure this smoothness. Note that the cream is inexpensive, as equal parts of milk and whipping cream are used.

APRICOT ICE CREAM.

1 rennet custard tablet
1 tablespoon cold water
6 marshamallows
1 cup milk
¼ cup sugar
Pinch of salt
¾ cup apricot purée [made from ¼ pound dried apricots]
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 cup whipping cream.

Simmer apricots until very tender and then force through coarse sieve to make the purée. Dissolve the rennet tablet in the cold water.

Marshmallows Must Be Melted.

Place marshmallows in the top of a double boiler and heat with ¼ cup of the milk, the sugar and salt until marshmallows are melted.

Remove from the heat and add the rest of the milk. Add the dissolved rennet tablet, stir, and pour immediately into the freezing tray of the mechanical refrigerator. Let stand at room temperature until firm and cool. Then beat in the chilled apricot purée and lemon juice. Whip the cream until stiff and fold into the mixture.

Enough for Six Servings.

Now place tray in the refrigerator and freeze at fastest freezing.

The recipe for making this ice cream in a regular hand turned freezer, using ice and salt, will be sent to you upon receipt of a stamped addressed envelope. This recipe uses even less whipping cream in proportion to the milk because the cranking keeps the cream fine grained. However, the above recipe may also be used in your hand turned freezer.

ADDED FLAVORS WILL PUT TANG IN APPLESAUCE

If you desire other flavors in applesauce than that obtained from apples and sugar, you may add any one of the following ingredients to 4 cups of the sauce:

The juice of one orange.
The juice of one lemon.
Grated rind of one-half orange.
Grated rind of one-half lemon.
One fourth cup of crushed pineapple.
A sprig of fresh mint. [Cook this with the applesauce and remove before serving].
A stick of cinnamon. [Also cook this with the sauce and remove before serving].

And speaking of applesauce, equal parts of cranberry sauce and applesauce make a pleasing dessert or meat accompaniment.

The Germans, it is said, sprinkle their applesauce with chopped almonds and cinnamon. Did you ever try it?

ADDED FLAVORS FOR APPLESAUCE IF YOU THINK IT'S LACKING

Apple butter usually is made from fresh apples, sweet apple cider, sugar and spices, cooked together to the consistency of thick paste suitable for spreading. Less sugar is used for butters than for james and marmalades.

To make apple butter boil sweet cider down one-half its volume. Wash apples, pare, quarter, and core. Then boil together rapidly equal amounts of apples and the boiled down cider. Rapid boiling is necessary in order that the apples may not sink to the bottom and scorch.

Cook until butter is perfectly smooth and watch carefully all of the time in order that burning will not take place. If the butter becomes too thick before it is perfectly smooth add more cider and continue the boiling. Add sugar just when butter is beginning to get smooth, adding only enough to sweeten to taste, as the cider will take care of some of the sweetening. Add ground spices to suit the taste, remembering that apple butter usually is more satisfactory if not highly spiced.

RECIPE REPEATED FOR THE POPULAR MACA-TUNA LOAF

Maca-tuna loaf, always a great favorite, is being reprinted here for the benefit of those praisers who may have lost the recipe. Those to whom the recipe is new, would undoubtedly enjoy trying out this tasty Friday fish dish.

CHOCOLATE IS ALL-AMERICAN FLAVOR 'PET'

BY MARY MEADE.

Chocolate—the all-American flavor! You order chocolate malted milk at the drug store, you beg mother, sister or wife to make chocolate cake, you consume more chocolate candy and cookies than are good for you, you smack your lips over chocolate pie, chocolate custard, chocolate bread pudding, chocolate ice cream. You do all this if you're an average American, that is. It's customary. It's traditional. We all like chocolate!

Chocolate custard, chocolate cream tapioca, and chocolate mocha cream are three formulas for a happy ending to a meal. Serve with any of these desserts the little chocolate sandwich "store cookies" which are so crisp and delicious and you'll be able to satisfy for a time the demands of your chocolate-palated family.

CHOCOLATE CUSTARD—Melt 1 square of chocolate over hot water. Add ½ cup sugar and ½ cup water and bring to a boil, stirring constantly until thick. Pour 1½ cups scalded milk over 2 slightly beaten eggs, stirring constantly. Add with a few grains of salt to the chocolate mixture in the top of the double boiler. Cook slowly, stirring constantly until the custard becomes as thick as heavy whipping cream. Cool at once and add ¾ teaspoon vanilla. Pour into sherbet glasses. Serve topped with whipped cream or with plain cream.

CHOCOLATE CREAM TAPIOCA—Cook ⅓ cup quick tapioca, ¼ teaspoon salt, and 4 cups scalded milk in the top of a double boiler until the tapioca is clear [about 15 minutes]. Add ½ cup sugar. Pour a small amount of the hot mixture over 2 slightly beaten egg yolks, stirring vigorously. Return to the double boiler and cook until thickened. Remove from fire and add 1 teaspoon vanilla. Fold in a sauce made from 1 square melted chocolate, 3 tablespoons water, 4 tablespoons sugar, and 1¼ tablespoons melted butter. Finally, fold into the pudding 2 stiffly beaten egg whites. Chill.

CHOCOLATE MOCHA CREAM—Melt one bar of sweet chocolate in the top of a double boiler. Add 1⅓ cups sweetened condensed milk and stir over boiling water until the mixture thickens. Slowly add 1 cup strong black coffee and 2 cups whipped cream, stirring constantly. Pour into freezing tray and freeze to mush. Remove to bowl, beat until smooth, and replace in tray to finish freezing.

Then here's a recipe for chocolate refrigerator pie made in somewhat the same manner.

Chocolate Refrigerator Pie

2 squares unsweetened chocolate
¾ cup sugar
¼ cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup boiling water
1 cup evaporated milk
3 egg yolks
1 tablespoon butter
½ teaspoon vanilla
1½ dozen lady fingers or sponge cake fingers

Melt the chocolate in the top of the double boiler. Add sugar which has been mixed with flour and salt. Blend and add boiling water and evaporated milk. Cook for about 25 minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour chocolate sauce over well beaten egg yolks and beat vigorously to avoid curdling. Return to double boiler and add butter. Cook until smooth and thick. Add vanilla and cool. Pour over lady fingers which have been used to line bottom of pie pan. Chill well in refrigerator.

Consistency Is Necessary in Child Discipline

Too Many Commands Only Confuse Youngster.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Without further preamble, let us, in this third article on obedience, get down to definite suggestions. Here are some points which will prove helpful:

Be consistent. Children often seem to disobey when it's only that they are confused. So don't overlook an act one day for which you punish or scold a child the next.

Be reasonable in your demands. Don't talk too much and give too many commands. Children often, and quite unconsciously, become "deaf" in selfdefense.

Get rid of the "command" angle. Don't issue orders except on rare and necessary occasions. Ordering about can be most irritating. Ask your child to do things in a pleasant voice, and with an I-take-it-for-granted-this-will-be-done air.

Another most important factor in gaining obedience without a lot of fuss, especially with younger children, is giving them time to obey. They can't switch their attention quickly if they're completely absorbed in some activity.

The next suggestion will not find favor with a great many parents and relatives, but I know it works. You should be just as considerate of your children as you are of grown ups. It is unfair to interrupt youngsters unnecessarily. Their play is as important to them as our occupations are to us. Besides, too much distraction is not good for their power of concentration, which they possess to a remarkable degree, when little.

Don't be annoyed if you have to call them or give them a direction more than once. Children often hear with their ears only, not with their minds. And you shouldn't expect instant obedience anyhow, except on special occasions, and then you can easily command it by your tone of voice.

State clearly what you want your child to do.

And, be willing to explain to your child why you must require that certain things be done. This advice has to be followed with much discretion, because it is not good for mother and child continuously to have to thrash out the doing of every routine act.

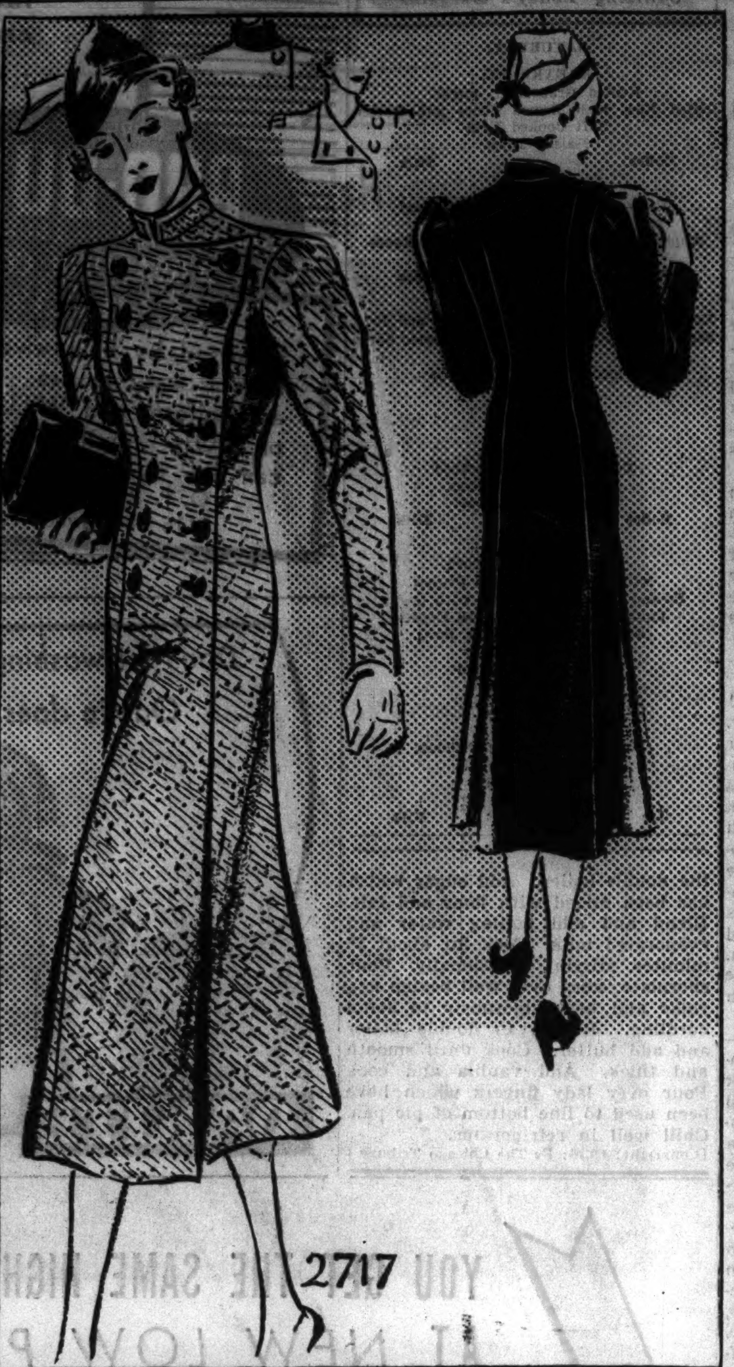
Wearability Is Chief Charm



WOMEN'S AND MISS' COAT DRESS.

Wearability is the chief charm of this coat dress, which is tailored to the last inch. It has princess lines varied with a military effect, and is an ideal factor in any business, college, or general daytime wardrobe.

The dress features a double-breasted effect in the buttom trimming down the coat like front panel. The military neckline is convertible. The sleeves puff generously at the shoulders, and the skirt swings in just the right proportions below the hipline.

Paneling achieves the distinctive fit of this dress. It makes it cling trimly to the bust, hips, and waistline, and yet flare gracefully in the skirt.

For practical wear nothing could be lovelier than novelty woolens and rich velveteen. This frock may be made in crêpe silk, satin back crêpe, and velvet for dressier purposes.

Style No. 2717 is designed for sizes 14, 16, and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 5½ yards of 39 inch material with ⅝ yard of binding for the collar.

Fans and Jewelry of Other Days Shown at Hobby Exhibition

Antique fans and jewelry, dating back to the middle 15th century, were described by their collector, Mrs. Herbert Byfield, yesterday, in a lecture at the Chicagoland Collectors' Hobby show on the ninth floor of Mandel Brothers store. The show will continue through Oct. 17.

The 15th century piece was a tiny enamel on gold creation, St. George and the Dragon, of German origin, once worn by men as a watch charm. In the collection also were several pomanders, tiny metal flasks, sometimes shaped like powder horns, which contained a sponge and aromatic spirits. Gentlemen in the 17th century in England, when sanitation was imperfect, held them to their noses while walking along the streets to shut out less pleasant odors.

Other collections include one of early American sugar bowls and one of glass cup plates, used to rest cups on when coffee was drunk from saucers. From the collection of Leon Mandel are the first editions of "Alice in Wonderland" and Robert Herrick's "Hesperides and Noble Numbers," the first folio of Spenser's "Faërie Queene," published in 1609,

Some Men Like Clinging Vine, Others Do Not

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"If any one tries to tell you, Doris, that being helpless isn't a paying game, send them around for a talk with me," writes Helpless.

It seems that Helpless has been doing some thinking lately. She began to find herself in that unenviable position spot of being left to look after herself. "I'm one of those girls who would just be left to drown because I look so capably able to save myself!" she tells. "Or, I was. Rather, I still am able to look after myself, but I'm practicing a rôle of not appearing to be so darned capable and efficient. And does it work? For the first time in my career I had a man say to me on my last date: 'You poor darling. You need some one to look after you.' Was that music to my ears?"

Helpless wants us to understand, of course, that she has not developed into any fainting lady or swooning one. But she isn't a door opener any more. She isn't a match offerer, either. She lets the man light her cigaret for her. She even is asking them how to do this and that, a trick she wouldn't have countenanced a year ago.

She asks what we think of her changed system.

Any system that is working out successfully would not call for advice on its continuance, it seems to us. Unless one were in danger of overdoing. One just might develop the technique to such a point that it became a pain in the neck even to the strong, silent sex. But we think our particular Helpless' sense of humor would save her from extremes.

Our opinion is that men are inconsistent about the helpless femme. They want her that way part of the time only. We'd say that when a man is in an expansive mood he would like to play the stalwart rôle. When he is taking her out evenings, let's say, when she is out with him among friends. He would rather she had that trick of "you-great-big-strong-wonder" than to make moves that would injure his position, as with a dominating, independent spirit. Nevertheless, we feel that the modern man is so used to women who can do things capably for themselves and support themselves, compete with them in business and in sports the way they do, that too much helplessness is as bad as too much independence.

Mt. Vernon Ladies Acquire Four Washington Chairs

La Grange, Ind., Oct. 8.—Eugene O. Fisher has sold four Windsor chairs, formerly owned by George Washington, to the Mount Vernon Ladies' association of Mount Vernon, Va. A relative of Washington sold the chairs to an nacestor of Mr. Fisher, who has had them for forty years. Mr. and Mrs. Fisher have used them continuously in their home here. Members of the La Grange de Lafayette chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution wrote to Mount Vernon, giving numbers of the chair bottoms and it was determined they at one time were owned by Washington, and used at Mount Vernon.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

THE LIMIT BID PRINCIPLE.

We have seen that, by assigning a specific bidding level to a special kind of bid, partner [and, alas, the opponents] can identify the particular type of his partner's unseen hand. He will know the number of total winners, the number of defensive honor tricks, the length of most of his suits, and even the chance of scoring game, slam, part-score, or the danger of being heavily penalized. All this is made possible by another basic principle of bridge, the principle of limit bids.

Virtually every bid carries with it the information that that particular hand has a certain minimum of honor strength and suit lengths. These minimum requirements as to honor strength or length of suits will vary greatly according to the particular kind of bid as recognized by its particular bidding level and position. You can jump your partner's opening three no trump bid directly to six no trump if you hold Q J 4 3 2 and an outside honor trick, but you cannot raise your partner's opening four spade bid to six spades even with four honor tricks. It all depends on the agreed minimums which are attached to every bid.

It also is possible to limit the maximum of the hand and thus render the bidding more precise and, at the same time, simpler. These minimum-maximum limits of each bid form a logical series of inferences.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	1 spade	Pass
1 no tr'p	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
2 no tr'p	Pass	3 no tr'p	Pass
Pass	Double [final bid]

No one could have accused North of timidity in the bidding. His spades and hearts hardly were so robust that each should come in for a full bid and then the no trump be raised as well.

West decided to open the only unbid suit, and accordingly laid down the ace and another diamond. Dummy won the second lead and led the jack of spades. East and declarer ducked. West won with the king. West now shifted to a low club. Declarer captured East's queen and shifted, on his own account, to the lead of the ace and a low heart. West properly ducked the second round, but declarer went right up with dummy's queen. A low diamond to the jack [West discarding a spade]. Then another lead up to dummy's remaining 9-5 of hearts was taken by West with the king [East discarding the five of clubs]. West, still fearing the spade situation, exited with his last heart. While dummy's nine won, East made the horrible discard of the club eight, hanging on to all of his spade queen guards for dear life. Declarer let go the four of clubs. After cashing the last diamond trick declarer entered his hand with the spade ace and laid down the club jack. West won, but East's ingloriously falling ten spot settled the hash of the defenders. West was forced to return a club to declarer's miraculously promoted seven spot for the doubled contract's fulfilment.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Is it correct to request a review of the bidding at any time before the opening lead is made?

Answer: Before the opening lead a player may ask to have previous calls restated only when it is his turn to call, or when the bidding has been closed by three consecutive passes.

Clubs Arrange Programs for Election Night

BY JUDITH CASS.

WHATEVER their political affiliations fashionable folk already are making plans for election night and all the clubs that have announced parties for the night of Tuesday, Nov. 3, rapidly are filling their reservation lists. The Casino's cards are just out for "dinner with direct broadcast returns starting at 8 o'clock—dancing," and the Tavern and the Saddle and Cycle haven't sent their announcements out yet, but all three clubs already give promise of being filled to overflowing that night.

The entertainment committee of the Tavern met yesterday to make plans for the Nov. 3 party and for the Halloween dinner-dance that will be the first club affair in the newly decorated rooms. Andrew Rebori, William C. Boyden, John Root, John Cromelin, and Alfred MacArthur are the men who direct the entertainment policy of the club. They decided yesterday to have an amplifier in every room and to have elaborate old-time decorations that night, but no explanation of exactly what the decorations will be was forthcoming at this time. They also decided to have music, but whether it will be for dancing is another detail still to be settled. There will be a competent analyst there, however, to interpret the returns.

There will be at least one guest at the Tavern that night who won't go far from the amplifier, even if there is dancing, nor will she need an analyst to interpret the returns for her, for she is an able politician herself. She is Mrs. Jacob Baur and she is to be the especial guest of a large party the Charles H. Chadwicks will give that night.

The Sunday tally-ho breakfasts that were so popular with Tavern club members last year will be resumed on Sunday, Nov. 8.

Saddle and Cycle Plans Buffet Dinner.

The Saddle and Cycle is having its annual Halloween dinner-dance on Saturday, Oct. 31, and it also will have a party on election night, but there will be no dancing to compete with the returns. Dinner will be served buffet style that night and then the members and their guests may play games, according to the president, Robert Stevenson, if just listening to returns isn't entertainment enough.

Some of the country clubs undoubtedly will plan parties for election night, but so far we have heard of none that has done so. The Onwentsia club is having its last club party of the season on Saturday, Oct. 24, but instead of calling it a harvest home party, it is to be a "Hail and Farewell" one.

Three Benefits at Lake Forest.

Lake Foresters will hear a lecture this morning and another tomorrow night to benefit Druce Lake camp, and tonight they will see a movie and a fashion show to benefit the Emilie Lehmann Peacock Camp for Crippled Children at Lake Villa. The lectures will be given by Edward Weeks, editor-in-chief of the Atlantic Monthly Press, at Ferry hall, this morning's at 11 o'clock and tomorrow night's at 8:30. "The Importance of New Books" will be discussed by Mr. Weeks today, and "From Manuscript to Best Seller" tomorrow.

Mr. Weeks is to spend the weekend with Mrs. Francis Beidler and her son, Francis Beidler Jr., who are entertaining at dinner tonight and tomorrow night for their guest. Mrs. William F. Peter is giving him a luncheon today. Numerous dinners have been planned to precede tomorrow night's lecture.

Tonight's benefit is the raison

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

WHEN Writers Sam Blythe and Frank R. Kent stopped in to see Ernest Byfield a few evenings ago at the Ambassador hotel they found him absorbed in Victor Heiser's "Odyssey of an American Doctor." Mr. Byfield commented that the opening paragraph of the first chapter was the best first paragraph he has ever read, and the three men got into a discussion of the Johnstown flood, with which the chapter deals. Mr. Blythe had covered the flood for his newspaper. A man named Sulka had lived in the town at the time of the flood, he said. He had had a little haberdashery shop. When his store was swept away he set up a tent and started doing business. Business under the tent was brisk and got better and better. . . . You might like to think of the man named Sulka setting up his tent after the flood when you see the handsome establishments of Sulka & Co. on the Rue de Rivoli, in a fashionable London street, and on 5th avenue.

Miss Symons Makes Hit as Marguerite

Chicago Soprano Appears in "Faust."

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Charlotte Symons, an attractive and gifted Chicago soprano who made her Chicago debut with the San Carlo Opera company two years ago and has since joined the staf of New York's Metropolitan, sang Marguerite at the Auditorium last night in the San Carlans' production of "Faust."

She won her audience with "The King of Thule," early in the second act. Approval turned to enthusiasm a few minutes later when the young singer went gayly through the "Jewel Song" without any of the vocal or histrionic gaucherie for which the scene provides such choice opportunities. The brilliant ease with which she executed the aria's musical gymnastics was no more important in the final result than the restrained and skilful acting by which the girlish excitement of the heroine was made credible.

◆

The philosopher who sold his soul for youth and love spoke in the light tenor voice of Rolf Gerard. He handled that first gentle greeting to Marguerite in the village square in a movingly lyric manner. The point is important in the drama because it serves to distinguish the sincerity of the young Faust from the cynicism of his infernal mentor. The "Salut Demeure," too, profited by Gerard's skilled use of his highly attractive mezzo-piano.

If one were asked to name the quality which, more than any other, is responsible for the success of the San Carlo people, the answer would certainly be the vigor of its performances. "Faust" wore its seventy-odd years lightly last night, and its tunes became fresh and piquant under the vital baton of Carlo Peroni. Everybody in the show gives his all. Witness Kravitt's "Calf of Gold," where the singer deliberately subordinated the sensuous beauty of his voice to the task of making Mephistofeles' sardonic humors real.

And pretty Charlotte Bruno's enthusiastic portrayal of Siebel, with the "Flower Song" as carefully and conscientiously done as if the occasion were a world première.

Chicago will play host to the two best known American baritones next week, when John Charles Thomas and Lawrence Tibbett make appearances here only four days apart. The first comes to the Chicago Stadium on Columbus day, Oct. 12, as soloist with the United States Navy band. Admission prices are low and the proceeds go to charity.

Tibbett is due Friday, Oct. 16, for an Orchestra hall recital which will serve to inaugurate a notable concert series sponsored by the newly organized Stage Arts association.

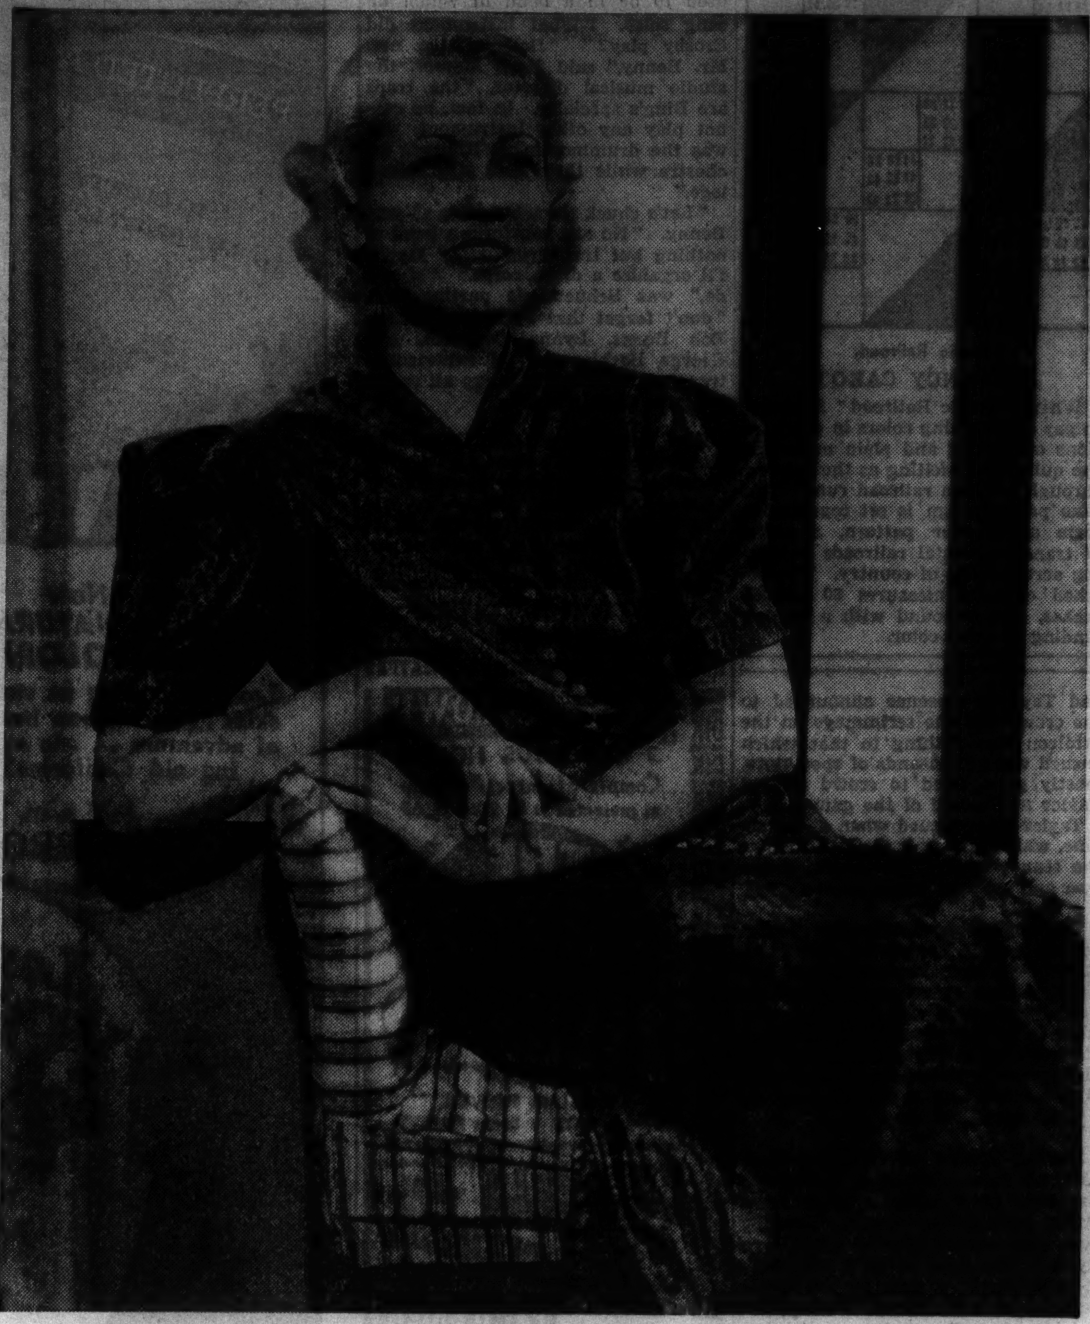
Owners Nervous, So Schurz Foundation Returns Art

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Thirteen valuable paintings were on their way back to Germany today, Wilbur K. Thomas, secretary of the Carl Schurz Foundation, said, because their owners "became nervous" about lending them for an exhibition. "The German museums which loaned the pictures became worried because they had never been off the walls before," he said. Thomas asserted "the great bulk" of the collection, which later will appear in Chicago and other cities, came to Philadelphia as scheduled.

Metallic Cloth for Dinner Dress



[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

Nazis Remove Strict Ban on Evening Gown

BERLIN, Oct. 8.—Now that Joseph Goebbels has restored the swallow-tail coat and white tie as respectable evening wear for Nazi heroes, the "HJ," official organ of the Hitler Youth, today restored the evening gown as equally respectable dress for Nazi girls, but with qualifications.

The League of German Girls, which is part of the Hitler Youth, says the organ, is still suspicious of the evening gown and does not worship it because of the "stale spirit of the yesterdays that sometimes clings to it. But," the organ continues, "we must not act like those men whose socialism is so great they must go to the opera in knickerbockers.

"No, that is not the way. The league uniform has its place, namely, on duty. The folk dance costume where it belongs, namely, in the meadows. But on festive occasions which carry us beyond comradely circles we should festively adorn ourselves, take joy in pretty clothes and join in without hesitation.

◆

"Evening gowns have been overcome. The pretty festive dress has a meaning again because it is worn again not by the rigid wax collars of yesterday but by beautiful and joyous persons. Why should we dress in sackcloth when the heavens have presented us with silk?"

The round eyed admiration with which German men regarded the well dressed and well manicured foreign women visiting Berlin during the Olympics may have contributed to this pronouncement.

Revive Fringe to Trim Many Stylish Outfits

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Along with a lot of other revivals, such as lace, feathers, bows and romantic looking costume jewelry, comes fringe. Fringe, only about half of an inch long, is used in diagonal bands on the skirts and short sleeved blouses of afternoon dresses. Long sleeved jackets to wear with long or short separate skirts come in white, brown, black and emerald green. These jackets are grand buys, for they can be the smart upper half of a cocktail costume, a Sunday night dress or the top accent of formal evening gowns doubling for dinner.

◆

One of the most beautiful party dresses comes in a luscious rose red shade. The fringe is used in three tiers on the slim skirt, covers the bodice and hangs over the edge of the very short sleeves. Gold fringe is the stunning contrast for straight slim dinner dresses of velvet. You can buy fringe by the yard and revamp any dated gown you own, as quickly as it takes you to sew the fringe into place.

Fringe trims high felt hats with a sort of volcanic eruption effect, the fringe pouring out of the top. Fringe is used for tie belts and sashes. For simple afternoon dresses of either wool or silk. And wool fringe trims the newest of house coats of wool as well as the many trim little separate wool jackets to wear for street and afternoon.

Fashion photograph. . . . One of the first of the newest dinner dresses made in the smart afternoon dress length. Perky puffed sleeves end at the elbow. The rolling collar is small. The skirt flares and dozens of tiny covered buttons march down the front. The metallic material is amazingly soft and easy to wear. This model has a flattering leaf green tone as a background. It is from a collection of dinner and afternoon dresses in a Chicago shop.

Miss Grahame Knocked Out by Film Blow

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—The most embarrassed young man in Hollywood is Gordon Jones, former 190 pound guard and varsity weight thrower for University of California at Los Angeles in 1930, 1931, and 1932. Jones recently became a contract featured player at the RKO-Radio studios.

Jones was playing opposite Margot Grahame in "Night Waitress." They were out in a 45 foot sailing schooner off San Pedro harbor with the cameraman lurking at the other end of the boat. A scene came up requiring 190 pound Jones to punch 107 pound Margot on the jaw. He was trying to prevent her from leaving his boat. The way they rehersed it the athlete swung but missed Miss Grahame's beautifully curved chin by a fraction of an inch. The camera was angled so that the blow looked like a kayo.

When Director Lew Lander [the last name used to be Friedlander] finished the rehersing and called for a "take," the boat tilted at just the wrong moment, throwing Miss Grahame's chin right into the path of Jones' fist.

The trained nurse, Mary, who had accompanied the film troupe to sea, revived the actress after a couple of minutes, but 16 hours later Jones was still apologizing.

The earl of Warwick [Charles Greville], who arrived by plane yesterday, has taken a small bungalow not far from M-G-M studio for his residence during his contract as a featured film actor.

Paramount has written a long term contract with Albert Lewin, production associate of the late Irving Thalberg, and will start Lewin at producing pictures in the spring. Lewin must finish "The Good Earth" at Metro studio. During the year's preparation and filming of this picture he was Thalberg's right hand man. After this he will take a vacation of four months in Europe before assuming his new job.

Robert Taylor flew to San Francisco and sat on the bench with St. Mary's when that team, coached by his friend, Ed [Slip] Madigan, played and won from the University of California, 10-0, last Saturday. Some one had Taylor's presence announced to the crowd and the scrimmage on the gridiron was nothing to that which ensued when thousands of spectators, mostly girls, tried to crowd around Taylor at the end of the game.

Taylor was rescued when a fire engine, which always is stationed under the stands during the game, drove over and took the young actor aboard.

One of the subordinate players with Sonja Henie in her movie, "One in a Million," in Hollywood, is Aileen Riggin, one time American and Olympic Antwerp games diving champion who later turned professional. Miss Riggin has been acting as swimming and diving double in movies. Her rôle in Miss Henie's film is as a member of a girls' skating chorus.

During filming of "College Holiday" at Paramount, Jack Benny got the idea of forming a band from actors around the studio. Looking over the contract list he noted Lew Ayres. "He used to be a star with a hotel band," a man in the music department told Benny. "All right, put him down," said Benny. "What does he play?" "Everybody knows he's the best trap drummer in the movie colony," said Fred Schuessler, studio casting director.

Going down the alphabetical list Benny spotted the name of Bennie Bartlett, boy actor. Benny likes Bennie. "That kid play anything?" he asked. "For a youngster he's tops as a trap drummer," Schuessler replied. Benny looked at the casting director over his glasses, but withheld comment. Past the "A's" and "B's" he came to the "C's." "Bing Crosby," he mused. "I remember what he used to be in a band in which he sang solos. "What instrument did Crosby play?" "Believe it or not, Mr. Benny," said Boris Morros, the studio musical director, "the traps are Bing's specialty. In fact, he cannot play any other instrument. He was the drummer in Al Rinker's orchestra while they were still in college."

"Let's chuck the whole thing," said Benny. "No one can form a band of nothing but trap drummers. Maybe I'll organize a drum corps." "If you do," was Schuessler's parting shot, "don't forget that Fred MacMurray, Bob Burns, Lynne Overman, and George Barbier are all experienced trap drummers and they're all under contract at this studio."

The newly organized Grand National studio has been sounding out Twentieth Century-Fox about leasing part of the Western Avenue-Fox studios in the heart of Hollywood from which the merged Twentieth Century-Fox corporation is withdrawing to concentrate all production activities in Westwood.

Warner Oland broke a date last Sunday in order to drive to Santa Barbara, Cal., 200 miles when you figure the drive there and back. Object of his trip: To bring back Mathilda Snell. Mathilda is Oland's cook and he wanted some home cooking.

Pacific Railroad.

BY NANCY CABOT.

When "Pacific Railroad" is pieced in gay and striking colors in combinations of printed and plain materials, the quilt is as exciting as the country through which a railroad runs. This nine patch design is set together to form an all-over pattern, a series of transcontinental railroads stretching across miles of country. The finished coverlet measures 90 by 108 inches, and is bound with a narrow binding of solid color.

Kendall Lingle will speak on "The Political Life of the Lower North Community" at a buffet dinner of the Woman's University club at 6 o'clock this evening at its headquarters, 410 South Michigan avenue. Dr. Julia Strawn, chairman of the civics committee, will be in charge.

The Black Automatic

By William Byron Mowery

SYNOPSIS.

Inspector Noel Irving of the Canadian Mounted dynamites the hideout of Frank Rocco, master criminal, not knowing two women were with him. Noel is discharged, disgraced, while Rocco becomes a glorified legend. Noel receives a midnight call in his Winnipeg apartment from an engaging young stranger, who calls himself Jimmy, and asks Noel to be his partner in a secret prosperous venture, and to help him outwit the gang who are pursuing him. While they are talking Jimmy is shot dead. Noel and his friend, Sergt. Spencer, search for clews as to Jimmy's identity, but find none, except a small picture of a beautiful girl who looks like him. Noel is suspected of implication. He sets out to clear his name and avenge Jimmy's murder. He learns the lad was a flyer, and finds his monoplane, and that he was recently in Fort McMurray. Noel flies the 'plane there, hoping to trap and learn the identity of the murder gang. At the outpost Noel introduces himself as Lanier, a prospector. He learns Jimmy's headquarters were at Manitou. Noel meets Harla De Long, a research worker for the Indian bureau, and realizes she is Jimmy's sister. Noel reluctantly agrees to fly her to Manitou. She obviously knows nothing of her brother's death. An indirect attack by the gang is made on Noel's life. Harla recognizes the plane as Jimmy's and grows suspicious of Noel. Noel fears that Harla, who is a crack shot, would impulsively go gunning for the gang if he tells her the truth. On the trip to Manitou they are attacked by a mysterious monoplane and forced to land near a rocky islet where they take refuge. Their plane is set on fire and the enemy guard against their escape.

INSTALMENT XVII.

A DESPERATE CHANCE.

When Harla calmed herself and looked out again, in the purple twilight of 10:30, four of those men were clambering out of the gray plane, with rifles and paddles, and getting into the canoes, two men to each.

As the canoes pushed away from the ship, she reached for her rifle, thinking that they were going to skirl in and attack, in the failing light. But instead of coming any nearer they started to make a wide circle around the islet, one canoe going east and the other west; and with a gasp of dismay she realized that they intended to patrol the island, during the brief half-dark, and see that their prisoners did not escape.

"Cowards!" she flung at them. "Six of you, with a machine gun, and you're too yellow to face one man and a girl!"

A few minutes later Noe stirred and sat up. "Hello. How's everything been on the western front?" Through the "door" of their bowlder niche he caught a glimpse of the patrolling canoes. The sight of them did not seem to daunt him the slightest. "Humph! All they'll get out of that is exercise and mosquito bites. We're going to leave this place, girl."

His assurance, as firm and hard as the granite rock that she leaned against, lifted Harla a little from her despair. Danger, to this companion of hers, seemed part of the day's work. The shadow of death seemed an old acquaintance of his.

Noel crept outside cautiously for juniper bark and lichen, came back, replenished their smudge.

As a piece of bark flared into tiny flame, lighting up the lean jaw and gray unfathomable eyes of her companion, Harla found herself, for the hundredth time that day, trying to pierce the hard silence that clothed him. Who was he? No knockabout prospector, as he purported to be. Versatile and smooth, he played the rôle not badly, but he simply was not of the tribe. Essentially he was a city person.

From his face her eyes went to the blackened skeleton of the Diomede, yonder; and an unbearable harassment welled up in her. She would never know, now, whether that ship had been Jimmy's own. Unless this man told her. And he would not speak.

"Noel!"—her anxiety and suspicions came breaking out. All day she had fought to keep her thoughts to herself, but she could no longer fight them back.

"What, Harla?" He leaned forward, solicitous toward her, and the little flame lit up his features clearly. "What's the trouble, girl?"

"You!" she flashed at him. "Why don't you try telling me the truth about yourself and these men? I've got a right to know. I'm into this fix as deep as you are."

"The truth?" he echoed, frowning as though perplexed. His face was a picture of bewilderment. "I don't get you."

"You do, you do get me! You lied to me about yourself. A prospector, you? You're a million miles from being one. And this feud between yourself and these men—don't tell me again that it's 'just a little bad blood over a claims dispute.' It's a war, a vicious and brutal war; and you're party to it!"

She paused for breath, then stormed on: "You haven't told me one truthful word about yourself. Won't your business in this country bear daylight? Are you afraid for your real name to be known? That's what I think. You wouldn't be hiding your name and business if you didn't have to! I've been trying to believe well of you, but I can't. You may have brains and class and all that, but I'd rather associate with an honest person, like Strap."

He winced at that. It surprised Harla that her words could cut him so deeply when he was proof against nearly everything else. As he stirred uneasily under the lash of her charges she was contrite for her outbreak. Into her mind came the memory of how Noel had shielded her with his own body that morning as they raced across the landwash through the spray of bullets, and of how he dashed outside that afternoon and brought her a drink of water at risk of death from that machine gun.

To her amazement Noel did not say a word in his own defense. After a few moments he said quietly: "I'm sorry you think I'm a liar and worse, Harla. But let it go. For the present, at least, let's try to be friends. We're in the same boat, we're 'nto some bad white water; and we've got to go down through it together. Let's save our lives, if we can, and then"—he forced a smile—"then we can quarrel."

It was on her lips to demand point blank: "That Diomede was my brother's, and how did you get it?" But she kept silent, not mortally sure about the plane. And wariness cautioned her not to throw down all her cards. Though she could not quite believe it, there was a chance that this stony-silent companion of hers might be one of Jimmy's enemies. Might even be their superbly capable leader whom Jimmy had mentioned.

That Diomede—there was the heart of the question. If the ship really had been her brother's then this man was one of those enemies. He had to be. Jimmy had had no friend, no partner.

The sun finally inched out of sight, but its beautiful orange afterglow lingered. Harla turned her wristwatch to the tiny glow. On this breakaway she was tacitly taking the lead, because of her bush-loping experience.

"Eleven o'clock; we ought to be leaving," she said to Noel, trying hard to be matter of fact with him. As he had said, they were in the same boat, the same desperate plight; and she had to accept partnership with him whether she liked it or not. "Before we go we'll fix a smudge that will last several hours. As long as those men see a good smudge going they'll think we're still here."

Noel slipped outside for reeds and bark and wet moss. After mixing the dry stuff with the damp sphagnum, Harla arranged the material in a little long ridge and lighted one end of it.

Reluctantly they abandoned Harla's rifle. On the dark gantlet ahead it would be too heavy a drag. They dared take nothing but two wire weaves from the blanket roll.

Glad to leave their cramped hot prison, they crept out of the rock nest and down to the last small bowlder on the west landwash.

The afterglow had faded from the high clouds, and the major stars were out. The gray plane was invisible, and the canoe patrolling that west side was only a dim mottle on the water.

While Harla unlaced her boots and slipped off her outer clothes, she listened to the slapping of the nearest muskrats and beavers, and fixed the direction in mind—straight toward red Mars above the western horizon.

They wrapped their boots and clothes and Noel's automatic in the blankets; made a compact little bundle, spindle shaped so that it would push through the water easily; and laced it tightly with a boot cord.

Bent low, they slipped across the muddy landwash into the shallows.

Hollywood Dancers Desert Chorus Will Enter Drama Schools

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 8.—(AP)—The urge to play drama, spreading like an epidemic through dancing circles, is creating a shortage of chorines in Hollywood, Dance Director Dave Gould said tonight.

What the drouth did to the crops, he said, ambition is doing to presentable movie choruses. Nobody wants to be a dancer any more. All the girls are studying the drama and holding out for acting contracts.

"Believe it or not," he continued, "it took me three months to find 350 girls for a recent picture. Why, a year ago you could spot that many in three 'calls.' But now the girls want something bigger and better."

A number of dancers have gone to Oliver Hinsdell, M-G-M dramatic coach, Hinsdell said, and asked to be included in his training school.

Marion Edwards, formerly a movie dancer, seems to have started the parade away from choruses. She went into a federal theater project last year and finally "arrived" in the New York stage play, "Stage Door."

"Joan Crawford and Virginia Bruce and Mary Carlisle started in the chorus," the girls chorus. "And if they can get out, why can't we?"

Impeccable Use of Grammar Is Vital to Charm

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Yesterday we talked on voice in this charm cultivation series. There's more to say on and for this highly pleasing charm asset.

You must get the sound of your own voice in your own ear. But you must get it by sharp, critical listening. Don't depend upon any one to tell you the truth if your voice is not pleasing. No one will tell you and you probably would say they were catty if they did. Singing lessons, even though you never expect to sing even before your family, are worth the money spent in developing a beautiful speaking voice. Maybe just a few lessons from a voice coach would be all you'd need. Anyway, if you can afford it, take up voice culture for, as said, a pleasing voice is an asset that will serve you well, no matter what your vocation or activity.

Don't talk at the top of your head, or at the top of your lungs, either. Speak clearly and, above all, slowly, if you detect vocal errors. Only by slow speech practice can you tell whether you're running your words together, flattening your vowels, and dropping your g's. Besides, the slower enunciation will round out your vocal tone. Practice breathing exercises. Anything you do to improve your breathing apparatus will react to the voice's good. Listen and learn from those who are known for the beautiful quality of their voices. Listen and learn from the better radio announcers and speakers. Listen to their pronunciation, to the clarity with which they round out a word.

Mental and physical poise influence the quality of tone enormously. You know the high pitched nervous voice for what it is, the screechy, hectic tones.

For pronunciation get a small dictionary of words in ordinary use. You may be forgiven the tonal quality, but never for mispronunciation of ordinarily used words and gross grammatical errors. You can get books at low cost which will set you right on pronunciations and other pitfalls in English. From these you will learn that "be-kuz" should be "be-kaws"; that "col-yumm" should be "col-um"; that "figger" should be "fig-yure"; "film" is not pronounced "fill-um" and "rek-og-nize" is not "rek-a-nize"; "sek-re-ter-ry" is not "sek-a-ter-ry", and hundreds of other mistakes will be unfolded.

Common grammatical errors will be pointed out, so that those who say "If I was you" or "Between you and I" will know they need brushing up on grammar.

Naturally, the vocal tone and diction should be conquered before one expects to please in a conversational way or shine as an interesting talker. Tomorrow we shall go into conversational grace and, if space permits, into other departments of charm breeding and dispensing.

Confederate Vets and G. A. R. to Meet Jointly

Augusta, Ga., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Georgia confederate veterans voted at their annual convention here today to meet with the Grand Army of the Republic at Gettysburg, Pa., in 1938. It was the first time the Georgians had agreed to a meeting with their former foes at the scene of one of the principal civil war battles.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

One of the compact sensations of the season is actually in the envelope design, though it's made of metal. You'll love to own it and to flash it around because it's so chic. It's a slender little case, slim and flat, finished in gold chromium, with a silver flap. Contrasting metals, you see, and the effect is as smart as anything you'll be seeing this season.

While it's ingenius, we are happy to say that it isn't gadgety, which is usually the curse of the trick compact. It's simple in the most aristocratic fashion and well constructed. The flap, which can be initialed, by the way, springs open at a light touch on an all but invisible hinge set in the lower edge.

Flipped open, it reveals a beveled mirror of a nice size. [Don't you hate those tiny ones that don't take in more than an eyelash at a time?] Set below this are compartments for loose powder and for rouge, with puffs for each. The powder compartment holds a liberal supply and the rouge, which is of the dry type, should last you months. It's unusually good rouge, too, since the compact is the proud offering of a house that emphasizes quality in all its products.

This compact easily falls under the head of costume jewelery; it's a little piece that adds a smart touch to the ensemble for either daytime or evening. You'll find it in two or three shops. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Morton Arboretum Shows New Process of Plant Preservation

Fifty varieties of pressed flowers and woody plants preserved through a new process to maintain natural color and shape will be displayed at the Morton arboretum in De Page county from noon tomorrow through Oct. 30. The arboretum is 25 miles west of Chicago on state highway 53, south of Roosevelt road in Glen Ellyn.

G. Russell Fessenden of Mount Vernon, N. Y., an amateur botanist, perfected the preservation method, which employs a film of cellulose. He is lending the exhibit. Officials of the arboretum explained that Fessenden perfected his method of mounting flowers and plants after eight years of study. He first "sets" the coloring matter in the plants while they are fresh and then cures them to make them tough and flexible. They are then filled with a gelatinous substance and sealed in the cellulose film. When completed the process creates a translucency in the flowers and leaves.

ILLINI AND U. S. C. WILL FILL AIR WITH FOOTBALLS

New Men and Passes Lure Throng.

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 8.—University of Southern California, the first football team from the Pacific coast ever to visit Illinois, will arrive at noon tomorrow for a final workout before tackling Bob Zuppke's Illini in Memorial stadium Saturday. Immediately after the practice the Trojans will proceed to Danville where they will be quartered until shortly before the game.

Illinois and Southern California come up to the battle undefeated. The Illini bumped off De Paul and Washington, a pair of stubborn opponents, by close scores while the coast boys were romping away with Oregon and Oregon State. The weather man predicts fair skies for the week-end, so Ticket Manager Chilly Bowen estimates the crowd will approximate 45,000.

Expect Aerial Fireworks.

Fans anticipate a wide open battle. The success of both teams to date is attributable to their skilful use of the forward pass. Zuppke's men were throwing the ball around so fast and often this afternoon that observers decided they must be preparing for a meet of homing pigeons.

In their opening game of the season the Trojans tossed 30 passes, completed 18 and had no interceptions. The Illini, who whipped the Californians, 19 to 0, at Los Angeles last year, will find an entirely new set of passers and receivers against them this time.

Dave Davis, triple threat back, who was on the side lines last fall because of injuries, will start the aerial fireworks for Troy. Sophomore quarter backs, Amby Schindler and Don Keller, who will follow Davis into the game, are both expert passers, and Ralph Stanley and Dennis Noor, also sophomores, have been impressive as receivers.

Everybody's Excited.

Last year Illinois completed seven passes out of 14 for a total gain of 109 yards while Southern California, making good on 7 out of 16, gained only 42 yards.

Students and other friends of the university are showing more spirit on this occasion than Illinois has known for years. There will be a torch light parade in which both men and women students will participate on the campus tomorrow evening. There's scarcely a man alive who can remember the last torch light parade at Illinois.

The procession will wind up on the drill field near the stadium where the students will be addressed by President Arthur C. Willard and Coach Zuppke of Illinois and by Coach Howard Jones of Southern California. Zuppke has promised to limit his remarks to an hour and a half, so that Jones can get back to Danville to spend the night with his squad.

Plenty of New Men.

Both lineups will be studded with sophomores. Southern California has so many newcomers that several of last year's regulars were not even taken on the trip. If Zuppke stays with the lineup he named tonight there will be at least five sophomores in the Illini battle front and only three letter men.

Bill Johnson from Proviso High school, Maywood, and Bob Castelo from Champaign High school, both sophomores, are certain starters at ends. Castelo is the boy who caught three straight passes last Saturday to break the tie with Washington. There is a chance that Harry Lasater, sophomore from Fairfield, may start at left guard, but he has not fully recovered from a summer illness and may not be in shape for at least another week. Dick Fay, a junior from Atwood, will get the call if Lasater isn't ready. Clifford Kuhn of Mooseheart, senior, will play right guard.

Capt. Elvin Sayre of Waukegan will be at center and the tackle berths will be filled by Eugene Dykstra of Chicago, who has been moved from the right to the left side of the line, and Ed Skarda, also from Chicago.

Wardley at Quarter Back.

Jay Wardley of Joliet, who, by the way, will have a lot of home town admirers cheering him on Saturday, apparently has the quarter back job cinched. Wardley spent a year at Exeter after finishing at Joliet. The half backs will be Leo Stasica of Rockford, the best sophomore back on the squad, and Lowell Spurgeon of Centralia. His place kicks beat Michigan last year and De Paul this season. He also scored a field goal against Northwestern last fall. Tom Wilson of Granite City, a letter winner in 1935, will play full back.

TROJANS SEE EXPOSITION.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 8.—(AP)—The University of Southern California football squad, en route to Champaign, Ill., stopped off here today for a workout.

The Trojans drilled in the Cotton bowl on the Texas Centennial exposition grounds, saw the exposition and departed at 3:30 p. m. More than 100 rooters accompanied the squad.

GOPHERS FIND CAUSE TO WORRY IN HUSKER LINE

Nebraska Veterans Peril Long Winning Streak.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 8.—Bernie Bierman, whose Minnesota boys have won 18 consecutive victories and who have not been defeated since 1932 when Harry Newman and Michigan won 3 to 0, is apprehensive of the fight with Nebraska Saturday afternoon. He hasn't admitted defeat, although Twin City newspapers have quoted him as saying the Cornhuskers are two touchdowns better than the Gophers, but he does think his boys are in for an old fashioned do or die scrap.

Bernie ought to know. He watched Nebraska win from Iowa State last week. The score, 34 to 0, was enough to cause worry, but the veteran team which Nebraska will bring here Saturday morning is the real basis of his apprehension.

There's That Cornhusker Line.

Nebraska beat Iowa State last year. That is a Cornhusker habit. But Bierman is thinking of the Cornhusker line in which six veterans will be playing Saturday and he is also concentrating on the back field where Sam Francis, full back; and Lloyd Cardwell, half back, are ready and anxious to clip the Gopher winning splurge.

Saturday's game won't affect Minnesota's desire to win another Big Ten title. It doesn't have any bearing on Nebraska's campaign in the Big Six. It is, however, a high point of the season. Should Minnesota win, the Gophers definitly are on the path to another national championship. And if Nebraska is victor, the honor of ending Minnesota's dominance in football is worth more than a conference championship.

Huskers Bring 4,000 Fans.

Four thousand Nebraska fans will accompany the Cornhuskers to Minneapolis. It's the greatest turnout for a Nebraska road trip in thirty-five years and proves beyond doubt that Nebraska believes it can win.

The nation's football fans, who follow results and not how those results were achieved, have backed Minnesota because the Gophers defeated Washington, 14 to 7, two weeks ago in Seattle. Here's what Bierman said today of that victory:

"I've had teams licked 30 to 0," Bierman said, "but I have never had a winning team which didn't have possession of the ball for eight minutes. Washington took the ball in the first period and for eight minutes we didn't touch it. Yet in the second quarter we were leading, 7 to 0. Washington played deliberately.

Calls Gopher Offense Ragged.

"Our team played raggedly on offense. It didn't have the concentrated effort of last year's squad. And unless we have improved in the last two weeks Nebraska has an excellent chance to win Saturday.'

Nebraska was beaten only 12 to 7 last year after a goal line stand which turned back the Cornhuskers from Minnesota's 3 yard line. That's the setup as far as this game is concerned. Nebraska lost to Minnesota and to Pittsburgh, 6 to 0, and played a scoreless tie with Kansas State. And on Saturday many of these same boys will be back for another whack at the Gophers.

Weld Replaces Bell.

Bob Weld, a letterman guard, has displaced Horace Bell, a sophomore, at left guard. Ray Antil, a senior, still has the edge in the fight for an end position over Dwight Reed, a 1935 regular. Otherwise the team which beat Washington is intact. Ray King and Antil are the ends. Ed Widseth and Lou Midler are the tackles. Francis Twedell, a sophomore, pairs with Weld. Bud Svendson is the center. In the back field the starting lineup now is Bud Wilkinson, quarter back; Andy Uram, left half; Julie Alfonse, right half, and Vic Spadaccini, full back.

A capacity throng will see this battle. The ticket sale has passed the 50,000 mark and only a few more can be seated in the single deck horseshoe stands.

TROJANS LIMBER UP AT DALLAS

Eighty-Nine Teams Enter Soccer Meet

Eighty-nine teams have entered THE TRIBUNE'S Chicagoland soccer tournament, Peter J. Peel, general chairman of the event, announced last night as pairings were made for the opening round to be played Sunday. Wisconsin will be represented by 26 teams, down state by 1, and Chicago by 62.

On Sunday the Class A and B divisions will begin competition, with 12 games in each classification. The strongest teams in Chicago are entered in Class A.

The junior division, limited to teams with players 18 years old and under, will start play next Saturday.

Three Junior Rounds.

Three rounds will reduce the Chicago junior entry list to one team which will meet the survivor of the four teams entered from Milwaukee for the junior championship.

Soccer officials who collaborated with Mr. Peelin making the drawings were E. J. O'Donnell, president of the International league; E. J. Plambeck, International league secretary; Herbert Choice Jr., secretary of the Chicago league; Michael Cumminsky, secretary of the Illinois Referees' association, and John W. Wood, president of the Illinois Junior association.

No Ties Allowed.

Every game must be played to a finish. In the event of a tie at the end of one hour in a junior game, there will be two extra ten minute periods and if there is no score the first corner [driving the ball across an opponent's goal line after striking a defending player] will decide the match.

In Classes A and B a regulation game will be 90 minutes. Ties will be played off in an extra half hour and if no decision is reached the first corner will determine the winner. All players must be amateurs.

FOOTBALL TOMORROW.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 8.—Indiana at Michigan, Wisconsin at Purdue, are Big Ten games for tomorrow, each issue important to the contending teams making their conference inaugurals. More national interest, however, attaches to three of the five other frays in which Big Ten teams take on outside opponents. These are Pittsburgh at Ohio State, Nebraska at Minnesota, and Southern California at Illinois.

Outside of Columbus the Pitt-Buckeye game is regarded about even, with perhaps a shade to the powerful Panthers. Up at Minneapolis there'll be something to talk about. If one had not such confidence in the Gophers, and if it were not customary to stay with a champion until beaten, it would be easy enough to give Nebraska the shade. Theoretically the Cornhuskers are stronger than last year and still have Cardwell. Minnesota lost a wealth of veterans.

The Wake saw Minnesota's 12 to 7 triumph at Lincoln last year. The result could easily have gone the other way. In fact, it should have gone the other way through a fumble, but the Gophers made a successful goal line defense late in the game when Nebraska had first down on Minnesota's 2 yard line and failed to capitalize this opportunity. Gopher adherents, on the other hand, assert this year's eleven ultimately will be stronger than that of 1935. It took a long journey and also had powerful Washington as an opener. So how are you going to pick a team like that to lose, no matter how good Nebraska appears?

Coach Bob Zuppke pulled rabbits out of a hat last fall to defeat Southern California, 19 to 0. Those rabbits were light, aggressive Illini who surprised the Trojans with their deft ball handling. Illinois is supposed to be stronger than a year ago. But they are not meeting the same brand of Trojans. Southern California is said on the Pacific coast to be starting up the football ladder again and decisive early victories over Oregon and Oregon State verify that opinion. So most critics think Zup will need even larger rabbits to repeat.

Beaten last year, Purdue is picked to down Wisconsin, although the Badgers showed against Marquette they are assimilating the Stuhldreyer system and no longer are doormat Badgers of previous years. Michigan and Indiana rate about even. It would not surprise us to see the Hoosiers reverse last year's result. Wolverine sophomores, carrying Ann Arbor hopes, showed against Michigan State they hadn't ripened enough yet.

Northwestern over North Dakota State, Chicago over Butler, and Iowa over South Dakota are the forecasts. Notre Dame also has a supposed breather at home with Washington U.

Skeletons in My Closet.

The skeletons in my closet locked
Are putting up a roar—
It seems, no matter how hard I try,
I keep on gathering more.
They are a very sturdy clan
And, though I have them hid,
They schuffle round and clank their bones,
Do other things forbid.

With sudden fright I take a look
And think, with my head bowed—
I'll do my very best to keep
From adding to the crowd.
I'll have the lock made more secure
So they won't scamper out—
What havoc these spry ghosts would make
If they should gad about.

LANDON TO SEE OHIO STATE AND PITTSBURGH MIX

Will Gov. Davey Be Host to Kansan?

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Columbus, O., Oct. 8.—In this city of proverbial football rabies all tickets of admission and all hotel reservations are exhausted for Saturday's contest between Ohio State's Buckeyes and Pittsburgh's Panthers. That means 75,000, capacity of the stadium, will be present, including the governor of a typical prairie state, Alf M. Landon.

For Ohio State it's the most important contest of the season. Ohio State partisans feel that if they get this one it will supply the confidence needed to an eleven then destined to go through the Western conference season undefeated, and beat Notre Dame along the route. Except that those conference victories are desired to keep Ohio in the present title rating along with Minnesota, Notre Dame is the most cherished enemy. It was Notre Dame, one remembers, which placed the only smudge on the Buckeyes' otherwise unblemished escutcheon with that epic 18 to 13 victory in the last few minutes of the fourth period last year.

It's Wild Football Town.

Columbus always has been known for its football fanaticism. It was not so many years ago that the late Sam Willaman was displaced as coach when his team lost to Michigan, perhaps the greatest eleven in the country in 1932. To see anything approaching equality in a rival in those years was rank heresy.

Enthusiasm, partisanship, even fanaticism, if you wish, are still rampant here. But it's of slightly different tinge, possibly induced by the 1935 Notre Dame debacle. Even your most dyed-in-the-wool fan concedes Pittsburgh has a good chance. That's something. Neutral observers call it a tossup, with a shade, if any, to the visitors.

Aside from the result, another question interests Ohioans. Will Gov. Martin Davey, Democratic nominee for another term in the statehouse, accompany to the game Gov. Landon of Kansas as a governor might be expected to do with his guest of the day? It was Gov. Davey, you recall, whose administration once was criticised for not furnishing sufficient coal or something or other for the state university buildings. Came his whimsical comeback that he thought the state was doing enough for the university as most of its players were on the state pay roll.

Davey's Plans Unannounced.

This tidbit brought such a flood of criticism that Gov. Davey hastened to explain his remark as a joke. It also brought a conference exoneration that no players were "improperly" employed. Anyway, Gov. Davey has not been present at the stadium since. The public relations department professes to be uninformed of Gov. Davey's plans for Saturday.

Ohio State and Pittsburgh are expected to show contrasting styles of attack. Coach Francis Schmidt of the home eleven always has been noted for his open plays, forward passes, laterals, and wide sweeping end runs. With efficient linemen blocking, he usually has a light, fast back on hand for goal line jaunts.

Pittsburgh's attack is that of power. With a line slightly inferior in weight to that of Ohio State the Panthers are heavier in the back field, where Frank Patrick, a junior from East Chicago, Ind., is the battering ram. Fast heavy backs with effective blocking and interferers ahead of them if they break through the line of scrimmage is Pittsburgh's idea of an easy way of rolling up the count.

Aim to Hang on to Ball.

To meet such an attack Coach Schmidt gave his Buckeyes a long defensive drill this afternoon, supplementing offense, which was the order of the day yesterday. Fearful of injuries, actual contact was avoided, but the importance of stopping the opposition and gaining possession of the ball as much of the time as possible were stressed.

Louis Picked to Win Brescia Fight Tonight

New York, Oct. 8.—[Special.]—George Brescia, the South American, who will fight Joe Louis at the Hippodrome tomorrow night, will have the advantage of a few pounds in weight, an inch in height, and six inches in reach.

His chest is bigger than Joe's, and so are his biceps, his forearms, and even his fists, but Louis is the sort of fighter who comes once in a generation and there is many a Brescia handling the ribbons over a spirited team of truck horses.

Of course, he has a chance. Any big man with a punch has a chance, and Brescia is definitly a big man with a punch. On the other hand, Brescia is just the type upon which Louis can operate with maximum efficiency. The South American is a straight up fighter and, in the argot of the ring, he comes to you on rails. That is, he walks straight in.

Brescia punches from short range and he can jolt mightily if you lift the chin just right. Some of the boys who profess to know all about such things say that Brescia will be a sterner test than Al Ettore, the most recent victim of Louis. Ettore couldn't punch, but he was harder to hit than Brescia.

Brescia's best chance for a telling shot lies in a crowding offensive topped by a gambling right hand. And Louis dearly loves a crowding offensive. He is instinctively a counter fighter and is naturally at his best when the other fellow leads. Therefore, Brescia's first lead may well be his last—even if he lands it.

By 1937 Brescia might be a worthy foe, but at the moment he is not considered good enough. He has beaten every man who faced him, but only two have been fighters of note.

Dizzy Dean on Block

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Dizzy Dean is on the trading block, President Sam Breadon of the Cardinals declared tonight, and so is any other member of the club if the terms are right.

"I'd trade Dizzy, but the deal would have to be such that it would bolster the Cardinals," Breadon said. "The same goes for any other player we have."

Breadon's attitude is an about face, for in the past he has invariably declared he would not trade his eccentric pitching ace. Questioned about a swap for Van Lingle Mungo, Breadon said the Brooklyn fast ball pitcher would not be enough of an exchange for Dizzy.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Owner P. K. Wrigley of the Cubs yesterday turned baseball's cooling hot stove into a roaring furnace when he confirmed announcement in late editions of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE that he had obtained Rip Collins, a great first baseman and power hitter, and Roy Parmelee, a good spring pitcher, from the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for Lon Warneke, rated the Cubs' pitching ace since early in the 1932 season.

Mr. Wrigley had intended to announce the transaction in Chicago today, but the information was released in St. Louis at dawn yesterday, and carried to Chicago by news service in time to excite fans among early loop arrivals. The news was picked up by broadcasters of prebreakfast setting up exercises and the majority of the city's baseball bugs had the news before they had their rolls and coffee.

Deal Causes Speculation.

Wrigley confirmation of the transaction came before the Cub boss had reached his office, and baseball, usually packed in mothballs with the close of the world series, was right back as a prime sports topic just when the customers were ready to turn to football, hocky, six day bikes and such.

As usual in baseball transactions of such magnitude, speculation as to which swapping element got the better of the deal immediately burst forth, with the boys who like to eat their cake and have it, too, speaking loudest.

Called a Good Swap.

The passing of Warneke from the ranks of the Cubs naturally shocked many Cub fans. We, as one of the most ardent members of the Warneke Pitching, Squirrel Shooting, Hound Dog Fancying and Arkansas Wisecracking Guild, join in the mourners at Lon's departure. A noble guy has gone away, a sincere, honest athlete whom we caught in only one irregularity since we saw him come up as a raw rookie. He boasted of being able to play a musical saw, and we are the one who found he couldn't play a note on the saw, though he's fair on a guitar. Still we think it was a good swap from the point of view of the Cubs, as well as the Cards.

The Cubs had to have a seasoned first baseman. Collins is a great first baseman, perhaps the best in the league. Though he was a bench warmer in St. Louis much of last season, Manager Charley Grimm picked him as the first baseman in the All-Star game in Boston last July. The Cubs have not had a fence buster since Hack Wilson went away. Collins is a fence buster, as the Cubs have learned many times first hand.

Collins Expensive for Cards.

Collins was not benched because of inefficiency. He was a high salaried player, and the Cards don't crave high salaried players. When the younger Johnny Mize developed the Cards saw a chance to give him further experience and put Collins, who is 31, on the block while they still could demand much for the deed to his services.

Manager Grimm expects Collins, in his new environment, to equal his record of 1934, his best year. Two seasons ago Rip tied Mel Ott of the Giants in homers, with 35, and led the National league in total bases with 369. He also led the league that year in assists by a first baseman with 110. He played in all of the team's 154 games.

Dangerous Man in Pinch.

Because of the Mize development Collins appeared in only 103 games in the season just closed, many times in one turn as a pinch hitter. He beat the Cubs on one such occasion with a pinch homer, one of 13 homers he made during the season. He was at bat 277 times, scored 48 runs, and made 80 hits. He batted in 48 runs, exactly half as many as Frank Demaree, the Cubs' leading hitter, drove in in 606 times at bat.

Collins is a player of the aggressive type so sadly missing on the Cub

MARQUETTE AND ST. LOUIS RENEW 30 YEAR RIVALRY

Tomorrow's Charity Game to Draw 50,000.

Marquette and St. Louis universities, football rivals since 1906, will match their 1936 elevens in a neutral setting tomorrow afternoon, when they clash at Soldiers' field before a gathering expected to reach 50,000. The game is being played for the benefit of the Sisters of Mercy, who are observing their ninetieth anniversary in Chicago this autumn. Special trains from St. Louis and Milwaukee will bring home town delegations to augment the large Chicago attendance.

The two teams have met thirteen times since 1906, with Marquette holding a decided edge in the series with eight victories, three defeats, and two ties. Each of the current teams is composed largely of veterans. The Hilltoppers have scored 271 points against St. Louis' 97 during the series.

Hold Parade Tonight.

A huge parade will be held tonight, passing in review before the bandstand in Garfield park. The line of march, beginning at 8 p. m., will start from Madison street and Cicero avenue, continuing east on Madison to the bandstand. The 132d infantry, the Cornwall post of the American Legion, and bands and student marchers from several west side high schools will take part in the parade, as well as the bands of the two universities.

Mayor Kelly will welcome Mayor Daniel Hoan of Milwaukee and Mayor Bernard F. Dickmann of St. Louis; Gov. Guy Parks of Missouri, and Gov. Philip La Follette of Wisconsin. The Rt. Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, will represent the local diocese.

Regardless of Marquette's 12 to 6 triumph over Wisconsin at Madison last week, the Hilltoppers have to hark back no farther than last year's battle with St. Louis to know that they will be meeting a football team. The Billikens restrained the Milwaukee eleven to a tie until the final minute of play, when a forward pass brought the Hilltop eleven a victory.

Len Gorman to Start.

The only sophomore expected to start for St. Louis is Len Gorman, 190 pound center, while Carl Siefert, 210 pound tackle, is the only likely newcomer to the Marquette starting lineup. The kickoff will be at 3 p. m.

The odds which favored Marquette have dropped considerably since the injury to Full Back Ward Cuff, one of the team's stars last season. Coach Frank Murray has been testing Morgan Busch, a substitute end, in Cuff's position, but is expected to shift Art Guepe from quarter back to full, and use the latter's twin brother, Al, at the quarter back post. Ray Buivid and Ray Sonnenberg will be in their respective left and right half jobs at the kickoff.

VANDERBILT CUP DRIVERS' TRIALS HALTED BY RAIN

Westbury, N. Y., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Rain interrupted qualifying trials for the 300 mile George Vanderbilt cup on the new Roosevelt raceway today and the drivers and mechanics of more than 60 cars entered in the Columbus day race put in their time tuning up their cars.

Qualification zests will be resumed tomorrow morning. So far only 15 cars have qualified. Tazio Nuvolari of Italy, who averaged close to 70 miles an hour Wednesday, heads the list.

Bill Cummings, 1934 Indianapolis speedway race winner, arrived today, ready to qualify tomorrow or Saturday despite two broken ribs suffered in a recent accident while riding in the rear seat of a touring car.

The rule requiring drivers to wear crash helmets in races was waived for next Monday's event because most of the European drivers preferred their light aviation helmets to the type required by the A. A. A.

N. U. Sophs to Receive Test in Bison Game

North Dakota State's football squad of 27 players will arrive in Chicago today aboard the Burlington Zephyr, concluding a two day journey from Fargo, N. D., for tomorrow's encounter with Northwestern at Dyche stadium. The Bisons will make their headquarters at the Sovereign hotel.

North Dakota State, which has captured two North Central conference championships in the last four years, has another title contender this year. Coach Lynn Waldorf has spent the week fighting overconfidence among the Wildcats. Bus Owen of the Northwestern coaching staf, who scouted North Dakota State's victory over Concordia, said that Capt. Bob Erickson, 6 foot 195 pound full back, is one of the hardest running backs the Purple will face this season.

Northwestern yesterday worked on both offense and defense in final preparations for the game. Backs and ends were given another intensive workout on pass defense in an effort to bolster a weakness that cropped up in the Iowa game.

Coach Waldorf hopes to give a number of sophomore players an opportunity to perform under fire tomorrow. Those who may be nominated for starting positions tomorrow include Iggy Mesec of Waukegan and Jack Major of River Forest, half backs; Albert Armato of Chicago, quarter back; Walter Malloy of Chicago, tackle, and Tom Eby of Evanston, end.

IOWA AGAIN SCRIMMAGES.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—The Iowa squad engaged the fourth bruising scrimmage of the week today. Those excused from the hard work were Dick Bowlin, who has a rib injury; Balazs, Wagler, and Lindenmeyer, who are suffering shoulder injuries; Walker and Liggett, who are handicapped by charley horses, and Dick Chambers, reserve full back, who was bruised in yesterday's drill.

DE PAUL PLAYS DAYTON WITHOUT CAPT. CARLSON

Dayton, O., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—De Paul university's football team arrived here tonight for its game with the Dayton university Flyers tomorrow night.

Capt. Hal Carlson, the Chicago team's 210 pound tackle, broke a thumb in yesterday's scrimmage and will not be able to play. Chester Chesney, also injured in the final practice, is a doubtful starter.

Joe Gagliardo, from St. Philip's High school, will be in Carlson's place. Bill Casey, who was switched to center from end at the start of the season, will open at center if Chesney is unavailable.

MEIGS, MAROON GUARD, ELIGIBLE; TO FACE BUTLER

Veteran Welcome Addition to Chicago Line.

Harmon Meigs, letterman and regular guard for Chicago's Maroons last year, was declared eligible yesterday. The Midway athletic department learned that Meigs passed an examination giving him more than enough credit for eligibility, and it is likely that he will see action in the Chicago-Butler game at Stagg field tomorrow.

Return of Meigs was cheering news. The Maroons need strength in the line, and the addition of a 200 pounder with experience helps. It is likely that Meigs will be used at right guard and that Clarence Wright will shift to right tackle part of the time to help out Sophomore Bob Johnson.

Meigs, who is the son of Merrill C. Meigs, star Maroon lineman of thirty years ago, has been practicing with the squad for the last ten days. Dave Gordon, reserve end last year, also attained eligibility, but he has not reported this season.

Coach Clark Shaughnessy restricted yesterday's workout to a dummy scrimmage, after two sessions this week in which Jay Berwanger had shown the varsity how to make long runs in real scrimmage. Carl Frick end, will probably be unable to play tomorrow because of a shoulder injury and it is unlikely that Ed Thompson, reserve tackle, will be ready.

Butler will bring three complete teams to Chicago tonight. The Bulldogs are directed by Paul Hinkle, former University of Chicago star.

FLOSSMOOR WILL END SEASON WITH HARVEST DANCE

Flossmoor Country club will hold its last party of the season, the harvest home dinner-dance, at the club tomorrow evening. The men's golf prizes for the entire season will be distributed and a number of special entertainment features have been arranged.

Next week's golf program includes the annual Columbus day tournament at Butterfield on Wednesday and the fifth annual harvest home festival at Bob o' Link. Butterfield's tournament, which has concluded the west side club's program for a number of years, will offer prizes for members and guests at 27 holes. The Bob o' Link harvest home event, of which Nick Kearns is chairman, will be at 18 holes

RESTAURANT MEN'S TOURNEY.

Card Passes Click; Bears Alter Defense

The Bears yesterday junked the forward pass defense they have built up since opening training at the St. Johns Military academy last August and staged a strenuous drill on new plans at Wrigley field to meet an expected Cardinal barrage Sunday.

Coach George Halas, worried about this department since the Pittsburgh Pirates played to the weakness with notable success even though defeated last Sunday, became convinced the setup was not what it should be after the first half hour of work yesterday.

Using Cardinal formations the red team completed so many passes that Halas halted practice, shifted the defense around, listened to suggestions, and then proceeded with the workout, which also included dummy scrimmage.

Hold Night Meeting.

The same program will be in order today but anything resembling a scrimmage will be strictly avoided as the injured list is too long, even with the possibility that Reds Pollock will be available Sunday.

Last night Halas called a meeting of the players and after a complete review of plays warned the squad about overconfidence. He made several pointed illustrations, among them the fact that in 1929 the Bears and Cardinals played a scoreless tie in the first game and in the second the Cardinals won, 40 to 6.

Even before the Bears had surrendered Wrigley field in the morning the Cardinals arrived to start a four hour drill, in which field work was interrupted for a 45 minute lecture in the locker room.

The four new players signed Wednesday reported to Coach Milan Creighton and were put to work immediately learning the offensive and defensive assignments to be used in Sunday's game. Robert Brodnacki, former Villanova star, and Jack Robinson, obtained from Brooklyn in a trade for Dave Cook, impressed with their size and at first glance indicated they would fill the crying need for reserve strength at tackle.

New Players Report.

Robert Rook, former Iowa half back, and Virgil Deskin, end recalled from the Northwest league, reported in shape, but Rook is not apt to see action until the Giant game in New York a week from Sunday. Deskin and Robinson will be used against the Bears.

Yesterday's drill was devoted almost entirely to defense. The Cardinals are determined to stop the Bear juggernaut. They have scouted the Bears closely all year and are prepared to profit by the mistakes made by Philadelphia, Green Bay, and Pittsburgh, which fell before the vaunted Bear power.

No claims of victory are being made in the Cardinal camp. It was evident, however, that the men have no idea of losing. The Pirates' success with passes against the Bears last week has stimulated hopes for victory.

BLACKHAWKS OFF TO CAMP TONIGHT AT HIBBING, MINN.

A detachment of Blackhawks will entrain at 7:15 o'clock tonight from the North Western station for the Chicago training camp at Hibbing, Minn. This bloc will include Defense Men Marty Burke, Alex Levinsky, Earl Siebert, and Forwards Glenn Brydson, Tommy Cook, and Wildor Larochelle. With them will be Recruits Mike McMahon od Rockville, Ont., who had a trial at Champaign last season, and Harold Jackson, defense man with St. Michael's college of Toronto.

Vice President Bill Tobin left for the camp last night, and yesterday Wings Mush March and Louie Trudell began motoring to Hibbing. The team will open training Oct. 11, continuing to Nov. 1, when they will return to Chicago Stadium for a two day windup session, preparatory to opening the season against the New York Americans at the Stadium on Nov. 5.

Manager Clem Loughlin, Goalie Mike Karakas, and Art Wiebe, Paul Thompson, Johnny Gottselig, Bill Kendall, Doc Romnes, and Andy Blair will travel to Hibbing from their homes in western Canada. Ronald [Red] Sutherland, defense star of the Portland Pacific league team, also will join up at the camp. Sutherland served 96 minutes in the penalty box last season and was sought after by every team in the league. Donnie McFadyen, who married this summer and is practicing law, has voluntarily retired from hocky, and Eddie Ouellette, who was tried in several positions last year, will be sent to another club.

WISCONSIN GETS BIG SENDOFF ON PURDUE INVASION

"Remember Last Year" Is Cry of Students.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—With cries of "spoil Purdue's homecoming" and "remember last year" [when the Badgers defeated Purdue, 8 to 0, for their only victory of the season], students and townspeople gave Coach Harry Stuhldreher and the team a rousing sendoff tonight. It was the largest crowd to see the team away in many years.

The pep meeting gathered on the lower campus, paraded through the downtown district, and, aided by the university band, cheered the players as they boarded the train. Coach Stuhldreher, Capt. John Golemgeske, and Eddie Jankowski responded briefly.

The players went immediately to their berths. The train was to leave here at 3:25 a. m. arriving in Indianapolis in time for a workout at Butler university's stadium tomorrow afternoon.

The following thirty-five players were named for the trip:

ENDS—Fred Benz, Vernon Peak, John Lohrke, Lon Lovshin, Stan Haukedahl, and Clarence Peterson.

HALF BACKS—Eddie Misiak, Roy Bellin, Clarence Tommerson, Howie Weiss, Tom Kurth, Bronko Malesvich, and Steve Rondone.

FULL BACKS—Eddie Jankowski, Herbert Paul, and Joe Idziorek.

PURDUE TAKES LIGHT DRILL.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Preparations for Purdue's homecoming battle with Wisconsin here Saturday, which will provide the Big Ten opener for both elevens, were practically completed this afternoon with a light workout that found Coach Noble Kizer exerting every effort to unify his juggled lineup.

Kizer stuck to the lineup that routed Ohio university, with the exception of Lee Graves at right guard in place of the injured Andy Grant.

The Boilermakers will have only a light workout tomorrow afternoon before going to the Lafayette Country club for the night, while the Badgers will rest in Indianapolis.

IRISH POLISH OFFENSE.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Coach Elmer Layden began polishing Notre Dame's offense today for Saturday's game here with Washington U. of St. Louis when he put the squad through a dummy scrimmage and signal drill.

He also stressed defense after yesterday's unimpressive showing against the reserves and freshmen in scrimmage.

Layden was not definitly set on his starting lineup today and will be unable to fix a battle front until final returns are in from Trainer Eugene [Scrapiron] Young. Bill Steinkemper received a kick in the leg in yesterday's scrimmage and Denny Emanuel, his understudy at left tackle, may be unable to play because of injuries received in the Tech game. If neither is able to start Ed [Whitey] Beinor, Harvey, Ill., sophomore, will be promoted to the first team.

Washington will leave St. Louis tomorrow noon and will arrive here about 10 o'clock tomorrow night. Coach Jimmy Conzelman is bringing a squad of 29 men.

Miss Traung, Mrs. Hill Meet in Berthellyn Golf Final

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Miss Dorothy Traung of San Francisco, Cal., holder of the western women's golf championship, and Mrs. Opal S. Indiana Plays No Mystery to Michigan

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Michigan, preparing for its Big Ten debut against Indiana Saturday, ended a week of hard drills today with a look at the so-called five man back field used by the Hoosiers.

Coach Harry Kipke, who expects to start another group of sophomores against Indiana, continued to experiment with both the back field and line. He had Art Valpey, who distinguished himself against Michigan State, at one of the ends. At the other end was Danny Smick, Hazel Park sophomore. Barclay was at quarter back, Ed Phillips of Bradford, Pa., and Ritchie at the half backs, and Stanton at full back.

Capt. Patanelli, John Smithers, and Bob Coper were in uniform but did not take part in practice.

INDIANA LEAVES INJURED.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Thirty-four Indiana university football players and Coach Bo McMillin left early tonight for Ann Arbor, where the Hoosiers will open their Big Ten campaign Saturday against the Wolverines. Indiana will seek revenge for the 7 to 0 defeat suffered from Michigan last season.

Corby Davis, regular full back, and Don Heistand, reserve half back, were left at home because of injuries. Indiana otherwise will be at full strength.

Players making the trip were: Anderson, Huffman, Tanner, Fowler, Whiteman, Graham, Cavacini, Fox, Norton, Cherry, Oliver, Eads, and Gunning, backs; Birr, Dischinger, Widaman, Stevenson, Beasley, Kenderdine, Obenchain, and Patrick, ends; Zoll, captain, Dal Sasso, Haak, Livingston, and Sholty, tackles; Miller, Schloss, and Weiss, centers; Dileo, Risher, Olmstead, Sirtosky, and Szabo, guards.

BRUNDAGE LAUDS BEHAVIOR OF OLYMPIC TEAM

Avoiding any mention of Mrs. Eleanor Holm Jarrett, Olympic swimming star who was removed from the team because of training violations, Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic association, told members of the Chicago Bar association yesterday that the 1936 United States Olympic team was "the finest and best behaved group of athletes we ever sent across the ocean."

Brundage spoke to the association members at a luncheon in their quarters at 160 North La Salle street.

"There are always a few undesirable among a crowd," he said. "Of course, continuous and excessive drinking by an athlete is not a good example in a group of boys and girls whose ages ranged from 14 to 25 years. We had to send two boys home because they were collecting souvenir cameras which cost about 200 marks each. The police knew about it and we thought we were lucky to get the boys home without trouble."

Purple Club to See Iowa Game Movies Today

Motion pictures of last Saturday's Northwestern-Iowa game will be shown at a North Dakota-Northwestern luncheon of the Northwestern University club in the Bismarck hotel at noon today. Harold [Red] Grange, assistant coach of the Chicago Bears; Waldo Fisher, Ted Rosequist, Bear end, and Rocky Wolfe, radio announcer, will participate in the program.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 8.—Illinois and Southern California, which conclude their home and home agreement with Saturday's game in Memorial stadium, will renew relations in 1938. . . . Meanwhile Southern California will take on Ohio State for a home and home series while Illinois meets Notre Dame on the same basis. . . . The Illini in all probability will go to Los Angeles in 1938 and the Trojans will repay the call in 1939. . . . Southern California consequently will play in the middle west once a year for several seasons, because its relationship with Notre Dame will carry on regardless of other alliances it makes in this section. . . . The Republican national committee apparently has overlooked the fact that both Knox and Kansas won last Saturday. . . . Lynn Waldorf's younger brother, Bob, has enrolled at the University of Missouri. . . . Bob was quite an athlete at New Trier High school.

Tom Yawkey and Eddie Collins of the Red Sox, Mickey Cochrane of the Tigers, and Tris Speaker intend to hunt and camp in the mountains near Cody, Wyo., for the next four weeks. . . . The 1936 world series is the seventh to gross a million dollars. . . . There are only 12,776 seats between the goal lines at Camp Randall, Wisconsin's football field. . . . During the world series of 1929 between the Athletics and Cubs a friend came into the Philadelphia hotel room occupied by Manager Joe McCarthy and Coach Jim Burke of the Cubs. . . . The friend threw his hat on the bed, an unpardonable sin among superstitious baseball folk. . . . As soon as the caller had departed Burke remarked that the Cubs were as good as licked that afternoon. . . . A couple of hours later the Athletics put on that memorable ten run rally in the eighth inning and the Cubs never have been the same since. . . . Andrew E. Wyant, former University of Chicago athlete, holds what is accepted as the record for intercollegiate football competition. . . . He played in ninety-eight games, having been a regular at Bucknell for four years in 1888, 1889, 1890, and 1891, after which he transferred to Chicago, where he played center in 1892, 1893, and 1894. . . . It would be impossible for a man to play in that many college games today, even if he were to participate in three full schedules at one university and then switch to West Point. . . .

In 1914, when Johnny Maulbetsch was tearing up opposing lines for Michigan, the Wolverines ran up against Cornell and Maulbetsch was stopped. . . . It was one of the outstanding achievements of the time. . . . Later a Cornell player, several years out of college, revealed how it had been accomplished. . . . The Cornell quarter back learned through a mutual acquaintance that Maulbetsch was hard of hearing. . . . He noticed early in the game that all Maulbetsch did was run straight at the line and that he only carried the ball when the quarter back tapped him on the shoulder. . . . He concluded that Maulbetsch could not hear the signals plainly and took his cue from the tap on the shoulder. . . . He informed the linemen and they watched for the telltale contact. . . . During the rest of the game they knew almost before Maulbetsch did when he was to carry the ball.

TICKETS GO ON SALE FOR CHICAGO PREP TITLE GAME

Tickets for the all-Chicago prep championship football game which will be played at Soldiers' field Saturday afternoon, Nov. 28, were placed on sale yesterday at the office of Chicago's Own Christmas Benefit, 33 North La Salle street.

The all-city prep game will bring together the champions of the Catholic and Public School leagues. The game was inaugurated in 1934. That year and in 1935, the teams played to near capacity crowds at Soldiers' field. Each year Lindblom, public high school winner, and Leo, title holder in the Catholic league, were the principals. Lindblom won both games, 6 to 0.

Warneke Deal to Strengthen Cubs' Attack

outfit of 1936. He had expected to be transferred to the Cubs last spring but recently had been told that he would not be sold to either the Giants or the Cubs, both of whom had expressed a desire to obtain his contract.

Parmelee Jinx as an Enemy.

It will be worth something for the Cubs to take Parmelee out of circulation, even if he does not win for them to the extent expected. As a Giant and Cardinal against the Cubs he has won 10 of 14 games in which he drew the decision. He lost the first game he ever pitched against the Cubs, then won the next six before losing again as a Giant against the Cubs.

This year as a Cardinal he won his first four decisions against the Cubs, then lost two. On the second day of the season he pitched nine innings, allowed 7 hits and 2 runs to win; on May 9 he went the distance to win, allowing 8 hits and 2 runs; on May 24, he went the distance for the third time to win, this time allowing 5 hits and 1 run. He turned in another 5 hit, one run performance on Aug. 5 for his fourth victory. He lost Aug. 7 as a reliever, and again on Sept. 18.

Warneke Tough on Cards.

The Cards also will be glad to have Warneke away from the opposition, he having licked them 17 times in 29 decisions. He beat Dizzy Dean on opening day, although he allowed 13 hits and 7 runs in the seven innings he worked. He won again from the Cards, pitching 8⅓ innings as a reliever. He lost on Aug. 10, starting and lasting 2⅔ innings. On Sept. 18 he celebrated his return to his old time form by pitching a three hit shutout against the Cards but lost three days later in a relief rôle. He beat the Cards on the last day of the season, Sept. 27.

Filling of first base does not mean the passing of youthful Phil Cavarretta from the Cub ranks. Boss Wrigley made this clear several days ago, when he gave out an interview in which he said that the Cubs would be rebuilt and that none of the players would be exempt from a deal. Apparently anticipating that there would be no clamor for Cavarretta, he said Manager Grimm had told him that he expected to make an outfielder of the youngster.

PAIR OF CHICAGO PLAYERS KNOW MACCABEE STYLE

When the world touring Maccabees soccer team from Palestine comes to Chicago for its international match with the Illinois All-Stars at Comiskey park Oct. 25, it will find a pair of local players thoroughly familiar with its style of play. One of them has played against most of the Jewish champions from the holy land, while the other is one of the greatest soccer stars ever developed by Egon Pollack, coach of the invaders.

Louis Fischer, local goalie, first gained international fame as a member of the Hakoahs who tourned this country several years ago. It was Pollack who coached the Hakoahs on that visit here.

Camera Eye Cannot Split Noble Count, Fanfern.

BY FRENCH LANE.

For seven minutes at Lincoln Fields yesterday afternoon 6,500 spectators stood in suspense while the camera eye went into action to decide the winner of the Lake Shore purse at six furlongs.

It was the feature race. Favorites and long shots had been hitting at different intervals during the afternoon. Nearly everybody had a bob or two down on the Lake Shore.

The camera eye, after those speedy seven minutes of herculean work, couldn't separate Noble Count and Fanfern, the pair which came up to the finish line looking each other squarely in the eye.

Nice Payoff on Both.

They paid off on both Noble Count and Fanfern to win. Those who backed Noble Count collected $7.60 for a two dollar win ticket. Those who supported Fanfern collected $7.40 for their investment. Bandalore, the favorite in the race, finished third. Silverette, another that was stoutly backed, made all the early pace then quit to almost a walk in the final stages.

It was the first dead heat for first money that has been run at Lincoln Fields this season. The picture showed both horses with the peak of their noses right on the finish line. Fanfern finished on the inside.

Silverette was speediest of the field of six out of the gate. Jocky James took her out to a length and a half advantage over Fanfern. Noble Count was in third place as they came out of the chute and went down the back stretch.

Tie in Final Stride.

The small field didn't change places much and was still racing in the same order entering the stretch. By this time Guymon had moved Fanfern up even closer to the tiring Silverette. Noble Count had responded to South's call. He was making up ground on the leaders.

Fanfern took over the lead a furlong from home. She hung on gamely down the stretch but Noble Count came on steadily on the outside. Fanfern's drive was a game one, but in the final stride Noble Count deadlocked with her.

The Lake Shore purse at six furlongs also brought out a band of flyers. The favorite Gallienne, owned by Tom Worden of Chicago, got home in front by the margin of half a length. He outgamed Ottoman and Bamboo in the run down the stretch after Ottoman had been the leader all through the early stages.

Worden Silks in Front.

Gallienne ran her six furlongs in 1:12. In the betting she paid off at $5.00 for a two dollar ticket. It was the first race in some time in which the Worden silks have been carried to victory.

For the first time this year in Chicago 2 year olds were asked to run a mile in the third race yesterday. They were a cheap lot with a $1,250 claiming tag tied to their bridles.

The race brought a thrilling finish when Tinsel Lady, stylishly bred daughter of Display-Half a League, came from behind and carried the silks of Valdina farm of Texas to an unexpected triumph.

Comes from Far Back.

She had raced well back of the pace makers in the early stages and was taken to the extreme outside at the head of the stretch. Jocky Cowley went to work on her with his whip at that stage. She responded readily. She was going away two lengths in front of Blind Sage at the winning post. City Limit finished third. The favorite Rhine never figured in the running.

Tinsel Lady paid $21.40. Valdina farm's Solar Maid had finished out of the money in the first race. She was an odds on favorite. That caused the spectators to lose confidence in the next Valdina color-bearer.

Illinois Table Tennis Tourney Starts Tonight

The Stay and Play courts, 168 West Monroe street, will be used for the first round matches of the third annual tennis tournament sponsored by the Illinois Table Tennis association beginning tonight.

Half Mile Strip Will Feature Route Races

Horses that can run a distance will be catered to during the fall meeting of the National Jocky opening at Sportsman's Park, it became evident yesterday when announcement was made that three of the eight races on the first day's program have been fashioned for the route runners.

One is at a mile and a sixteenth and the other two at a mile and 70 yards. It is the intention of Racing Secretary Shelley to crowd three or more route races onto every program. He may also offer a three mile race toward the end of the season.

The stables at Sportsman's Park are rapidly filling and by the time the first race is run on Monday it is expected all the stalls at Sportsman's Park and nearby Hawthorne will be occupied by horses that are fit and ready to run.

Jocky Eddie Evans, a Palatine, Ill., lad, experienced the thrill of riding the first winner of his career yesterday when he brought Sneakin up in time to win the 5½ furlong opening number. Sneakin is owned by Mrs. E. M. Flaherty of Palatine, who holds the contract on youthful Evans.

More than a dozen candidates for the ninth running of the Marquette handicap, which will mark the close of the Lincoln Fields season tomorrow, were on the track yesterday for the final training drills. The prospective field for the $2,500 added mile and an eighth race is as follows:

Billbo.
Spanish Babe.
Fra Diavolo.
Prince Torch.
Songmaker.
Lady Montrose.
Countess Ann.
Silk Mask.
Bandalore.
Banish Fear.
Captain Cal.
Maple Ricca.
Salaam.
Brandon Prince.

Trainer Phil Riley will take the horses he is training for Otto W. Lehmann, Mrs. F. A. Weil, Fred M. Grabner, and for himself to the new Keeneland track in Kentucky early next week. The extensive Howard Oots string trained by Howard Wells will also be transferred to Keeneland on Sunday.

PARADE IN LOOP OPENS STADIUM RODEO ON OCT. 16

The Chicago Stadium rodeo which starts on Oct. 16 to run through Nov. 1 for 17 days will be opened with a loop parade. Two species of wild west steers will be used in the rodeo. In the steer riding event Brahma bulls, descendants of the sacred cow of India will be employed and in the steer wrestling championships, white face longhorns will be sent into the arena.

Steer wrestling, one of the many events on the program, probably is the most exciting of the cowboy contests. The cowboys enter the arena on horseback, ride alongside of the racing longhorn steer, leap from the back of the horse and wrestle the steer to the ground. The winner is determined by his elapsed time.

Leon Ames, Former Giant and Red Hurler, Dies

†Walmac Stable and Mrs. T. Ott entry. Time, :23, :47 1-5, :59 4-5, 1:07 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Sneakin, $13.40 straight, $5.60 place, $4.20 show; Honored Miss, $4.40 place, $4.20 show; Queen Regent, $14.80 place. Winner trained by P. P. Flaherty.

SNEAKIN, away fast and raced wide throughout, forced the early pace under light restraint, worked her way to front under mild urging and drew clear slowly to win in handy fashion. HONORED MISS, receiving a hustling ride and having speed from the start, gamely withstood the winner for more than an eighth after reaching the stretch but faltered in the late stages. QUEEN REGENT, raced wide, closed resolutely under strong handling and wore down SOLAR MAID in the final strides.

SECOND RACE—Seven-eighths mile. Out of chute. Claiming. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, :22 4-5, :46 1-5, 1:12, 1:25. Two dollar mutuels paid: Prince John, $6.00 straight, $3.20 place, $2.80 show; Black River, $4.00 place, $3.60 show; Amijo, $6.40 show. Winner trained by M. Thompson. Went to post at 2:45. At post 1½ minutes.

PRINCE JOHN raced wide throughout and, reserved off the early pace, gradually wore down the leaders when under strong hand riding and slowly drew clear in the final eighth but was strongly shaken up in the late stages and had little left. BLACK RIVER, saving ground much of the trip and having speed from the start, was placed to strong pressure after reaching the last five-sixteenths and held on fairly well. AMIJO, badly outrun for five-eighths, came to outside in the stretch and closed strongly

Time, :23, :46 3-5, 1:12 1-5, 1:39 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Tinsel Lady, $21.40 straight, $7.60 place, $5.20 show; Blind Sage, $5.80 place, $5.80 show; City Limit, $10.00 show. Winner trained by J. J. Flanigan. Went to post at 3:14½.

TINSEL LADY, sluggish and under strong riding from the start, secured room on the inside when beginning to move up after a half mile, came out in the stretch and, closing with good speed, overtook the leaders and drew out, but had little in reserve. BLIND SAGE, rated in closest pursuit of the early pacemakers under snug restraint and strongly shaken up on the stretch turn, stood more severe pressure gamely the final three-sixteenths and, getting to the front, failed to withstand the winner but outstayed CITY LIMIT. Latter improved her position gradually in the final half mile and was going with determination at the end.

FOURTH RACE—Three-quarters mile. Claiming. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, :22 4-5, :46, 1:11 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Dark Zeni, $16.40 straight, $5.40 place, $2.80 show; Recovery, $3.60 place, $2.40 show; Southern Belle, $2.80 show. Winner trained by owner. Went to post at 3:43. At post 2½ minutes.

DARK ZENI, going in his best form and probably much the best, raced in the middle of the track throughout, improved his position steadily from a slow beginning and, standing driving gamely, outfinished RECOVERY in the final strides. Latter, also forced to lose ground but a strong factor from the start, was vigorously shaken up on the turn, stood strong handling gamely the entire final three-sixteenths but was not good enough. SOUTHERN BELLE displayed speed from the start, was well rated and only gave way slowly after reaching the final eighth.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, :23, :46 3-5, 1:12. Two dollar mutuels paid: Gallienne, $5.00 straight, $3.60 place, $2.40 show; Ottoman, $7.00 place, $3.60 show; Bamboo, $3.40 show. Winner trained by B. A. Jones. Went to post at 4:11. At post 4½ minutes. Start fair from Bahr gate. Won driving, place same.

GALLIENNE, away slowly and much perrsevered with in the opening quarter, was rated around the turn under snug restraint, raced into a good lead after wearing down OTTOMAN, but weakened in the last sixteenth and had to be strongly shaken up to hold OTTOMAN safe. Latter displayed fine speed from the start, saved ground on the stretch turn and, while failing to withstand the winner's challenge, held on fairly well and was gaining on GALLIENNE at the end. BAMBOO, raced wide, closed well in her good performance.

NOBLE COUNT, under strong reserve for three-quarters and brought to extreme outside in the final quarter, closed with determination under strong riding and deadheated FANFERN when making the final stride. Latter forced the pace under steady restraint, began to wear down SILVERETTE after reaching the stretch turn, gained a short advantage in the final eighth and held on stubbornly to the end, but was deadlocked by NOBLE COUNT right at the end.

KOOLOX and AMERICA WERE BOTH DISCOVERED BY ACCIDENT

●Columbus discovered America accidentally—looking for something else. In the same way, a chemist working on an entirely different problem stumbled on a long-sought prize—a "beard softener" that opens up a whole new world in shaving!

What is a "beard-softener?" Mister, it is the one thing that gets past the tough, razor-resisting oil on every bristle—makes your beard a "set-up" for the blade. That's why blades last so much longer—their job is half-done before they begin.

Soothing to your face—good for your skin—Koolox lets you shave twice a day if you want to. Without talc or lotion! But you'll have to TRY Koolox to know why it is so different.

Take Our Dare!

Even if you think you've tried EVERYTHING—take us up on this offer: Buy that big Half Pound Jar of Koolox. Use it for 2 weeks. Then if Koolox doesn't beat every other cream you've ever used, return it and receive (1) the full price you paid and (2) with our compliments ny other standard shaving preparation you name!

Columbus had to take a chance, Mister—but with Koolox you take none—and you'll discover a whole new world of shaving comfort that you never knew existed! Buy your jar today!

LOMSKI FIGHTS DUGAN TONIGHT AT WHITE CITY

Faces Tough Battle on Comeback Trail.

Leo Lomski, former Pacific coast light heavyweight contender, making a comeback as a heavyweight, will be put to the test again tonight in a scheduled ten round bout with Mickey Dugan, Cleveland, O., at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue.

In previous starts the 189 pound Aberdeen, Wash., veteran whipped George Vallas, Eddie Boyle [twice], knocked out Adolph Wiater, fought a draw with Ford Smith, beat Jack Petric, and lost to Pal Silvers in eight rounds and King Levinsky in ten.

In the event he is victorious over his 178 pound opponent from Cleveland tonight, Lomski likely will meet Max Marek at the same arena later in the month. Dugan knocked out Clinton Bridges and was defeated by Max Marek in six rounds in earlier engagements here.

Chuck McCarthy and Verne Galbreath will meet in the five round semi-final. Preliminary encounters involve Henry Woods and Danny La Marre [5], heavyweights; Rolla Taylor and Frankie White, middleweights, and Chet Le Vere and Joe Severino, light heavyweights, each four rounds.

Verne Patterson will clash with Johnny Barbara, and Sherman Edwards is paired with William Thomas in two matches at five rounds in the amateur show tonight at the arena at Irving Park boulevard and Kilpatrick avenue. Another amateur card tonight will be presented at Madison Athletic club, 4711 West Madison street, headed by five round contests between Johnny Helstrom and Phil Saeli, and Eddie Helstrom and Pete Poulis.

AMERICANS BEAT EUROPEAN FOES IN BOXING TOURNEY

New York, Oct. 8.—(AP)—American fighters won the international amateur boxing tournament by six victories to four over picked amateurs from Italy and Hungary before an audience of 2,500 in the New York Hippodrome tonight.

The issue was not decided until the last bout, in which Abner Powell, burly New York Negro heavyweight, stopped Ferenco Nagy, member of the Hungarian Olympic team, in three rounds after taking a bad licking in the first two heats.

The Americans tonight captured their matches in the 118, 135, 160 pound and heavyweight classes, but were trimmed in the 112 and 175 pound events. Last night the United States and Europe divided four bouts in the 126, 135, and 147 pound classes.

Tonight's feature was a return meeting between Jack Wilson, Cleveland Negro and American A. A. U. champion, and Ulderico Sergo of Italy, 1936 Olympic champion by virtue of a widely disputed decision over Wilson in the finals at Berlin. Wilson won handily to earn the unanimous decision of the referee and two judges and even the score for the Berlin setback.

118 pound class—Jackie Wilson, Cleveland, beat Ulderico Sergo, Italy [3].

Birds Heading for Southland Still on Wing

BY BOB BECKER.

Quietly and almost unnoticed thousands of birds have been coming down from the north on their established migration routes during the last few weeks. The majority of these birds are the kind that offer no spectacular picture of the great mass movement of birds known as the autumn migration. When the wild geese are in the sky honking sonorously, thus calling attention to their activity, we actually can see migration. This holds true of a flock of waterfowl or a huge flock of swallows such as we saw on the Mississippi river some weeks ago.

Must Go Into Woods.

But you have to get into the woods, walk softly, use your binoculars, and look carefully to see the birds that are going south without any fanfare. For example, when we walked through our yard the other morning and startled four white throated sparrows in the shrubbery we were again made conscious of that impressive autumn movement of birds that takes some of them from the Yukon to the southern part of South America every spring and autumn. Many of our birds now heading for warmer climes where they spend the winter months face hazardous flights over water . . . truly long distance flights that may keep them in the air until they have flown 500 miles without a chance to rest or feed.

Missed the Nighthawks.

This season we have missed one of the spectacles of migration that never fails to give us a thrill. It's the sight of a big, loose flock of nighthawks slowly working along the shore of Lake Michigan. How we missed these birds in recent weeks is a puzzler. But apparently they have winged their way past our home without us seeing them. Two years ago the flock was strung out for so many miles that we saw them from a late afternoon train . . . diving, sideslipping, circling birds feeding on the wing as they pushed ahead a few miles on their southern journey.

The subject of migration, a mysterious and fascinating angle of bird study, is explained in detail in "Birds and Birdhouses," the Tribune bird book on sale at the Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street, Chicago. This beautifully illustrated guide sells for 30 cents by mail, or 25 cents when purchased over the counter.

Plans Made for Amateur Heavyweight Basket League

An amateur heavyweight basketball league, sponsored by the Halsted Street Institutional church, is being organized, according to an announcement yesterday by Fred L. Burns, physical director of the institute. The league will be known as the City and County Basketball league. All entries should be sent to Hal Nessel, manager of the league.

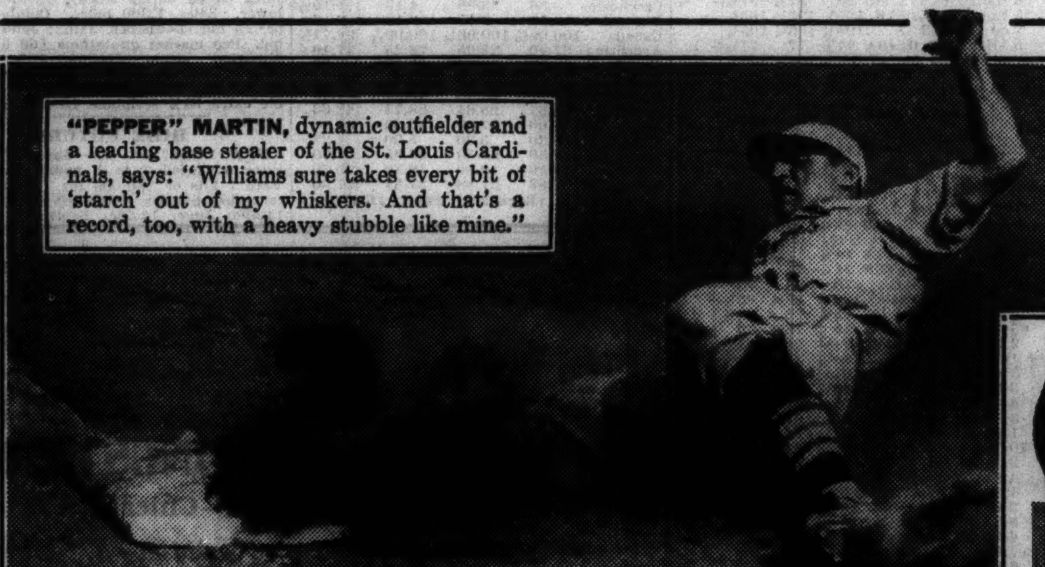
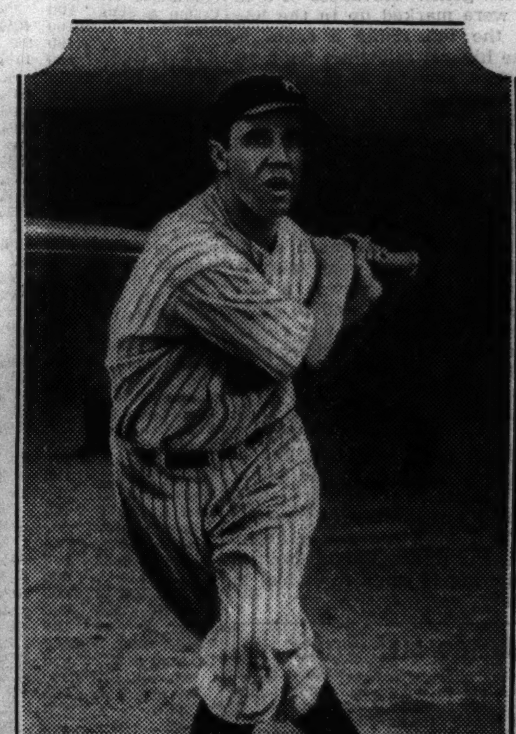
IT TAKES THE "STARCH" OUT OF WHISKERS! SAY THESE BIG-LEAGUE STARS



"PEPPER" MARTIN, dynamic outfielder and a leading base stealer of the St. Louis Cardinals, says: "Williams sure takes every bit of 'starch' out of my whiskers. And that's a record, too, with a heavy stubble like mine."

HOME-RUN KING, Lou Gehrig leads both major leagues in circuit clouts. Lou recently established a world's record by playing in his 1,800th consecutive game. He says: "My beard's like barbed wire—only Williams 'Twin-Action' Shaving Cream takes out that stiffness. And a dash of Aqua Velva feels cool and refreshing after every shave."



FRANK CROSETTI, hard-hitting Yankee shortstop. His great defensive play in the "spark-plug" position and his timely hits were two reasons the New York Club walked off with the 1936 American League Championship. Frank says: "I never could seem to get a really clean, close shave until I switched to Williams Shaving Cream. And a dash of Aqua Velva after shaving leaves my face cool and refreshed."

Most Tough-Bearded Players use WILLIAMS

YOUR beard need not be as wiry or thick as "Pepper" Martin's or Lou Gehrig's to make shaving a real job.

Cutting off 40,000 hard, horny bristles every morning is enough to make any face sore and tender—unless you use a "twin-action" shaving cream . . . like Williams.

First, Williams' thick, wet lather dissolves the film of oil that covers each whisker—then soaks every bit of "starch" out of your beard.

After your morning shave, finish up with a generous dash of Williams Aqua Velva. It closes pores . . . fights off sore spots—gives your face a clean, fresh, healthy feeling.

GREATEST SHORTSTOP OF ALL TIME, Hans Wagner, the grand old man of baseball, says: "I've used Williams Shaving Cream for many years. It's the one cream that softens my tough set of whiskers down to the roots."

Only Williams gives you a TWIN-ACTION Shave

BOY, WHAT LATHER! RICH, THICK, HEAVY WITH WATER! SOFTENS THAT TOUGH "OUTER SKIN" IN NO TIME
IT'S A CINCH TO SHAVE WHEN WHISKERS ARE WETTED RIGHT DOWN TO THE ROOTS WITH WILLIAMS
Williams AQUA VELVA
Williams Luxury Shaving Cream

Soaks Whiskers Softer

Made by a special homogenizing process, Williams Shaving Cream has a greater capacity to hold water than ordinary creams.

1. It soaks the "starch" out of your whiskers quicker than any other popular cream, tests show.

Government's Estimate Is Increased.

The department of agriculture yesterday estimated the 1936 cotton crop at 11,609,000 bales. The forecast was more favorable than the 11,121,000 estimate made a month ago, but if realized will be, with the exception of the last two years, the smallest crop since 1923. Last year's crop totaled 10,638,000 bales.

Crop prospects improved during September as a result of the breaking of the protracted drouth in the western part of the producing belt, the government statisticians reported. The better prospects in Texas and on the eastern part of the belt more than offset deterioration that occurred in some parts of the south.

Ginnings Pass 6 Million Bales.

Ginning of the 1936 cotton crop up to Oct. 1 as given by the census bureau was 6,030,940 bales, compared with 4,232,068 bales during the same period in 1935, and 4,962,384 bales in 1934.

The estimated cotton crop was about 100,000 bales in excess of trade expectations, but general buying developed after the issuance of the report and prices advanced $1 a bale or more from the level prevailing before its issuance. The buying, however, was more than offset later by heavy hedging sales by the south, and a reaction followed with the close within a few points of the bottom level.

Closing trades in cotton futures in Chicago were 1 point lower to 5 points higher. Other markets were 5 points lower to 4 points higher. [A point is equal to 1-100 cent per pound or 5 cents a bale.]

Spot Steady to Higher.

Spot cotton closed unchanged to 5 points higher. New Orleans was quoted at 12.30 cents, Houston and Galveston at 12.00 cents, and New York at 12.40 cents. Range of cotton futures follows:

HOGS AND LAMBS ADVANCE DESPITE BREAK IN MEATS

Despite a break in the wholesale markets for meat prices of hogs and lambs advanced slightly yesterday, while most classes of cattle retained their recent gains. Advances of 5 to 10 cents were marked up in the hog division, the top rising 5 cents to $10.55, the highest sale since Sept. 18. The average showed a gain of 10 cents, at $9.85.

Pressure on pork prices resulting from the competition of beef and heavy imports of foreign meats was counterbalanced in the hog trade by moderate supplies at most of the leading packing centers.

Lamb meat dipped as much as $1 per hundred pounds at some distributing points, but there was a fair clearance of live lambs, and 10 cents of the recent sharp losses was recovered. Packers and city butchers paid up to $8.85 for the best native and range lambs.

Top steers sold at $10.25, the bulk bringing $8.25 to $10, with commoner classes down to $6 and odd lots of ill bred grassy stock at $5 and below. Short fed cattle and "grassy" stock met narrow outlet at barely steady prices. Beef cows and grassy hefers were slow and weak. Calves slumped again, showing 75 cents to $1 loss in two days.

YELLOW TRUCK CAPITAL CHANGE, SALE OF STOCK

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 8.—(AP)—I. B. Babcock, president of the Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing company of Pontiac, Mich., announced today that a special meeting of stockholders at Portland, Me., Nov. 4 will act on proposals to reduce the capital and change the capital stock structure of the company.

One proposal, he said, is payment this year of preferred dividends in arrears to the extent of approximately $4,500,000. Another is the sale at $10 a share to class B and common stockholders of 900,000 additional shares of class B stock of $1 par value. Par value of outstanding class B and common stock would be reduced from $10 to $1 a share.

Babcock said consummation of the plan before Dec. 31, 1936, would avert a tax payment of approximately $900,000 on undistributed profits. A letter to stockholders said that "the proposed changes are necessary in view of certain provisions of the revenue act of 1936 which impose a tax on undistributed net income of corporations despite the fact a corporation such as yours has a capital deficit and may not legally declare dividends."

OFFER NEW PLAN FOR C. & E. I. ROAD TO HEAD OF RFC

New York, Oct. 8.—[Special.]—A plan of reorganization which would reduce the Chesapeake and Ohio railway's $8,000,000 investment in the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railway will be submitted by the company soon to Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, it was disclosed today. Through a subsidiary, the C. & O. now holds 42.7 per cent of the C. & E. I.'s voting stocks. The C. & E. I. owes $5,760,000 to the RFC.

The plan was reported to represent a victory by savings banks and insurance companies over the Van Sweringen interests. The fiduciary institutions had previously filed a plan with the interstate commerce commission which would have reduced the control of the C. & O. in the company to 15 per cent. The plan favored by the Van Sweringen interests, who control the C. & O. through the Midamerica corporation, would have left the $8,000,000 stake of the C. & O. virtually intact.

LARD HIGHER ON FIRMNESS IN GRAIN, COTTONSEED OIL

Closing trades were at net gains of 10 to 20 cents. There were 300,000 pounds of cash lard delivered on October contracts.

Cash interests were fair buyers of clear bellies [salt pork] and advanced prices 17½ to 22½ cents. Cash lard was quoted at $11.65; loose, $11.17½; leaf, $11.12½, and clear bellies at $14.25. Range of future prices follow:

REPORT OPTION KEY TO CLARKE'S UTILITY REIGN

New York, Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Harley L. Clarke's reign over the vast electric generating and transmission network of the $400,000,000 Utilities Power and Light corporation today appeared to be hanging by a thread. It became known in the financial district that his resignation, to take effect Oct. 10, was given to the Atlas corporation more than a year ago.

Coincident with the submission of his resignation to Floyd B. Odlum, president of Atlas, Clarke is understood to have obtained an option to purchase from the investment trust at cost, certain notes of the Webster Securities corporation, which with interest then aggregated $2,260,000, and certain other securities. Webster Securities controls Public Utilities Securities corporation, which in turn controls the Utilities Power and Light corporation.

These notes were obtained by Atlas from the Reconstruction Finance corporation after Clarke defaulted on them. The loan originally had been made by the Central Republic Bank and Trust company and was taken over by the RFC as part of the collateral for the $90,000,000 "Dawes loan." The Webster Securities corporation is Clarke's personal holding company.

Option Expires Tomorrow.

This option expires Saturday, the day Clarke's resignation is to become effective, but doubt was expressed in informed quarters that it would be exercised.

To insure his retention as president of the utility holding company, which he founded more than a score years ago, Clarke is reported to have consulted his counsel with the view of instituting equity proceedings in the Supreme court here to invalidate his letter of resignation.

Reports also have it that the contemplated proceeding will be designed to obtain a judicial ruling for the extension of the expiring option pending adjudication of two injunction suits instituted in the federal courts of Virginia by stockholders and bondholders of Utilities Power and Light.

Fight Sale to English Group.

These suits seek to invalidate transfer of the system's properties in England to a London banking group, which bought them recently through Odlum for $30,600,000, on grounds that the sale constituted "a faudulent and illegal scheme by which Atlas will realize a profit of approximately $8,000,000."

Clarke's views with respect to the option, it was reported, are that it would be unprofitable for him to exercise it in the event the courts of Virginia uphold the British utilities' sale. His reputed contention is that those properties represented the most important single asset of the Utilities Power and Light system, that they contributed a substantial proportion of the net earnings of the parent company, and that they were disposed of by Odlum, allegedly with the approval of the Atlas controled directorate, for several millions less than their actual worth.

REPORT CLAKE AWAY.

At the Chicago office of the Utilities Power and Light corporation it was stated yesterday that Harley L. Clarke is out of town, but is expected back in Chicago this morning. Clarke's office declined to say where he is.

R. R. Monroe, vice president of the company, said he had not heard about Clarke having resigned.

"I am sure I would have heard something before this if Mr. Clarke had resigned," Monroe asserted. He added that he does not know where Clarke is.

NEW RECORD SET BY SPIEGEL, MAY STERN'S SALES

Spiegel, May, Stern Co., Inc., yesterday reported that net sales in September reached $4,584,379, the largest for any month in the company's history and 38 per cent above the $3,318,165 for a year ago.

Sales for the month were six and a half times as large as the $712,975 for September, 1932, and 92 per cent above the $2,378,804 for September, 1929.

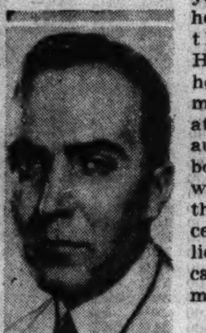
New '37 Nash and Lafayette Models Shown

BY HAL FOUST.

The 1937 Nash and Lafayette models were shown to Chicago dealers yesterday at the headquarters of the distributor, Harry Hollingshead. The salesmen saw conservatively restyled automobiles with bodies longer, wider, and lower than the predecessors. The public will see the cars late this month.



C. H. BLISS.

C. H. Bliss, vice president and director of sales, from the Kenosha [Wis.] factory, told of mechanical refinements for better performance. He said that the company now has orders for 24,000 units for delivery before Jan. 1, assuring the manufacturer of his best three consecutive months in five years.

The streamlined vehicles, with radiator grilles flowing into louvres, have a nice treatment of details. A commodious luggage compartment is lighted automatically when opened. A pin head light on the speedometer advises whether the beams are bright or dimmed. Defrosters are built into the body below the windshield glass.

The speedometer is designed to show operators their savings in engine revolutions when an over-drive gear is being used for open highway cruising. Beside large numerals indicating the miles per hour are smaller numerals indicating the lower speed that the car would be traveling in third gear with the same engine revolutions per minute.

"More than $1,000,000 was spent for dies alone," said Mr. Bliss, "so that the 1937 bodies would be entirely new, so that we would not carry over any of the metal stamped parts from 1936. In selecting the hardware, we picked the best. The upholstery is the same material as used in cars retailing several hundred dollars higher than ours.

"In preparation for this program, the Nash company acquired full control of the $5,000,000 Seaman Body corporation. Thousands of dollars were spent to equip our assembly plant for greater production capacity.

"The results have been applauded by our sales organization after seeing the 1937 models. We look forward to one of the best years in our history."

ADVICE TO BRIDES: DON'T LET HUSBAND GUIDE INVESTMENTS

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—The new husband may be a grand guy in the lady's eyes but he's usually poison as an investment counselor, Roy S. Johnson, New York banker, today told delegates to the convention of the Mortgage Bankers' Association of America.

"Always keep single lady investors from getting married," he advised the mortgage men. "Naturally, they always think they have married men of unusual ability. The lady acts on his advice and, although he may never have been a success himself and never have had any funds of his own, he always knows a better way to invest her funds. If you are successful in holding these funds, I will say you are good."

Argentine Corn Is Shipped from Montreal to Buffalo

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Three vessels departed today from Montreal for Buffalo with Argentine corn to the aggregate amount of 267,000 bushels. Agents were trying to obtain vessel accommodation to take corn to Chicago, but immediate shipment was not possible.

PUBLIC DIVISIONS SUED BY BANK ON COLLATERAL SALE

Four suits were filed in the Circuit court yesterday against the city of Chicago, the sanitary district, the forest preserve, and the Superior court clerk, seeking to recover $464,910 for the South West Trust and Savings bank at 35th street and Archer avenue, which closed on Oct. 9, 1931. All four actions were filed in the name of Charles H. Alber, receiver of all state banks in Cook county.

In the bills Alber charges that the divisions had in their possession tax anticipation warants and bonds as security for their deposits. These securities were sold for $554,000 after the banks closed and the difference between the deposits and the sales price was refunded to the bank. In the bills, however, Alber charges that these actions were beyond the legal rights of the groups.

The bank now demands that these funds be returned. It is stated that the bank is willing to give the taxing units credit for dividends since paid out by the bank receivers, which thus brings the bank's total claims down to $185,984. The total amount of the deposits is named in the bills in order to plug any loopholes for the full responsibility.

GEN'L MOTORS SALES SET NEW 7 YEAR PEAK

September Business Far Above 1935.

Cars and trucks sold by General Motors to consumers in the United States totaled 85,201 in September, the best for that month since 1929, the corporation announced yesterday.

This total compared with 133,804 in August and 66,547 in September last year. The decline from August was natural in view of the pending introduction of new models. August sales had also established a seven year high for the particular month, comparing with 127,346 in August of last year.

Nine Month Sales a Record.

Sales for the first nine months of this year also set a record, amounting to 1,346,915 units, compared with 951,373 in the corresponding months of last year.

Sales to dealers in the United States and Canada during September along with shipments overseas totaled 19,288 units, against 39,152 in September last year, which also included some new model cars. Sales to dealers in August this year totaled 121,943.

World sales of General Motors cars and trucks for the first nine months of this year totaled 1,516,092, the third highest for the period on record and compared with 1,220,182 in the like months of 1935.

Change to New Models.

Dealers in the United States alone bought 4,669 units in September, against 22,986 in September last year, the drop being attributable to factory shutdowns this year for the change to new models. Sales in August this year amounted to 99,775.

United States dealers in the first nine months of 1936 bought 1,260,134 cars and trucks, also the third highest for the period on record and comparing with 975,329 in the corresponding months of last year.

Engineering Construction Awards Above Year Ago

New York, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Engineering construction awards in the week ended last Tuesday totaled $48,334,000 against $44,700,000 for the corresponding period last year, and were 8 per cent higher than the average week to date, Engineering News-Record reported today.

Another 'Delayed' Bid on PWA Housing Project Is Lowest

BY AL CHASE.

For the second time within two months "delayed" bids on federal housing projects have been received in Washington and reported from there as lower than the former "lowest" announced bids. This time the delayed "lowest" was only $9,500 below that of the former "lowest."

On Tuesday Washington announced that the John Griffiths & Son Co. of Chicago had submitted the low bid of $2,159,000 for construction of the foundations and superstructure of the Jane Addams houses addition on the west side.

Other bidders were the George A. Fuller company, $2,233,000; G. Kehl Sons, $2,324,000, and the Dilks Construction company, $2,647,999. All three are large Chicago concerns which have handled big construction jobs throughout the country.

Late Bid $9,500 Lower.

Yesterday a wire from Washington announced that a "delayed" bid made jointly by Maurice L. Bein and the Malkov Lumber company, both of Chicago, had been received. It was just $9,500 under the low bid of Griffiths, or $2,149,500.

Public Works administration officials in Washington said the bid was "unavoidably delayed" and would be admitted. They also said that a contract for the big west side slum clearance project would be awarded in about ten days.

Bein was out of town yesterday and employés declined to explain the "unavoidable delay." No one knew when the bid was mailed.

Two months ago a similar situation developed. On Aug. 12 Washington announced that the John Griffiths & Son Co. [which was originally the lowest bidder on the west side] was the only bidder on the south section of the Julia C. Lathrop homes, also a PWA housing project. The bid was $2,573,000.

Awarded to Last Bidder.

The next day, Aug. 13, Washington announced that the U. S. Fireproofing company of Chicago had submitted a bid of $2,275,000 which had been "delayed in transit." On Sept. 1 this company was awarded the contract.

According to a federal official in Washington neither of the companies which submitted "delayed bids" has done any big general contracting jobs.

"The U. S. Fireproofing company has done considerable fireproofing jobs for the Chicago school board, but so far as I know has done no large contracting jobs of the caliber of the PWA housing project," he said. Bein has remodeled store fronts and designed several apartment buildings, but has never handled a job of the magnitude of the Jane Addams Houses addition."

Officials Avoid Comment.

Officials of the United States Fireproofing company were all "too busy" to answer the phone, according to a woman employé who volunteered the information that she could answer any questions.

She said that the concern had done the fireproofing in the Board of Trade and other loop buildings, and in years past some school fireproofing work. She said its only general contracting jobs were the Denver Custom house extension, the state armory at Springfield, Ill., and the present north side federal PWA housing contract.

EDISON PLANNING STOCK OFFER FOR PUBLIC SERVICE

The Commonwealth Edison company is again considering plans to offer an exchange of shares to stockholders of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, it was learned yesterday. Edison and a subsidiary now control 30 per cent of the voting stock of Public Service.

When the plan was previously considered it was understood that two shares of Edison would be offered in exchange for three shares of Public Service. Officials said yesterday that no details have been worked out on the new plan. If the offer is made it is expected that Edison will increase its interest in Public Service materially.

Edison stock closed yesterday at 112 and Public Service no par was quoted at 78½ a share.

UTILITY IN ILLINOIS IS ORDERED TO BUILD RURAL POWER LINES

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 8.—(AP)—The Illinois commerce commission today ordered the Central Illinois Public Service company to construct electric lines to serve rural residents of several counties.

The order provided, commission officials said, that the company would spend $150 on construction for each $3 monthly minimum charge for each customer and $200 construction for each $5 monthly minimum charge. The order was described as "experimental" and to be effective for one year, unless extended.

Farmers of several counties charged the company forced them to build lines to secure electric service and then demanded title to the lines.

U. S. IS LARGEST BORROWER OF CHICAGO BANKS

38 Pct. of Deposits in Federal Loans.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Uncle Sam borrowed more money from Chicago banks in the September quarter than all the other customers combined. The September 30 statements of condition of the banks, just published, showed that 38 per cent of the combined deposits were invested in government securities.

The banks increased their holdings of government securities in the last three months by approximately $94,000,000 while their loans and discounts expanded only about $81,000,000. Government bonds held by banks amount to $1,203,196,000 as compared with the total deposits of $3,190,279,000.

First National Buys More.

Among the six loop banks only two reported larger holdings of governments on Sept. 30. The First National added $138,000,000 of short term paper maturing in less than a year. The purchases of the First National brought its total holdings of government paper to $337,587,000 which was second only to the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company among Chicago institutions. The Continental cut down its investments in "governments" in the last three months by approximately $43,000,000, bringing down its total investment to $567,000,000.

The City National Bank and Trust company bought $10,000,000 of government paper, raising its total holdings to $28,622,000.

Hold Less Government Paper.

Both the Harris Trust and Savings bank and the Northern Trust company hold less government loans than three months ago. The Northern Trust reported holdings of $157,156,000, a reduction of about $11,000,000 from June 30. The Harris Trust investment in governments was $67,397,000, a decline of $1,631,000.

The percentage of deposits of Chicago banks invested in government loans was the same as the ratio for all banks in the leading cities of the country. The statement of condition Sept. 30 of reserve member banks in 101 principal cities showed total government holdings of $10,592,000,000 and deposits of $27,429,000,000.

STOCKS FIRMER, BUT EARLY RISE MEETS SETBACK

Traders Grow More Wary —Volume Shrinks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 8.—After threatening to go off the track on several occasions today, the stock market righted itself in the last hour of trading to close at a slightly higher level. Price changes in the general list ran to little more than fractions, although a number of special issues managed good gains.

Irregular price movements characterized the session, with most stocks moving in a narrow range following the spirited rise of the market in the last five days. Traders, while remaining in a bullish frame of mind, displayed a greater degree of caution, with the result that sales volume dropped considerably. Total transactions for the five hours amounted to approximately 2,223,000 shares.

Prices Higher at Opening.

Higher prices were paid for stocks at the opening, with utility shares accounting for a good part of the volume. Movements became a bit mixed, however, as profit taking began to appear, with even the utility group encountering resistance. Switching operations in the leaders also contributed to the irregularity, with a good deal of evening up being reported.

News likely to affect the course of the market moved pretty much in the same channels, while the latest threat to the peace of Europe caused by the soviet ultimatum attracted little attention in financial circles.

Commonwealth and Southern again led the list in activity. Consolidated Edison set another top figure before slipping and American Water Works also registered a new high. American Telephone advanced a major fraction and Western Union climbed a point.

Steel Stocks Recover.

Steel stocks closed strongly to around their high marks of the day. Bethlehem made a comeback of nearly 3 points to close with a profit of 1⅞ points, while U. S. Steel followed out the procedure to net a gain of 1⅝.

Carrier shares wavered throughout the session, but finished with an average gain. Alleghany issues, Chesapeake Corporation, and Chesapeake and Ohio showed outstanding strength on the increased dividends of the latter.

Rail equipments moved higher in a quiet way as did a number of the metals. Aviation issues again weakened.

Standard Oil of New Jersey and Texas corporation enjoyed a measure of popularity, but with gains in both cases amounting to less than a point.

TRUST DUMPS UTILITY STOCKS AT LOW LEVELS

Caused by Concern Over New Deal Aims.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—Worry over what the New Deal planned to do to the private power interests of the country led to a dumping of public utility stocks at their low levels by General Capital corporation, an investment trust of Boston, Ernest Kittredge, treasurer and director, testified today. Kittredge made this explanation of how the trust had lost money by selling its utilities at the bottom, at a public hearing before the Securities and Exchange commission.

The hearings are being held with an eye to asking legislation cloaking the SEC with power to control and regulate the investment trusts.

Bought Utility Stocks.

Utility stocks made up 38 per cent of the portfolio holdings of common stocks amounting to $10,500,000 of the trust early in 1930, Kittredge said. General Capital corporation had its genesis in Investment Trust management and its successor company, Capital Managers, which had been formed for the pooling of private investment funds of prominent Bostonians. Kittredge was the organizer. The public was invited to participate in 1929.

Two hundred thousand shares of stock were sold for a total net paid in capital of $15,169,000, of which the sponsors of the private trusts contributed 30 per cent. Of this amount a total of $7,410,000 was lost by the investors by the end of 1935.

Reorganized Last Year.

The trust was reorganized last year and made a mutual or "open end" company which is peculiar to Boston and Massachusetts laws. Stockholders at any time may turn in their shares for redemption at their net cash value by the trust and at the same time new shares are always being offered for sale on the market.

Because the trust earned no money, no management fees had been paid, Kittredge testified. But under the reorganization charter the trustees are to receive ⅛ of 1 per cent of the net assets each year as compensation.

Court Delays Confirming Consumers Reorganization

Where to Look for the Home You Want

The quickest and most satisfactory way to locate the kind of home you want is to check the offers in the real estate columns of the Tribune want ad section.

Today, as during each of the last twenty years, the Tribune is Chicago's leading real estate want ad medium. It prints far more offerings of homes, apartment buildings, vacant property, and other kinds of real estate than any other Chicago newspaper.

IF IT CAN BE SOLD, TRIBUNE WANT ADS CAN SELL IT

SMALLER BANKS HELP TO SWELL DEPOSITS HERE

Majority Reports Rise in Loans and Discounts.

With only one exception the smaller loop and outlying banks contributed to the rise in Chicago deposits to a new all-time high in the quarter ended Sept. 30, and the majority of these banks joined in an expansion of loans and discounts, which for this area reached a four year high.

The exceptional bank in the deposit rise was the First National of Englewood, which has purposely discouraged deposits by closing out the small accounts, paying low interest rates on deposits, and charging depositors with the cost of federal deposit insurance.

Excluding the five main loop banks, there are forty-nine smaller banks in Chicago. Comparative studies are available in forty-eight of these, the Cosmopolitan National having opened only on Aug. 12.

Most Banks Increase Loans.

Of these forty-eight banks, thirty-eight reported an expansion in loans and discounts in the three months ended Sept. 30. Reduced cash holdings were reported by twenty-five banks, and gains by twenty-three.

The American National Bank and Trust company showed an increase of $3,647,000 in deposits over June 30, loans and discounts rose by $2,088,000, but the bank reduced its holdings of government securities by $2,103,000.

The Drovers National bank reported an increase of $1,229,000 in deposits, but loans and discounts declined $241,000, and government securities receded $3,223,000, while cash resources were boosted by $5,036,000.

Substantial gains in deposits, loans, and discounts were shown by the Live Stock National bank, rising $1,363,000 and $818,000, respectively. Cash resources were also $983,000 higher, and the bank liquidated $233,000 in government securities.

Changes of Other Banks.

The Chicago City Bank and Trust showed deposits up $422,000, but loans and discounts were off $335,000. Cash resources increased by $829,000, and government securities were $2,000 less.

The Lake View Trust and Savings experienced a rise of $885,000 in deposits and $32,000 in loans and discounts, while holdings of government securities increased $1,174,000. Cash resources were off $471,000.

Deposits of the Lake Shore Trust and Savings bank rose $628,000, loans and discounts expanded by $23,000, cash holdings were up $599,000, and government securities were $27,000 heavier.

The new Cosmopolitan National bank reported deposits of $1,024,000 and 2,000 accounts since opening on Aug. 12. Loans and discounts amounted to $86,000 on Sept. 30; cash, $935,000, and government securities, $274,000.

CUMMINGS, BABB SLATED FOR 'FED' BANK BOARD HERE

Walter J. Cummings, chairman of the board of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company of Chicago, and Max W. Babb, president of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company of Milwaukee, are reported to be slated for election as directors of the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago at the annual balloting next month.

Babb is already a class B director, representing member banks in Wisconsin. Cummings would succeed James R. Leavell, president of the Continental bank, who is completing his sixth year as a class A director.

Blanks for the nomination have already been distributed to member banks in the Chicago federal reserve district. After nominations are received by the Chicago reserve bank ballots will be distributed for the election.

The reserve bank is still without a chairman. This position, which is filled by the federal reserve board in Washington is generally expected to continue vacant until after the election.

BUSINESS BITS

About 150 statisticians of member firms of the Chicago Stock exchange met last night at the Union League club for a dinner and presentation of analyses of various companies whose securities are listed on the exchange. The event was part of the exchange's new public relations program, and was presided over by Virgil C. Webster, chairman of the committee on public relations. Copies of the analyses were distributed to member's offices.

Six Closed Banks Make Repayments of $376,535

Repayment of $376,535 to 43,600 depositors in six closed state banks in Chicago was announced yesterday by State Auditor Edward J. Barrett. Checks were mailed last night.

The largest of the current distributions is that of $145,567, or 5 per cent, to the 16,600 depositors of the Builders & Merchants Bank and Trust company. Of the amount, 3.8 per cent is being paid from funds obtained in the ordinary course of liquidation of assets and 1.2 per cent from collections of the receiver in a stockholders' liability suit. This payment raises the return of the bank to 40 per cent so far. The bank also has paid $465,436 preferred claims and $493,204 in bills payable at the time of closing.

North Avenue State Payment.

A payment of $103,212, or 5 per cent, is being made to the 9,500 depositors of the North Avenue State bank, lifting returns to date to 50 per cent. Preferred claims of $174,321 and bills payable of $377,700 also have been wiped out.

The Wiersma State bank is paying another 5 per cent, or $43,772, to its 6,600 depositors, bringing repayments to 30 per cent. It also has paid $40,274 in preferred claims and $136,145 bills payable.

Payment of $31,479, or 5 per cent, to the Universal State bank's 3,000 depositors lifts returns to 20 per cent. Preferred claims of $63,713 and $176,283 bills payable have been disposed of.

The Immel State bank is returning $30,925, or 5 per cent, to its 5,700 depositors for total repayment of 20 per cent to date. Funds from collections of stock liability provided 3⅛ per cent and ordinary liquidation the other 1⅞ per cent. Preferred claims of $16,002 also have been paid.

Refund by Equitable Trust.

A distribution of 5 per cent, or $21,580, is being made to the Equitable Trust company's 2,200 depositors for a total return to date of 20 per cent. Bills payable of $157,566 and preferred claims of $8,534 also have been paid.

The distributions are being made from funds obtained through ordinary liquidation of assets except where otherwise noted. These figures do not show the receivership costs in collection of money distributed. Receivership costs are disclosed, however, in the state auditor's quarterly reports, which are analyzed in the Metropolitan section of THE TRIBUNE. Figures to Sept. 30 are expected to be available the latter part of this month.

FINANCIAL EVILS IN NEW DEAL ARE LISTED BY MILLS

New York, Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Ogden L. Mills, former secretary of the treasury, speaking before the Life Underwriters' association tonight, listed the following eight results of the administration's financial policies:

1. Chronically unbalanced budget, with no immediate prospect of arrest and the torrents of expenditure.

2. A federal tax system which, because of its reliance on indirect taxes, conceals from the mass of the people the real weight of the burden, and denies to the government the brake which public opinion would otherwise apply.

3. Deficits financed by the manufacturer of bank credit.

4. Thirteen billion dollars of such artificial credit already in existence.

5. Bank reserves largely in excess of legal requirements, inviting a further expansion of bank credit.

6. Extraordinarily easy money, artificially produced.

7. A monetary policy based upon no definite convictions or principles.

8. A long delayed business recovery, ready to cloak an inflationary movement until it gathers real momentum.

"Add them all together," Mills said, "and there would appear to be the material for a grand bonfire. Add them all together, and the case for federal retrenchment and the balancing of the federal budget is overwhelming."

Federal Judge Cuts Fees in Theater Reorganization

Fees totaling $84,778 were allowed yesterday by Federal Judge John P. Barnes in connection with the recently completed reogranization of the 63d and Maryland Theater Building corporation under section 77B of the federal bankruptcy laws. Fee requests aggregated $109,290. Principal fees allowed were $12,000 to B. F. Lindheimer, manager of the property, and $11,500 to Arthur L. Schwartz, attorney for Lindheimer.

Butler Brothers Directors Consider Refunding Today

A plan for refunding the 5 per cent serial debentures of Butler Brothers will be considered this morning at a special meeting of the board of directors. There were $5,100,000 of the debentures outstanding at the end of 1935. The issue matures serially at the rate of approximately $500,000 annually. Officials would not say whether the question of dividend payments will be considered.

2,216,000 WORKERS ARE RE-EMPLOYED IN EIGHT MONTHS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Reporting that "industry starts its fall busy season this year with a much better record of employment gains in any years since 1933," the American Federation of Labor said today that 2,216,000 persons had been reëmployed between January and August this year.

The number of unemployed who found work in industry, the federation said, was twice the figure for the corresponding period of 1935. The total of unemployed in August this year was placed at 10,777,000.

"Reliable business indicators show no gain in industrial activity from January to August last year," the report said. "There was a gain of about 9 per cent for this year. This year business started upward in April and the uptrend has continued with only minor interruptions."

CARROLL, PLAY PRODUCER, FILES BANKRUPT PLEA

New York, Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Earl Carroll, theatrical producer, today filed a petition in bankruptcy, listing liabilities of $983,892 and assets of $410,646. The petition was drawn by House, Grossman, Voorhaus & Hemley, attorneys.

Included among assets are accounts receivable of $410,296, of which $222,300 is from the Brevities Producing corporation as unpaid salary and bonuses for 1926-'32; also $41,664 loaned by Carroll to that corporation.

The petitioner set forth that $130,000 is due to him from the Earl Carroll Realty company for unpaid salary, bonus, and loans.

Goldblatt Right to Cancel Beauty Parlor LeaseUpheld

Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski in the Circuit court yesterday refused to issue an injunction restraining Goldblatt Brothers, Inc., from ousting Maxim Kunin and his beauty parlor from the third floor of a department store at State and Van Buren streets recently purchased by the Goldblatts. Kunin, who has a chain of beauty shops, sought to obtain the order on the grounds that the Davis company, with whom he had executed a five year lease for the space, could not terminate the contract on 30 days notice. This right, however, was included in the terms of the lease, it was pointed out, and the judge refused to act.

BANK OF FRANCE CUTS DISCOUNT RATE TO 2½ PCT.

Devaluation Boosts Gold Reserves $359,424,000.

Reduction in the discount rate of the Bank of France to the lowest level since May 23 of last year and since the Blum government entered office yesterday accompanied the disclosure that devaluation of the franc boosted the bank's gold reserves by 7,000,000,000 francs [$359,424,000].

The discount rate was reduced from 3 to 2½ per cent, the second cut in the last two weeks. The rate has varied erratically in the last several years and particularly in the last 18 months, when it has ranged as high as 6 per cent on three occasions.

Last week, when the bourse resumed operations after devaluation, the rate was reduced from 5 to 3 per cent to facilitate the flow of capital. The rate on advances against securities was also reduced yesterday from 4 to 3 per cent and the rate on 30 day loans from 3 to 2½ per cent.

Likened to U. S. Policy.

The action was in line with the French government's "easy money" policy, and financial quarters likened it to similar policies of the United States and Great Britain in their attempts to emerge from the depression.

Yesterday's statement of the Bank of France for the week ended Oct. 2 showed gold reserves of 57,358,742,140 francs, equal to about $2,844,944,000 based on a minimum devaluation of the franc to 49 milligrams of gold, a devaluation of 25.2 per cent. The statement for the preceding week had shown reserves of 50,111,283,675 francs, or about $2,485,520,000 calculated on the same basis of devaluation.

Previously experts had estimated that the bank's gold would be increased by 17,000,000,000 francs through devaluation, but 10,000,000,000 francs was transferred to the French stabilization fund which is operating secretly. The jump in gold reserves against a much smaller gain in sight liabilities boosted the ratio of reserves to liabilities to 60.47 per cent from 54.42 per cent in the preceding week.

Currency devaluation of European countries has resulted in paper profits of more than $1,000,000,000, according to estitmates. France was the biggest gainer.

Dollar Value Eases.

The dollar gave ground slightly to leading foreign currencies in New York yesterday. The British pound sterling gained ¼ cent to close at $4.89½ after several days of weakness. French francs rose 3-16 point to 4.67 3-16 cents, as the reduction in the Bank of France discount rate was interpreted as an indication of further recovery from the devaluation crisis.

Swiss francs and Belgian belgas rose slightly, but the Dutch guilder lost 7 points at 53.28 cents. The Italian lira eased ⅛ point to 5.26, slightly under its new parity of 5.262 cents.

Harris Trust and Savings Undivided Profits Increase

The quarterly statement of the Harris Trust and Savings bank issued yesterday listed undivided profits of $2,776,706 on Sept. 30, an increase of $213,499 over the June 30 total after payment of dividends of $120,000. This indicates a profit for the quarter of $333,499, equal to $5.56 a share on the outstanding stock. This computation of profits does not take into consideration possible year-end adjustments.

BANK CLEARINGS RUN 26.2 PCT. ABOVE 1935; PITTSBURGH GAINS 45%

New York, Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Bank clearings in principal American cities last week rose 26.2 per cent above the aggregate of a year ago to a total of $6,343,693,000, the largest percentage gain in a long period, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported today.

The large increase, which compared with a gain of 13.3 per cent recorded in the preceding week, was accounted for chiefly by the heavy settlement of debts by check incident to the end of the month.

Turnover of checks in New York City alone in the week aggregated $4,072,477,000, or 25.7 per cent above the $3,238,625,000 total for the Oct. 7 week of 1935. The aggregate at outside centers was $2,271,216,000, an increase of 27.1 per cent over the total for the like period of last year.

Large industrial centers, particularly Detroit, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Baltimore, Cleveland, Buffalo, and Philadelphia reported the heaviest gains. Pittsburgh showed the largest percentage gain, 45.3 per cent.

In two cities, Minneapolis and New Orleans, small declines in clearings totals were reported.

Total clearings of the twenty-two reporting cities stood $795,908,000 above the volume for the immediate preceding week. A year ago a reduction of $1,375,624,000 in volume occurred between the two same weeks.

U. S. MAY 'GO FASCIST,' SAYS ROGER BABSON

Boston, Mass., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Roger Babson, statistician, asserted today "the chances are 50-50 that the United States will go Fascist when the next depression comes."

"There is a possibility," he told the twenty-third annual business conference, sponsored by the Babson Statistical institute, "that the coming national election may be the last one for many years. Irrespective of what party is successful next month, that party will not be reëlected four years hence."

Whichever party wins the presidential election will grow unpopular during the course of its administration, he predicted. The party which is elected next month can hold its power in 1940 only by avoiding any election, he said.

Babson declared "the chances are six out of ten that the United States will be wrecked by inflation."

CHICAGO STOCKS MIXED; BUTLER SETS NEW HIGH

Strong demand for Butler Brothers capital stock, which pushed it to a new high for the last six years, was the highlight of trading on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Of the 126 issues traded, 40 advanced, 49 declined, and 37 remained steady.

The Butler issue closed 1⅛ points higher at 14¼ after selling between 13⅛ and 14⅝.

La Salle street reports were that Butler Brothers directors would meet today to consider plans for financing, the expectation being that additional securities will be offered to boost capital.

U. S. GOLD STOCK NEAR 11 BILLION, DUE TO IMPORTS

Gold imports of 126 million dollars last week brought the country's monetary gold stocks within a few millions of the 11 billion dollar mark, it was disclosed yesterday by the weekly statement of the federal reserve system. Gold stocks were listed at 10,971 million dollars.

Repatriation Not Yet Begun.

Although the devaluation of franc and other currencies of the European gold bloc is expected in the long run to cause repatriation of foreign funds in the United States, the reversal of the movement has not started. For several months imports have been sending American monetary stocks to new high figures.

Accompanying the gold movement was a big increase in the reserves of the nation's banking system, which rose 122 millions during the week.

Show Credit Contraction.

The statements of the New York and Chicago member banks of the reserve system, also issued yesterday, showed a contraction in total credit in both centers. Commercial loans continued to increase in New York, showing a gain of 14 millions over the preceding week. However, brokers' loans of the New York banks fell 15 millions. The net decline in all types of bank credit outstanding in New York was 87 millions.

Chicago banks reported a drop of 3 millions in commercial loans and a shrinkage of 17 millions in all types of credit outstanding.

New York, Oct. 8.—[Special.]—Spectacular gains in Alleghany corporation 5s of various maturities and in Chesapeake corporation convertible 5s of 1944 and 1947, in large scale dealings, were the features of the bond market.

The advance reflected the market's response to the plan proposed by the Chesapeake and Ohio railway directors to declare an extra dividend of $1 a share and a further dividend in new preferences stock to be created. The Chesapeake corporation, controled by Alleghany, would be the principal beneficiary.

Chesapeake Issues Climb.

Chesapeake corporation 5s, 1944, rose 8½ points, while the 1947 maturity climbed 9⅛. Other loans up fractions to 2 or more points included American Rolling Mill 4½s, Alleghany corporation stamped 5s, 1950, International Paper 5s, Penn Dixie Cement 6s, Allis Chalmers 4s, and Youngstown Sheet and Tube 3½s.

Speculative and medium grade issues had another good day, new record prices again being established throughout the list. Notable gains were recorded by many of the Milwaukee group, activity being concentrated in the sinking fund 5s of 1975 series A and the low priced adjustment 5s. Rock Island general 4s again were popular, as were some of the Katy and Missouri Pacific issues, but throughout the railroad list there was so much profit taking that at times no progress could be made.

Rail Loans Less Buoyant.

New York Central issues were not so buoyant as was the case yesterday. Southern Railway issues did better, three important issues reaching new highs.

United States governments showed mixed movements in inactive trading. A few of the long term treasuries worked ahead 2-32 of a point, but there were also some declines running to 3-32. Foreign obligations were equally lacking in direction. Transactions in all groups totaled $16,142,000, against $20,653,000 yesterday.

French 7½s reached a new low in the foreign list.

United Drug.

Investors' Guide: Kindly furnish me with your department's report and opinion on United Drug common and oblige.—E. W. O.

Answer: The business of United Drug, Inc., was founded in 1902 by a small group of druggists who pledged themselves as stockholding partners to feature drug store goods manufactured by the company. These pioneer units called themselves the "Rexall Stores."

In 1928 this company became a part of Drug Incorporated, but emerged as an independent organization again when Drug Incorporated was dissolved in 1933.

United Drug now is both an operating and holding company. It is one of the largest manufacturers of drugs and drug store supplies. Products numbering more than 6,000 include druggist and medicinal supplies, rubber sundries, surgical dressings, stationery, candies, and soda fountain supplies.

In addition to more than 600 stores owned by the company and its subsidiaries is the Rexall Dealer organization which furnishes an outlet for about 80 per cent of the products it manufactures. The 10,000 Rexall stores of today, outgrowth of the original idea, are not a part of the company though many of these store owners have stock in the company and all are closely bound to it through close affiliation over a period of years.

Through sale of long-held control in the Boots Pure Drug company, operator of 900 stores in Great Britain, United Drug was able in 1934 to repurchase control of Louis K. Liggett company, Owl Drug company, and Wolff-Wilson Drug company, which were involved in bankruptcy proceedings.

Reflecting acquisition of these units and improved business, sales rose from $24,616,000 to 1933 to $78,439,000 in 1934. Net income rose from $648,000, or 4 6cents a share, to $1,834,000, or $1.32 a share.

In 1935 sales increased to $82,740,000 but net income declined to $1,505,000, or $1.10 a share, partly because of higher taxes and unsettled trade conditions in some parts of the country following the NRA.

Net income for the first six months of 1936 was $667,000, or 48 cents a share, compared with $350,000, or 25 cents a share, in the corresponding 1935 period.

Sole capitalization consists of 1,400,560 shares of $5 par common stock. An initial dividend of 50 cents a share was paid Oct. 1. The stock now appears to be medium grade and somewhat speculative.

SUGAR

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was unchanged at 3.40c per lb for spots with no sales reported. Prices advanced 3 to 4 points, but there were partial setbacks near the close. Sales, 6,050 tons.

Late yesterday the sugar section of the AAA placed the initial 1937 quota for the Philippine Islands at 998,110 short tons, or a little less than the current quota.

New No. 7 opened unchanged to 5 points higher and closed 1 point lower to 2 points higher. Sales were 14,000 bags.

EGG FUTURES TRADE FALLS OFF SHARPLY; PRICES GAIN

Trading in egg futures fell off sharply yesterday on the Mercantile exchange, reflecting a letup in the changing over of contract holdings from the October into the distant deliveries. Prices at leading markets advanced ⅛ to ¼ cent on reports of liberal withdrawals of eggs from cold storage while the spot market gained ¼ to ¾ cents. October closed at 26 cents per dozen. The deferred futures sold at new high levels since trading started. Sales of futures aggregated 186 cars. Deliveries of eggs on October contracts were 5 cars.

Reports that Idaho shippers of potatoes were holding back supplies from market increased speculative interest in that commodity and prices advanced 13 to 15 cents. January closed $2.65 per 100 pounds or within 2 cents of the best price of the season. Sales were 21 cars.

Butter futures closed ⅜ to ½ cent lower with November at 30⅞ cents per pound. Sales were 97 cars.

Imports of butter into the United States during August were reported by the bureau of agricultural economics at 1,183,000 pounds. During the same month in 1935 they were 149,000 pounds. Imports of cheese soared to 6,452,000 pounds, compared with 3,647,425 pounds in 1935.

47 COMPANIES TO HANDLE BIG TELEPHONE LOAN

Delaware & Hudson Road Considers Issue.

Investment houses which will participate in the offering of $175,000,000 of 3¼ per cent bonds of the American Telephone and Telegraph company were disclosed yesterday in an amendment to the recent registration statement filed with the securities commission. It stated that Morgan Stanley & Co. would underwrite $25,000,000 of the issue, Kuhn, Loeb & Co. $12,500,000, and Kidder, Peabody & Co. $10,000,000. The rest of the issue will be underwritten by forty-four companies whose commitments range from $1,000,000 to $9,000,000. The telephone company plans to sell $25,000,000 of the issue to a pension fund, leaving $150,000,000 to be offered publicly.

Railroad Considers Issue.

The Delaware and Hudson company was reported to be considering the sale of $20,000,000 of 4s next spring. The bonds would be used to refund $7,500,000 of a 5½ per cent issue maturing May 1, 1937, and pay $13,000,000 of bank loans. It was said that such an issue could be secured by some of the company's investment securities, which have appreciated considerably in the present market.

Blyth & Co., Inc., was named to head an underwriting syndicate which will market $35,000,000 of 3½ per cent first and refunding mortgage bonds of the Pacific Gas and Electric company, according to an amended statement filed with the SEC.

Application by the Tennessee Electric Power company, a subsidiary of Commonwealth and Southern Corporation of Delaware, for authority to sell $4,728,500 additional principal amount of its first and refunding mortgage bonds, 5 per cent series, due June 1, 1956, has been approved by the federal power commission.

Utility Files Stock Issue.

WHEAT CLIMBS; ARGENTINA MAY HALT EXPORTS

Ending of Elevator Strike Also Aids Upturn.

Rumors that Argentina had prohibited further export sales of old crop wheat, settlement of the prolonged strike of elevator employés at Minneapolis, and a marked revival in the export demand for Canadian wheat from Europe yesterday combined to advance prices a cent or more in leading North American markets. Minneapolis gained 2 cents for the day.

Cables received from Buenos Aires, Argentina, after the session closed yesterday, said the Argentine government, which owns the bulk of the exportable surplus of old wheat in that country, estimated at 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 bushels, had withdrawn it. offers to sell grain.

The continent, it was reported from Liverpool yesterday, had been a good buyer of old and new crop wheat in Argentina.

Regard Argentine Carryover Small.

The action of the Argentine government was regarded by Chicago operators as suggesting the carryover of old wheat at the end of the current season would be small. Brazil, which has taken the bulk of the Argentine exports during the present crop year, is expected to be forced to secure part of its supplies from Canada.

Corn, oats, and rye were affected by the action of wheat. Corn and rye gained major fractions, while oats were slightly higher. Trade in the aggregate was light and the markets easily influenced. Soy beans advanced ¾ to ⅞ cent, with processors the leading buyers.

Settlement of the Minneapolis elevator strike brought in a better demand for cash wheat from mills in that market, and part of the strength in futures there was attributed to removal of hedges against cash transactions.

Larger Imports Expected.

One of the effects of the Minneapolis strike, it was said yesterday, would be reflected in larger imports of Canadian wheat. Western mills, according to reports, took advantage of the strike to buy high protein spring wheat freely in the northwest, taking grain from as far east as the Red river valley. Minneapolis mills are expected to find that supplies in country elevators are relatively light, necessitating purchases of Canadian wheat.

Closing prices on the December delivery of leading grains, with comparisons, follow:

	Yesterday.	Wednes.	Wk. ago.	Mo. ago.
Wheat	$1.14¼	$1.13	$1.13¾	$1.10⅝
Corn	.95	.94½	.93½	.94⅞
Oats	.41⅜	.41⅛	.40⅞	.42¼
Rye	.81⅞	.81¼	.80	.80⅞

Buying of May corn against sales of the July option was a feature of the trading in that grain yesterday. December oats were sold against purchases of the May delivery. There was also buying of July corn against sales of July wheat by spreaders.

ARGENTINA LISTS SOWINGS.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

by Frank Ridgway

Fires Protect Dahlias.

October 8, 1936.

Fires are kept burning in pots on frosty nights to protect blooming dahlias in the private garden at the Tribune's Wheaton Experimental farm. The head gardener is hopeful that the plants can be kept alive and blooming until the first of November.

When the thermometers started falling last Friday morning the gardeners got up at 2 a. m. and started fires in four pots that were kept going on the lawn within about three feet of the dahlia border. The fires produced a blanket of heat over the 200 blossoms and kept them from being nipped by the frost that killed all the other tender flowers nearby.

Coke is used in the fire pots so that little work is involved in keeping the air warm enough to prevent frost from forming on the petals of the dahlias. The men watch the thermometer and are always sure that there is plenty of heat to protect the plants, especially between 4 and 6 o'clock in the morning when frosts usually appear.

The head gardener also has found in former years that sprinkling the plants with water will often protect them against damage from light frosts. But he believes that in sprinkling the risk is too great, so instead he is now keeping the air warm with fires kept going on the lawn near the flowers.

Some dahlia growers build frames over their dahlia borders and then keep the plants covered with burlap sacks or tarpaulins to conserve heat coming from fire pots.

Outdoors for Tulips.

Today the Wheaton farm gardeners were getting ready to set tulip bulbs outdoors for next spring's flowering. They are also potting hyacinths that have been prerooted in frames where the temperature has been kept at about 40 degrees. The hyacinths are being set in four inch pots for winter forcing. The plants will be kept in a greenhouse at the farm, but the gardener says that a greenhouse is not necessary in forcing hyacinths in winter. They have been successful in forcing them into winter blooming by keeping the pots in homes where the temperature is not allowed to go below 60 degrees day or night.

At the farm Roman hyacinths are forced into bloom by Christmas. The Dutch hyacinths usually bloom for late winter or early spring flowers. The Dutch variety is also used in outdoor beds.

Irises to Be Set Out.

Dutch and English bulbous irises are to be set in the open garden at the farm soon. They will be put in rows to produce cut flowers for next year. The blooms usually open about the end of June or the early part of July.

SUPREME COURT SUPPORT URGED BY PAUL MOORE

The New Deal's efforts to strangle American business by absolute federal control must be counteracted by national support of the Supreme court and the constitution, Paul Moore of Chicago said in an address yesterday before members of the National Restaurant association in convention here. Moore is chairman of the association's legislative committee and president of B/G Foods, Inc.

"Right now, we are being urged to retrace our steps, place our necks again in the yoke, confess individual incompetence, and invite an absolutism in Washington to direct our lives and fortunes," Moore said. "The best thing that could happen now would be a one year moratorium on legislation. This would permit time to study and repeal many of the new laws on our books."

Moore described the trend of the New Deal legislation as a direct effort to "hamstring retailers through discriminatory taxation, government control, and arbitrary restriction in operation, buying, and selling. Industry can do more for the citizen than the government can, and it's about time that business stops taking misrepresentation and abuse lying down, he asserted.
